MORE FUN THAN THE JUNGLE

Jambe, a five-year-old Orangutan at Jungleland, an animal compound at Thousand Oaks, Calif., is having more fun than a jungleful of monkeys as he rides a coin-operated mechanical elephant at the Jungleland. The big ape was excited enough when trainers put him on the idle elephant's back, but when they put a coin in the slot and the elephant began to jump and buck—yipee!—(AP wirephoto)

Gas Hike Hinted Crude Oil Up

CALGARY (CP) — Imperial Oil Ltd. today announced an increase of 18 cents a barrel in the well-head price it will pay for western light crude oils.

The new prices reflect recent advances in the United States.

Because of the current exchange premium on the Canadian dollar, the announcemeent said, the increase is less than the American increases.

American increases, announced by various companies since Jan. 3, were about 25 cents a barrel and have been followed by one-cent-a-gallon increases in gasoline in many states.

What effect the Imperial Oil increase will have on Canadian retail prices of oil products—such as gasoline and fuel oil—in not known yet.

PRAYER FOR TODAY

Almighty God, who dost hold us to account for the use of our time and energies, grant that we may ever be good stewards of Thy grace. When the day ends, may we have Thy approval and hear Thy "well done"; through Jesus Christ, our Lord. Amen.

TCA Probing Wreck Sighted In Washington

Chance It Could Be Lost TCA Airliner

VANCOUVER (CP)—Two planes were directed to fly over a mountain in Washington State today to check on the reported wreckage of a plane which an Anacortes, Wash. woman said she has seen on the mountainside.

RCAF officials here said there is a possibility it may be a Trans-Canada Air Lines plane missing since Dec. 9 with 62 persons aboard.

The RCAF search and rescue at Sea Island said a plane was to be sent from here later today and a United States Coast Guard plane would also investigate.

Mrs. Emil Sundman of Anacortes, in northwestern Washington, said she and her husband "saw a big silver object with red trim on it."

"We spotted it when the light flashed on it Sunday. Other people confirmed it through binoculars. It was on a big mountain just south of Concrete."

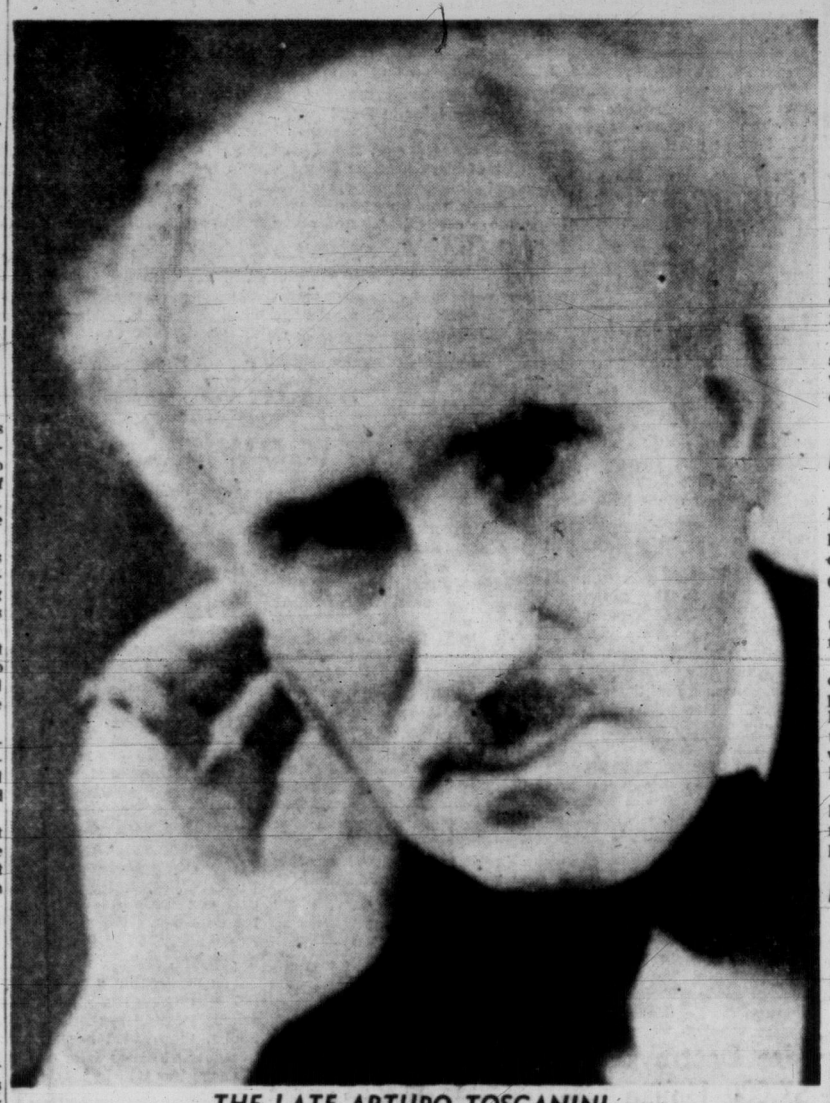
Powell River is the fourth Canadian paper company to announce newsprint price boosts recently.

OTTAWA (CP) — Justice Minister Garson said today there will be no anti-combines investigation of the $4-a-ton boost on Canadian newsprint announced during the last week or two by four Canadian firms.

RATED 'GREATEST CONDUCTOR'

Arturo Toscanini Dies, World-Famed Musician



THE LATE ARTURO TOSCANINI

Maestro's Career Spanned 70 Years

NEW YORK (AP)—Arturo Toscanini, a poor Italian boy who became one of the world's foremost orchestra conductors, died in his sleep today. He was 89.

Death occurred at his home in Riverdale, the Bronx. His son, Walter, said the famous maestro had suffered a stroke on New Year's Day and had not fully recovered from it.

Toscanini's brilliant career spanned 70 years and won him virtually every honor the musical world has to offer.

He had already scored great success before he came to the United States in 1908. In America he swept on to the heights.

For seven seasons he conducted at the Metropolitan Opera during the era of such never-to-be-forgotten artists as Caruso, Melba and Scotti. But a disagreement, never explained, caused him to quit the Met in 1915, never to return.

Radio Brought Him Close to Public

Subsequently, he directed the New York Philharmonic Symphony and the National Broadcasting Company Symphony Orchestra.

The latter brought him closer to the North American public than any of his other endeavors.

Toscanini conducted his last concert with the NBC Symphony Orchestra at Carnegie Hall April 4, 1954. But neither the capacity audience nor those who heard the program on radio knew it was his farewell.

His retirement was made known after the concert by the release of letters exchanged previously between Toscanini and David Sarnoff, chairman of the board of the Radio Corp. of America. This was in accord with the maestro's wish that news of his retirement should be withheld until after his final appearance with the orchestra which he had led for 17 years.

His last concert was an all-Wagner program. As he stepped off the podium, as the last chord of Die Meistersinger overture sounded, his baton slipped from his hand. A member of the orchestra picked it up and handed it to him.

Then Toscanini slowly walked off. He was applauded for many minutes by the audience.

Toscanini did not return.

Fate Made Him a Conductor

Toscanini, known as a severe taskmaster and a perfectionist in his direction, was hailed by many as "the greatest living conductor."

But his path to success was not an easy one. Although he surmounted the obstacles of poverty to win musical recognition at the beginning, it was a whim of fate that made him a conductor.

Born to a poor tailor and his wife in Parma, Italy, music beckoned to the young Toscanini at an age when most boys are occupied only by the games and diversions of childhood.

At nine he entered a conservatory at Parma. He was graduated in piano and cello, winning honors in composition.

However, he did not pursue composition because he felt that "whatever I composed would fall below the standard I set for myself."

The strange twist of fate that brought him to the podium to stay occurred in 1886 when Toscanini was just 19.

He had taken a job with a touring opera company headed for South America.

There in Rio de Janeiro, the Brazilian conductor got into a quarrel with some of the Italian artists before a performance of Verdi's opera, Aida.

The Brazilian audience hissed the orchestra's Italian conductor off the stage when he sought to take over the baton. The orchestra's chorus master met the same fate. Confusion reigned.

Toscanini, then a cellist, arrived late—slipping into his usual chair unnoticed.

Women in the company's chorus became greatly worried, for fear they would be stranded far away from home. One spied the tardy Toscanini and set up a cry: "He will save us! He knows all the operas by heart!"

Fellow musicians, snatching at the last straw, handed Toscanini a baton. He went to work in the masterly fashion, so well known later in his career, and the audience, jeering and laughing over what they expected to be a fiasco, shortly subsided to rapt attention.

The conductor married Carla Di Martini in 1897. She died in 1951. They had four children, one of whom died in childhood.

His son, Walter, handled his father's affairs. A daughter, Wally, became the Countess of Castelbarco, and the other, Wanda, the wife of Vladimir Horowitz, the noted pianist.

Eisenhower Wants $2 Billion Boost in U.S. Defence Budget

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower today proposed to Congress a budget for next year calling for an increase of more than $2,000,000,000 in military spending and a record peacetime outlay of $71,800,000,000 in federal funds.

Eisenhower said his budget for the fiscal year beginning next July 1 is balanced and provides for a surplus for the third straight year. But once again he came out against any tax cuts, except for possible relief for small business involving "minimum loss of revenue."

In reference to stepped-up spending for defence, the president said two of the major guide-lines he used in drafting the budget were designed to ensure:

"Peace, justice and freedom for our own and other peoples; and

"Powerful armed forces to deter and, if need be, to defeat aggression."

"I am convinced," he said, "that the defence programs aid funds for their support as recommended in this budget provide a wise and reasonable degree of protection for the nation."

The budget message estimated that $45,300,000,000, or 63 per cent of the entire federal outlay, will be for national security programs. These include $38,031,000,000 for the armed forces, $4,363,000,000 for economic and military foreign aid, and lesser amounts for atomic energy research and development, stockpiling of strategic goods, home civil defence and the U.S. information agency.

Eisenhower forecast continuing boom prosperity with the government collecting a record $73,600,000,000 in revenue in the new fiscal year.

Such income, he said, will permit the administration to ring up a surplus of $1,800,000,000 to be applied toward reduction of the national debt.

BRITAIN CUTS RESERVES; AIR FORCE HARDEST HIT

LONDON (Reuters)—Britain Tuesday night announced slashing cuts in her army, navy and air force reserves.

The heaviest cut was made in the RAF which will disband most of its reserve units including 20 fighter squadrons, air observation posts, some ground forces and nine of 30 fighter control and radar operating units.

The air ministry said this will mean a saving of more than $10,000,000 a year.

At the same time the war office said that about 120,000 draftees who have finished their two years of service will not be called up this year for part-time reserve training.

The navy said it is disbanding its part-time reserve air branch manned by weekend fliers as is the RAF.

Prairies Get Relief From Cold Siege

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

A relief column of warm air swept out of the Arctic and into Western Canada today, boosting the temperature and spirits of marrow-chilled residents.

The mild air lifted a freezing siege which set in last weekend.

The dramatic change in the west was exemplified at Lac la Biche in northeastern Alberta, where the mercury bolted from 20 below at midnight to 23 above at 7.30 a.m. Yellowknife, 620 miles north of Edmonton in the Northwest Territories, enjoyed a happy 20 above today.

Cameron Sides With Liberal Suez Policy; Scores Fulton

OTTAWA (CP) — A CCF member clashed Tuesday with a Progressive Conservative over the Canadian government's Suez policy and joined a Liberal in suggesting some steps toward world government might soon have to be considered.

The busy CCFer in the Commons Throne Speech debate was Colin Cameron, Nanaimo, B.C. He differed with fellow-British Columbian Davie Fulton (PC, Kamloops) over the merits of Canada's attitude toward Britain and France during the Suez crisis in general and certain statements by Prime Minister St. Laurent at last November's special parliamentary session in particular.

But he agreed with Lucien Cardin, parliamentary assistant to External Affairs Minister Pearson that effective co-operation with the rest of the world might eventually cost Canada some of its personal sovereignty.

LUMPED WITH AGGRESSORS

Mr. Fulton said the government apparently has written off the Commonwealth as a force for world peace. Mr. St. Laurent's November speech criticizing "the supermen of Europe" had lumped Britain and France in the same category as Communist aggressors.

The "unsatisfactory record of this government over the years with respect to the British Commonwealth," said Mr. Fulton, culminated in the United Nations General Assembly last fall when the Canadian government sided with Russia and the United States "against our oldest friends, namely France and the United Kingdom."

Mr. Cameron, referring to Mr. Pearson's November speech detailing to the Commons the government's Suez actions, said:

"I think it is only fair to say that on this occasion . . . no intelligent Canadian could really have a quarrel with what he had to tell us."

At another point he said: "It seems to me to be an extraordinary situation that Canadians can stand up in this Parliament and suggest that, because a strain was put upon the relationship within the Commonwealth —not by Canada or by any action of Canada's—we are to blame for that strain."

UN POSITION DIFFICULT

From Mr. Fulton's remarks it was obvious that "in the view of the official opposition there is only one nation in the world which has the right to sovereignty and that is the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland."

Mr. Cardin said the UN is in an intolerable position. If it collapsed "then to my mind it is world suicide."

"The granting of much greater power and much greater authority to the UN could be

UK Studying 'Dramatic Plan' To Exploit Athabasca Oil Sands

LONDON (CP))—The News Chronicle says Prime Minister Harold Macmillan is studying a dramatic plan to exploit the oil in Alberta's oil sands.

In a dispatch from New York, the newspaper says copies of the plan have been sent to Trade Minister Howe of Canada and to Sir Roger Makins, a top-ranking British civil servant. It says the plan was devised by Carroll Wilson, former general manager of the United States Atomic Energy Commission.

Under a streamer headline, Oil Galore in Canada Waiting for Us, The News Chronicle story warns Britain to get her bid in quickly, because "big international oil companies are already moving into the tar sands area in force."

The Wilson plan is said to urge creation of an Anglo-Canadian-American commission to investigate the oil sands. It is also proposed that Britain join in financing a pipeline from the sands to Lake Superior.

INTERNATIONAL ATTENTION is being focussed on Athabasca oil sands 350 miles northeast of Edmonton. Britain is studying plan to exploit the rich sands, and last week the Royalite Oil Co. Ltd. said it will spend $50,000,000 in the next four years in development. Picture shows part of oil sands pit, exposed near pilot plant at Bitumount.

THE EARL OF ATHLONE
. . . Governor-General of Canada during Second World War.

NAMED GOV.-GENERAL TWICE

Queen's Uncle, Athlone, Dies

LONDON (CP)—The Earl of Athlone, a great uncle of Queen Elizabeth and a former governor-general of both Canada and South Africa, died in his London home today. He was 82.

The Queen announced she is observing family mourning one week from today. The funeral will be held Saturday at St. George's Chapel, Windsor. The Queen and members of the Royal Family will attend.

A memorial service will also be held Saturday at St. Mary Abbott's Church in London.

He was appointed governor-general of South Africa in 1923 when the Nationalist party was campaigning for secession from the Commonwealth. His diplomacy did much to win the support of even party extremists and he remained in the post until 1931.

In 1940, on the death of Lord Tweedsmuir, King George VI appointed him governor-general of Canada. His office lasted until 1946.

He was 66 when he reached Canada during the wartime years. But he looked—and was—every inch the soldier.

By that time he was a veteran of three wars. He fought for England in the Matabele War of 1896 in Rhodesia, in the South African War of 1899 and the First World War.

The earl was born in 1874 as Prince Alexander Augustus Frederick William Alfred George of Teck. His father, whose title was German, changed the family name to Cambridge in 1917.

Earldom Will Become Extinct

He was a Knight of the Garter, a Knight Grand Cross of the Bath and a Knight Grand Cross of the Royal Victoria Order.

He was also a fellow of the Royal Society and president of the African Society. His foreign orders included the Grand Cordon of Leopold of Belgium and the Grand Cross of Orange Nassau.

He is survived by his widow, Princess Alice of Albany, a granddaughter of Queen Victoria, and a daughter, Lady May Abel Smith. A son, Viscount Trematon, died in an automobile accident in France in 1928.

As there is no male heir, the earldom becomes extinct.

The earl was the first of Canada's governors-general to be sworn in at Ottawa. Until his time it was the custom for the ceremony to be held at the port of debarkation.

The trip to Canada was shrouded in wartime secrecy. It wasn't until his train had rolled out of Halifax that the public was told a new governor-general had landed to take up his commission.

An odd fact was that it was actually the second time the earl had been selected for the position. He was named governor-general in the summer of 1914 and was preparing to cross the Atlantic when war broke out. He was released from the appointment and entered active service.

This service won him, among other honors, the French Legion of Honor and Croix de Guerre and the Belgian Military Medal.

FOLLOWED COMMONER

His selection for the Canadian appointment was in line with an opinion expressed by Lord Tweedsmuir that because he had been a commoner his successor should be a man high in the aristocracy.

The third close relative of a reigning sovereign to become governor-general, he was sworn in at Ottawa June 21, 1940.

The earl was a keen sportsman, on the playing field and as a hunter. He hunted big game both in Canada and South Africa, bagging a Rocky Mountain goat and a moose in Canada and gaining many trophies during his stay on the African continent.

He was onetime president of the English Football Association and when he came to Canada he became quite a hockey fan, rarely missing important games in Ottawa.

Prompt Niagara Power Action Urged by Ike

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower today recommended "prompt action" by Congress to decide how the Niagara power project "can best be developed."

The president took formal notice of the six-year stalemate that has delayed construction of the estimated $525,000,000 project. The recommendation was made in his budget message.

A tug-of-war between public and private power forces has held up the project. A further complication has been action by Congress reserving for itself the right to name the U.S. partner in the international project.

There now are indications that the rival factions are in a mood for compromise.

The Eisenhower recommendation was covered in 19 words in his 25,000-word budget message. In a section devoted to natural resources, the president said:

"I also recommend prompt action by the Congress to decide how the Niagara power project can best be developed."

'Comrade Falls' —E. E. Winch Laid to Rest

VANCOUVER (CP) — Ernie Winch's funeral service was held Tuesday with a simple moving tribute — "A comrade falls, the ranks close up, the fight goes on . . ."

The funeral could have summarized the life of the 77-year-old MLA which ended last Friday.

His political friends came to pay tribute to the grand old man of the B.C. CCF party and his political opponents including Premier Bennett were there in strength.

There was no minister at the service. Two friends, Mrs. Dorothy Steeves and Grant McNeil, concluded the service with an excerpt from Mr. Winch's last letter to his wife and family.

The letter said: "My epitaph. Not a ladder from earth to Heaven; not as a witness to any creed; but simple service, simply given to his own kind in their common need."

Cremation followed, his ashes to be scattered to the winds of the province "he loved and served so long," including 23 years in the Legislature.

Fire Destroys $7,000 House

NANAIMO (CP) — Fire destroyed a three-bedroom house here Tuesday night, causing more than $7,000 damage.

The house was unoccupied. Owner Felix Kopalinski was in Port Alberni and his wife was visiting neighbors at time of the fire.

Harewood volunteer fire chief Len Clarke said cause of the blaze appeared to be an overheated furnace which had been installed on Monday.

Reserve Lifted On Iron Ore At Graham Is.

To pave the way for a steel industry in British Columbia, the Provincial Cabinet has lifted a reserve on exploration for iron ore in the black sands of Graham Island in the Queen Charlottes, Mines Minister Kenneth Kiernan said today.

"Figures I have now indicate there are literally billions of tons of black sand in the northeast corner of Graham Island," Mr. Kiernan said. "We have therefore decided to open up exploration in this field with the idea of paving the way for a steel industry in B.C."

Last October the government placed a reserve on 250 square miles of black sand on Graham Island following reports that the sands contain quantities of iron ore concentrates and other minerals.

He estimated that exports of iron ore from B.C. over the last four years has exceeded 4,000,000 tons concentrate, most of it going to Japan.

After Thursday's ceremony, the carrier will undergo trials with her crew, flown here from Canada, in United Kingdom waters and later will be based in Halifax.

Those present at the commissioning ceremony will include Norman Robertson, Canadian high commissioner in London, and Mrs. Robertson; Lord Brookeborough, prime minister of Northern Ireland, and Vice-Admiral H. D. DeWolf, Canadian chief of the naval staff.

Doctor's Gifts Came From Widow's Son

EASTBOURNE, Eng. (AP)—A defence lawyer for Dr. John Bodkin Adams, accused of drugging a wealthy widow patient to death, won an admission in court today that the society physician had practically nothing to gain under her will.

The Rolls Royce car and the chest of silver which the doctor got from the estate of 81-year-old Mrs. Edith Morrell, the court was told actually were inherited by her son who then gave them as gifts to the physician.

The defence also brought out that Mrs. Morrell, in the many wills she had prepared, had continually insisted she be cremated after her death.

The prosecution contends that Dr. Adams murdered Mrs. Morrell in November, 1950, for "greed of profit."

ASHES SCATTERED

Afterwards, her body was cremated and the ashes scattered over the English Channel.

Besides the murder charge, Dr. Adams is accused of violations of the Cremation Act.

Major witness in today's session—third day of the pre-trial hearing of the murder charge against Dr. Adams—was Herbert Sogno, the lawyer who drew up Mrs. Morrell's constantly changing wills.

Under cross-examination by defence counsel Geoffrey Lawrence, Sogno agreed that a number of other persons had a lot more to gain under Mrs. Morrell's will and that Dr. Adams' share was actually an oak chest full of silver.

NO CAR

The Rolls Royce and an Elizabeth court cupboard which Dr. Adams also received from Mrs. Morrell's estate, the lawyer agreed, had been given to him later by her son, Calud Morrell.

The terms of Mrs. Morrell's will, the lawyer testified, were that the Rolls Royce car and the cupboard were to go to Dr. Adams only if her son had died before her.

The prosecution's case is that Dr. Adams enslaved Mrs. Morrell by turning her into a drug addict, then killed her with an overdose of drugs after she had changed her will in his favor.

interpreted as a step toward world government.

"Perhaps the time has not yet come to take such a step, and yet perhaps the time is rapidly approaching when such a step will have to be taken."

MUST BE REVIEWED

On this matter, Mr. Cameron said the question of sovereignty—"as to just how far any people are to be allowed to conduct their affairs without regard to the rest of the world"—will have to be reviewed.

Some rethinking was needed "as to the possibility of relinquishing certain aspects of our sovereignty to a greater degree." Consideration also would have to be given to the possible value of giving "some world authority" control of oil, food and uranium surpluses to be directed throughout the world where they are needed.

Mr. Fulton said Mr. Pearson and Health Minister Martin in speeches Monday had praised the Commonwealth.

But not all their "honey words" could remove "the unfortunate, indeed the disastrous, impression" created by the government's conduct and words last November.

Making clear that two major election issues for his party will be Parliament's status and the Liberal government attitude to the Commonwealth, Mr. Fulton said government actions in the defence production and pipeline debates in the last two years reduced parliament supremacy "nearly to the point of no return."

Mr. Cameron said that as for Mr. St. Laurent's remarks about the supermen of Europe, "all history supports that statement.

"The sooner we of the Caucasian races remember that the last 300 years carry an almost unbroken history of pillage, rapine, bloody suppression of all non-European people with whom we came in contact, the sooner we will be prepared to live at peace with the human race. . . .

"The peoples of Asia and of Africa have not forgotten. An attitude of humility with regard to the deplorable record of our ancestors and indeed of some of our contemporaries of the European races would be in order today."

IN PARLIAMENT

Social Security Hike Urged by Liberal MPs

(From Times News Services)

A series of Liberals have been speaking up in the House asking their government to extend the twin cornerstones of its social security program: Old-age pensions and family allowances.

The frequency of the demands from government supporters, in what is generally conceded to be a pre-election session, has raised speculation that the government may take some such action—or promise it—before the election expected in June.

Reinforcing that speculation is the likelihood that Finance Minister Harris will have a budget surplus of possibly some $300,000,000 by the March 31 end of the fiscal year.

No such increases were mentioned in the government's throne speech. And Health Minister Martin, who administers such payments, confined himself in a speech Monday to a report on his reecnt tour of South and Southeast Asia.

Joseph Fontaine (L-St. Hyacinthe-Bagot) said Tuesday an increase in the $40 monthly pension, paid to all 70 and over, would be a good thing. Even better would be to start paying it at age 65.

Lionel Bertrand (L-Terrebonne) appealed for removal of the means test from pensions to the blind.

TORY MEMBER 'BURIES' SOCREDS

OTTAWA (CP)—A Progressive Conservative Commons member, apparently stung by a Social Credit prophecy of hard times for the Conservatives in the West, made his own prediction Tuesday night.

Hayden Stanton of Leeds, Ont., prophesied in the Commons that no Social Credit member will be elected east of the Alberta border.

And every Social Credit candidate east of Manitoba, he said, will lose his $200 election deposit.

All 15 Social Credit members now in the Commons are from Alberta and British Columbia.

COL Increase Basis for Arguments

Opposition members also have been vocal on the issue.

A. M. Nicholson (CCF-Mackenzie) advocated a doubling in family allowances and in pensions for the aged, blind and totally disabled.

J. Wilfried Dufresne (PC, Quebec West) said the old age pension and family allowance should be increased.

Main basis for all the arguments has been the increase in living costs and decline in the dollar's purchasing value since the programs were started.

Ambrose Holowach (SC, Edmonton East) said his party supports the CCF motion of non-confidence against the government on which the House will vote late today. The motion criticizes the government for not announcing legislation to implement its hospital insurance proposals.

Mr. Holowach also called for a complete review of taxation policies. He said heavy federal taxes make it impossible for people to save, paralyze initiative and encourage instalment buying and consumer debt.

B.C. Senator Raps Probe Approval

A recommendation by the Gordon economic commission that a larger share of Canada's climbing road costs be borne by motorists and truckers was vigorously opposed by British Columbia's new senators.

Senator Sydney J. Smith, Kamloops, garageman, told the Senate that motorists and truck operators already are bearing more than a fair share of the Canadian tax load.

The Liberal senator, named to the upper House Jan. 4 by Prime Minister St. Laurent, said the "motor industry is truly the keystone in Canada's economic structure.

"So let us be very careful that we do not kill the goose that is laying our golden eggs."

Senator Smith's objections are similar to those voiced by the Canadian Trucking Associations. The CTA, representing some 7,000 truckers, said in a statement Sunday that it is paying its fair share of highway costs and will resist the Gordon commission's suggestion that motor vehicle owners' share be increased.

Senator Smith said the Canadian motorist and trucker already are making a substantial contribution to the public purse through taxes and fees at every level of government.

Provincial revenues from motor vehicle registration fees and gasoline taxes now were about $350,000,000 annually. The federal government was collecting about $175,000,000 a struction of the road as part of a broad improvement in the Yukon road system which he year in sales and excise taxes on motor vehicles and additional sums through the federal sales tax on gasoline and petroleum products.

Construction of an all-weather road from the Yukon interior to the Arctic coast at the mouth of the Mackenzie River in the neighboring Northwest Territories was proposed by the Yukon's only representative in the Commons.

Liberal James Aubrey Simmons said the road would provide dependable, low-cost transportation for supplying the radar warning line in the western Arctic.

It would reduce living costs in the region around Aklavik, at the Mackenzie delta. And it would open up an area in northern Yukon where valuable mineral and oil deposits were likely to be found.

Mr. Simmons proposed consaid is necessary for the opening up of the area.

An article in the January issue of Esquire magazine claiming that French Canada has no culture or cuisine, and attacking large Quebec families, came under the irate fire of a French-speaking member.

Guy Rouleau (L, Montreal Dollard) said that when he began to read the article by Gerald Kersh he thought the writer must have been playing a gag or making up a caricature of French-Canada.

"If it is a gag, it is in bad taste, and if it is a caricature it is a very bad one, because it has no similarity with those it wants to show up."

Secrecy Marks Chou's Arrival At Budapest

BUDAPEST (Reuters)—Premier Chou En-lai of Communist China arrived here by air from Warsaw today for talks with leaders of Hungary's Russian-backed regime. A veil of secrecy fell over his movements and other details of the visit.

The Chinese leader headed a 25-man delegation for a one-day visit and was greeted by Premier Janos Kadar and other Hungarian Communist leaders at snow-covered Toekoel military airfield, 10 miles southwest of Budapest.

Western reporters were not given permission to attend the welcoming ceremony.

News of the plane's arrival was released two hours after it reached here.

Early today, militiamen with machine-guns were posted at crossroads in the centre of ravished Budapest but there were no other signs of any special security measures.

Some western observers thought that part of Chou's talks with Hungarian officials would take place at a government country house some distance from the city.

The official Hungarian Communist party newspaper Nepszabadsag said the Chinese and Hungarian negotiations are part of a "serious discussion" among Communist states.

The newspaper related today's meetings to the earlier talks between the Soviet government and party leaders of other Communist countries, who pledged support for Kadar's government.

PLANE CRASH SURVIVOR'S STORY

'I Felt a Bump ... Could See Hands Peel ... It Was Skin'

VANCOUVER — FO Bernard MacCormack, 21, first officer with Trans-Canada Air Lines, and navigator of one of the two ill-fated RCAF jets in Sunday's mid-air crash near Squamish in which both planes were destroyed and two fliers are still missing Tuesday told his own story of the crash.

Swathed in bandages, he spoke from a Vancouver hospital bed.

"We had been flying for about 1¼ hours on ground-controlled interceptions when the mishap occurred.

"We finished the interceptions and were doing a loop," he said.

"I guess the other plane followed us.

"We just came over the top of the loop on our backs when I felt a bump, like an explosion.

"The next thing I knew flames were coming up from the floor above me—we were still upside down. I tried to reach the ejector lever, but the flames burned my hands. The lever is by the arm rests, but I just couldn't get at it."

He blew the plane's canopy and "I gave a lunge then and was thrown clear."

"At first it seemed like I was a spiral of flames, but I guess it was me that was spiraling and the plane flaming. I didn't open the chute right away because I figured the plane was still around.

"On the way down I only saw the other parachute and that's why at first I figured it had been an explosion. There should have been more chutes if it was a collision."

SKIN PEELED OFF

"At one point as I descended in my parachute, I could see my hands peeling and the wind whipping stuff off them. I guess it was skin."

MacCormack, who is suffering from facial and hand burns, is described by hospital authorities as being in "fairly good condition."

Tuesday, John Martin, the other survivor of the crash, contradicted RCAF officials' belief that the two jets collided.

The 24-year-old pilot of the plane in which MacCormack was the navigator, said: "As far as I am concerned there was no mid-air crash." He made the statement from his hospital bed at Squamish, where he was being treated for minor face and hand burns. "The plane caught fire," he said.

Turbulent weather over Brandywine Mountain near Squamish, stalled the search for the missing jet and its two occupants.

Three RCAF aircraft from nearby Sea Island search and rescue squadron circled the area early Tuesday but were forced back to their base within a short time.

Two air force officers, meanwhile, were to proceed during the day to a point 18 miles north of Squamish to try to reach the wreckage of one of the two jets, located after Sunday's crash near the Pacific Great Eastern Railway right-of-way.

Missing are Flt.-Lieut. Burton H. Patkau, 27, and FO Roderick L. Atkins, both of Vancouver.

Latoria Road Water System Incorporated

The B.C. cabinet Wednesday approved incorporation of the Western Latoria Road Waterworks District, a co-operative water supply system not much larger than its name.

The WLRWD is comprised of 13 families who have repaired an old wooden pipeline once used to supply an army installation in the war years.

They bought it from the federal government for $1 and now will buy water from Greater Victoria Water District. Each homeowner pays $10 for a share. Water rates will be based on gross consumption.

Temporary chairman of the water district is Douglas T. Richards, 60 Latoria Road.

meeting soon will be called to elect trustees. Three will be named, one serving to 1960, one until 1959 and one until 1958, to be determined by order of balloting.

Sidney Harbor To Be Improved

Survey Completed, Says Fairey; Breakwater Requested by Pearkes

The federal department of public works has just finished a complete survey of harbor facilities at Sidney with a view to improving them, Dr. F. T. Fairey, Liberal MP for Victoria, notified the Times from Ottawa today.

Dr. Fairey's statement came close on the heels of a speech Monday in the Commons by Major-General G. R. Pearkes, VC, MP for Esquimalt-Saanich, that cabinet ministers have "done nothing about a problem which concerns the whole economy of Vancouver Island."

General Pearkes called for improved harbor facilities with the aim of establishing a fast ferry service between Vancouver and Sidney.

DOUBLE

He said the number of passengers coming to Sidney from the state of Washington has doubled in the last three years, "yet the service between the southern portion of Vancouver Island and the mainland is extremely poor."

He added: "If the harbor (at Sidney) were developed it would be quite possible for vessels plying out of Vancouver to land their passengers at Sidney and they would then have to drive rather less than 20 miles to Victoria, thus saving a round trip of 200 miles."

BREAKWATER NEEDED

General Pearkes said some form of breakwater was needed in order to make the harbor suitable for all-year service.

Recommendations, he said, were made as long ago as 1930 that a breakwater be constructed at Sidney.

General Pearkes also called for abolition of the 10 per cent sales tax on cut flowers, stating that flowers are part of the general economy of Vancouver Island.

"They should be regarded as an agricultural crop, not as a manufactured article to be taxed," he said.

FIRST TIME IN 42 YEARS

Ailing Senator Will Lose Seat For Missing Last Two Sessions

OTTAWA (CP)—A Senate committee will meet Thursday to determine whether Liberal Senator Joseph James Duffus of Ontario failed to attend the last two sessions of Parliament, which would automatically make his seat vacant.

First step in declaring the seat vacant was taken in the Upper House Tuesday night when Senate clerk J. F. MacNeill reported that the 80-year-old senator from Peterborough, Ont., had not attended the 1956 session from Jan. 10 to Aug. 14 and the reecnt special session from Nov. 26 to 29. He is ill in hospital in Peterborough.

Solicitor-General Macdonald, government leader in the Upper House, said the British North America Act stipulates that any Senate seat must be declared vacant if the sitting member fails to attend two consecutive sessions of Parliament. There is no provision in the constitution to enable a senator to hold his seat on compassionate grounds.

Mr. MacNeill said it is the duty of the clerk to report to the House any cases where senators have not been in attendance for two straight sessions. If the senate found the report to be correct in fact, the "senator in case is out automatically under the law—the constitution."

The report submitted by Mr. MacNeill will be considered by the committee on orders and customs of the Senate and the privileges of Parliament. The committee's job is to report to the House whether the report is correct in fact.

A Senate official said Senator Duffus can appear before the committee or the Senate to oppose the action. However, he said the only valid opposition he could give would be that he did attend and there was an error in the attendance record.

The official said the process of declaring the seat vacant likely would take place about Jan. 24.

"VERY ILL"

Senator Duffus' wife said in Peterborough that her husband became ill about a year ago. Reported suffering from a heart ailment, he has been in hospital in Peterborough for the last 11 weeks.

Mrs. Duffus said her husband is "very ill" and has no idea that his seat is to be declared vacant.

"I would not dare tell him," she said. "He is too sick."

There have been several occasions in which a Senate seat was declared vacant because the sitting member did not attend two consecutive parliamentary sessions. The last was in 1915 when the seat held by Senator James F. Robertson of Prince Edward Island was declared vacant.

Senator Duffus was appointed to the Senate in 1940 after serving as a member of the Commons for Peterborough since 1935.

Senator Thomas Reid (L, British Columbia) said the special session of Parliament lasted only four days. This showed how the attendance rule in the constitution operated against a member.

However, Senator Macdonald said the rule is in the BNA Act and could not be changed by the Senate.

60 MILES AWAY

Qualicum Couple Saw Jets Collide

Two Qualicum Beach residents saw the crash of two T-33 Silver Star jet trainers of the RCAF near Squamish Sunday afternoon, it was learned today.

Mr. and Mrs. Ewart Sanders were admiring their view of the Coast Range from Qualicum Crescent, on the highway at Qualicum Beach, when they saw a dark, smoke-like mass appear against the sky above the mountain peaks.

The mass then appeared to plummet to earth, leaving a dark trail.

In its wake appeared two microscopic dots that floated to the ground, presumably the parachutes of two survivors, who were clearly visible as they reflected the sun's light.

Time was about 3.30 p.m. Mr. and Mrs. Sanders said the distance between them and the crash was about 60 miles, and that the air was crystal clear.

The Squeeze Begins

THE LUMBER INDUSTRY OF British Columbia apparently is the first sector of the Canadian economy to feel the end results of inflation. Probably it will not be the last.

Some eighty per cent of British Columbia's lumber is sold in the world market where Canada has no control of prices, where it must meet competition from other countries. Now this competition is hardening at the moment when the cost of delivering our lumber abroad is rising sharply.

After the Suez episode dislocated the world's shipping, ocean freight rates rose and now stand at an extraordinary level. They form a part of the price that we must ask for our lumber. Railway rates within Canada also are up. Our American lumber market has contracted.

The result is a new squeeze on a substantial part of our lumber industry. It is true that some of the giant companies that bought forests years ago at low prices are able to meet these new conditions without serious difficulty. All the smaller operators, buying logs at their present high price, are in immediate difficulties and some of the weaker companies are expected to close their mills before the year's end.

This process is simple and familiar. After a lush period, when they could sell any quantity of lumber at almost any price, some sections of the lumber industry find that they are in danger of pricing themselves out of the world market.

But their fixed costs of production, raised by the Canadian inflation, especially by the inflation of wages, are not easily reduced. Prices, therefore, cannot be easily adjusted to meet foreign competition. And still higher production costs are threatened by the demands of the labor unions for higher wages next summer.

Those who see no great danger in the inflationary cycle argue that rising prices in Canada can easily be covered by rising wages with no harm to anyone—except, of course, the owners of fixed investments, the pensioners and the savers.

In theory we could raise our prices and wages to any height if Canada were a self-contained economy and did not depend on world markets. In fact, we depend for a quarter of the nation's income on exports, and some industries, like British Columbia lumber, depend on exports for most of their business. Thus if our price level rises faster than that of our customers, if we inflate faster than they, we are in immediate trouble.

So far most of our economy has escaped that trouble. Our exports are at an all-time high. But the inflationary cycle does not operate uniformly. It is bound to hit first the industries mostly dependent on world prices. That is why our lumber industry, with its inflated costs, is now feeling the bite.

Diefenbaker Holds His Fire

IN THE COMPLETE HANSARD version, Mr. Diefenbaker's opening parliamentary speech as leader of the Oppositioin is disappointing. Newspaper readers across the nation may have wondered why that speech was given so little space in the news columns. The reason—obvious, when you read Hansard—is that the speech contained no news.

As usual, Mr. Diefenbaker was effective in the use of adjectives and in the art of denigration. He produced many well-rounded phrases to describe the failures and the follies of the Government. He was long on oratory but short on facts.

The facts that the public had expected to hear from Mr. Diefenbaker related to his party's newly-defined policy. For reasons of his own Mr. Diefenbaker made a very brief speech and, while attacking the Government, proposed no alternative policy.

He must have known that this would disappoint the public which had expected great things from him on a great occasion. But no doubt he was acting, or failing to act, deliberately.

Perhaps he had decided not to commit himself to anything until he had read the Gordon Commission's report. If so, he will find much material in it for his use.

It is hardly too much to say, indeed, that Mr. Diefenbaker could easily forget the contradictory hodgepodge of his party's platform altogether and adopt, with suitable deletions, the findings of a commission established by the Liberal Government.

Britannia in the Skies

IN THE ECONOMIC AND POLITICAL gloom of Britain, one bright star shines. It is the Viscount turbo-propeller airliner.

The Viscount, pride of British postwar aviation design and manufacture, appears to have emerged as the one exportable commodity for which the demand is climbing. It is the trail-blazer in a British aircraft business which challenges designers and manufacturers of all countries.

During the first nine months of 1956, Britain exported $226,202,656 worth of aircraft, 71.5 per cent more than during the similar period the previous year. The U.S. was the big customer, buying $32,200,000 worth, including large orders for Viscounts.

That aircraft scored a major success by its invasion of the North American market, with large sales to Trans-Canada Air Lines and Capital Airlines. The excellent operating record of the craft has been an impressive advertisement for the British industry.

A big brother of the Viscount, the Vickers Vanguard, another turboprop plane, has already been ordered in quantity by T.C.A. Twenty of the aircraft, worth about $67,000,000, are due for delivery and options have been taken on four more.

While the British aircraft industry rises to new and bluer skies, the outlook at ground level may be improving. One British cycle works alone has received an order from the U.S. for a million dollars worth of bicycles.

The mechanical techniques of Britain are far from moribund. The western world appreciates them and will spend dollars to acquire their products.

A Lady's Dressing Room

IN 1841, THE YEAR AFTER postage stamps were invented, there appeared in The London Times a curious advertisement: "A young lady, being desirous of covering her dressing-room with cancelled postage stamps, has so far been encouraged in her wish . . . as to have succeeded in collecting 16,000. These, however, being insufficient, she will be greatly obliged if any good-natured person would assist her in her whimsical project."

Whether the whimsical project succeeded or not the historians do not say. But the pleasant pursuit known as philately had begun.

Last Christmas Eve was a major date in the history of stamp collecting.

In Dartford, Kent, a 16-year-old girl postal clerk discovered a sheet of 240 stamps with no perforations between them. A layman might think the lack of perforations unimportant. To a philatelist this accident in the government printing office was almost priceless.

The sharp-eyed clerk at once realized that she had hit upon a little treasure. She bought the stamps, quite legally, for £2 and then sold them for £40 to Mr. George Lofts, a seasoned collector, who expects to re-sell them for £12,000.

Even in an age of inflation this seems to be something of a record. Economists may wonder why imperfect stamps are worth so much but philatelists are not interested in economics. They are interested in a hobby, a passion, almost a religion of their own.

Dr. Johnson once said that a man could seldom be engaged in anything more innocent than the making of money. Nothing could be more innocent than the collection of stamps which are almost worthless scraps of paper until philately gives them a mystical value.

But Mr. Lofts is operating on sound economic principles. Stamps, like anything else, are worth exactly what the market will pay. And for a scrap of paper which happens to be imperfectly printed the philatelist will indeed pay practically anything.

OUR POLITICAL FASHION EXPERT REPORTS A STRONG MIDDLE EAST INFLUENCE IN AMERICAN SHOWINGS THIS YEAR

REPORT FROM OTTAWA — By VICTOR MACKIE

No Portfolio for Mr. Gordon

GOVERNMENT members smiled wryly the day after the Gordon Economic Commission's preliminary report was made public, when they read a wire service speculative story that the Toronto chartered accountant would be entering the Cabinet.

Mackie

The Prime Minister has had in mind for some time the appointment of a Cabinet minister from Toronto, before fighting the next election campaign. Mr. Gordon appeared a logical choice. But today Liberals are inclined to agree that any chance he had of being summoned to the Cabinet went out the windows of the privy council chamber the day the advance copies of the report were studied for the first time in the Cabinet. More than one of Mr. St. Laurent's senior colleagues exploded with indignation after reading what the commission was recommending.

Identified

Publicly Mr. Gordon is now identified with policies enunciated in his report, policies that are directly opposed to those being carried out by the present Liberal administration. It would be a liability for the present government to take such a man into the Cabinet. Liberals were arguing in the Government lobby. Several of the proposals outlined in the report were similar to policies advocated by the former Progressive Conservative leader George Drew. One Cabinet minister ruefully commented, "Sections of the report read as though Mr. Gordon had been reading over Mr. Drew's shoulder."

A notable lack of enthusiasm over the report's recommendations among most Liberals at Ottawa appears to be shared by the Prime Minister. He was questioned on the report by Opposition Leader John Diefenbaker. The Prime Minister confessed that he had been "surprised" by sections of the report, particularly the section dealing with wheat.

Economy Changing

Commission Chairman Gordon defended his report in talks with newspapermen, pointing out that the economy of Canada is changing. He and his commission colleagues had been assigned to make a broad examination of the Canadian economy, to survey the directions in which it seems likely to develop over the next 25 years and to discuss some of the problems which Canada may expect to encounter along the way. He said the changes in the economy will require re-examination of some of the basic principles Canadians all took for granted a few years ago.

The situation confronting Canada in the next quarter century demanded the kind of report that was compiled, in the opinion of Mr. Gordon.

"For example," he said referring to the commission's proposals for a re-examination of the Combines Investigation Act, "the way to get costs down is to have fewer people, not more, doing things." Fewer firms could do a more efficient job in production because of their larger share in the market. "It's a new way of looking at things," he said. "If you have too many manufacturers, costs are higher than if you have fewer."

Tariffs

Mr. Gordon has described himself as a Liberal. When he embarked upon the study he had thought, as a Liberal, that the best treatment for tariffs was to reduce them. But as he studied the important role of secondary industries in Canada, he changed his mind.

Mr. Gordon concluded that if there were no tariff walls between Canada and the United States, "the disruption in this country would be extremely serious and many people would be displaced." They would have to find new jobs, if not in Canada, then elsewhere.

Even so the report's section on tariffs, which is bound to arouse critical repercussions in Liberal circles, is "mild" compared to first rough drafts, subsequently altered as the commission argued out ideas that were to be put down permanently in black and white.

Prediction

During his press conference Mr. Gordon contrasted the Canadian situation his group had been required to assess with the discouraging and bleak outlook confronting the Rowell-Sirois commissoin when it made its study 20 years ago. "As far as we can see, there is no major problem facing us of insuperable character that we can't deal with if we want to," he said.

The Royal Commission on Economic Prospects has assumed there will not be another depression of the kind experienced in Canada in the thirties. It conceded that much would depend upon what happened in the United States. If there should be a widespread depression in the U.S. it would spread to Canada.

But the commission said it was not inclined to be unduly pessimistic on that score. It expects there will be many ups and downs in the level of economic activity in Canada over the next 25 years but no major depression.

Conflict

On a number of major issues the findings of the commission were contrary to existing government policy. This fact has been gleefully noted by members of the Opposition in Parliament. They intend in the future weeks of this current session to point out for the benefit of the Government front benches where the Royal Commissioners differ from the Cabinet on important economic issues.

The Government for its part would probably be just as happy to file and forget the report. But much will be heard of it as the weeks roll by, bringing the members of Parliament closer and closer to the day the voters go to the polls in a general election.

FROM WASHINGTON — By WALTER LIPPMANN

Dulles and the Partnership

AS Anthony Eden goes into retirement, he can take with him the knowledge that his friends are a multitude on both sides of the ocean. For them, the end will not wipe out what went before, those valiant years of the world war era. For them, too, the last word has not been spoken to explain the disaster at Suez, and the time has not yet come for a final judgment. His friends will wish him a good recovery and a quiet mind.

Lippmann

It was Eden's fate to have to do what Churchill once vowed he would never do, to preside over the liquidation of the British imperial position in the Middle East. Had everyone concerned been much wiser and more reasonable than he was, there might have been a happy transition from empire to a new order of things between East and West. It was not to be. There has not been the wisdom in the West, that is to say in London, Paris and Washington, to use what remained of their declining power to propose a new order to replace the old. In the East there has been violence and hatred, resentment and fanaticism, to discourage and to frustrate statesmanship.

Wagered and Lost

The intervention at the Suez Canal seems to have been a last desperate gamble to recover a power and an influence that had in fact already been very nearly lost. What little of power and influence remained was wagered and was lost in the disaster.

There is no denying the fact that the Anglo-American partnership in world affairs has been affected. This partnership really began with Churchill and Roosevelt in the Second World War. Its essence has been consultation and agreement of the highest levels of the two governments in advance of any great decision in foreign affairs. There has always been, certainly for more than a century, the British-American connection. This has meant that in case of war the interests of the two countries would cause them to be on the same side. But the partnership which Churchill and Roosevelt established is a comparatively new thing in British-American relations.

This partnership has been, if not dissolved, then at the very least suspended in the Suez affair. The American complaint is that we were not consulted before the British government began its momentous military action in Egypt. The British complaint is that since the Suez intervention, the American government has refused to consult it about any of its big policies.

Relief by Retirement

The official American view has been that it could never again trust Eden after his failure to consult in October. The corresponding view in England has been that after its experience in negotiating with him over Suez, it could never again trust Dulles. So Washington is relieved that Eden has retired, and London will be relieved when Dulles retires.

The old partnership in its full sense is not, however, a matter of personalities. The partnership is at bottom dependent on common interests and something like parity of power. Thus, even during the Second World War the Churchill-Roosevelt partnership did not really control the war in the Pacific. Since the Second World War, except perhaps at certain critical points in the Korean war, there has been no partnership in East Asia.

It now appears that the partnership is dissolved in the Middle East, what with the collapse of British power and the so-called Eisenhower doctrine.

In Europe, however, there is a deep need of the partnership. And, so I venture to think, it is in the working out of a European policy that the partnership, which is now suspended, will be restored. We must suppose that after the disasters abroad, Britain will draw closer to Western Europe. We can be sure that there will be great peril to Europe and to the world unless Western Europe can come to some kind of settlement with Eastern Europe.

In these great and difficult things, London and Washington cannot go their separate ways.

As Our Readers See It

Alien Direction

The article signed "Recherche" in the Times of the 11th inst. omitted one important fact regarding the federal government's policies, e.g., the government permitted a foreigner to come from the United States to direct the recent strike of railway firemen against the railway, and the matter of whether certain premises of the company should be picketed or not was referred to a foreign committee.

It is high time that the unions of Canadian workers were governed by Canadian executives and not by foreigners and that they ceased paying 75 per cent of their dues to the foreign executives over whom they have no control.

How much longer are the people of Canada going to stand for a government which allows the policies of Canadian workers to be controlled from another country? How long are the Canadian people going to passively accept a government that gradually lets their country be absorbed into the ambit of the U.S.A., politically and financially?

Sneer

If Messrs Johnston and Stewart of the C.C.F. political party, who broadcast through the facilities of the CBU on Friday last, had offered constructive criticism against government administration, regarding old-age pensions, housing and farm policies, etc., and given us an idea of the alternatives they have in mind, it might have made opening their mouths worthwhile. As it was, the way the speakers sneered at our leaders' efforts helped nobody, and the undersigned is one young farming man who would not support such negative-thinking persons.

Robbing the Poor

Every little while we hear of another raid on the public purse. I mean the recurring demands of organized labor for increased pay. They are strong enough to get what they ask for, but why don't they realize that the increases are all passed on to the general public, putting up the cost of existence of everybody.

In the old days, when bandits, or just plain thieves, robbed travellers, it was the rich people who were robbed, because only rich people could afford to travel, but now the real victims are the low-income people, mostly people who are too old to work and are therefore unable to strike back.

Old Readers

For some time I have been endeavoring to locate those old heavy public school readers in use about 1910-1917. Neither our text-book department, nor our libraries appear to list them.

If perchance, this letter is read by someone among your thousands of readers who has preserved one or more of these volumes and would consent to a loan of same for a limited period, I would be delighted to receive a letter to this effect. Of course I would gladly pay postage both ways.

Insulting

The London Times' insulting farewell to Sir Anthony Eden can best be understood by consideration of President Eisenhower's farewell to Sir Anthony, wherein he proclaims Eden a dedicated leader in the cause of freedom.

A Great Redemptive Force

The spontaneous and most feeling tributes paid to the memory of the late Ernest E. Winch, MLA, from all classes in the community for his humanitarian work illustrate the manner in which he substantially represented the great and growing redemptive forces in our society.

Ernest E. Winch was a revered, personal friend of the writer for more than a quarter of a century. In his inspiring correspondence he often disclosed those things nearest and dearest to him in his philosophy and conduct of life. May I, therefore, quote from his last uplifting message to me? On Sept. 29, 1956, he wrote in part: "In our chosen field—our reward—the opportunity and satisfaction of 'something attempted, something done'." He continues: "I often think of William Morris' poem, 'All for the Cause' and that part:

"Oft, when men and maids are merry, ere the sunlight leaves the earth,
And they bless the day beloved, all too short for all their mirth,
Some shall pause awhile and ponder on the bitter days of old
Ere the toil of strife and battle, overthrew the curse of gold.

"Then 'twixt lips of loved and lover, solemn thoughts of us shall rise:
We who once were fools and dreamers,
then shall be the brave and wise.
There amidst the world new-builded shall our earthly deeds abide,
Though our names be all forgotten, and the tale of how we died . . .

"Life or death then, who shall heed it,
what we gain or what we lose?
Fair flies life amid the struggle and the cause for each shall choose."

He continues in his letter, "So, carry on. Tomorrow is a new day, and the Future is ours."

The Future envisioned by Ernest E. Winch is a state of society where the Golden Rule shall be incarnated into the very warp and woof of things, and the human wreckage in our institutions, and elsewhere, only a poignant memory in the Light and Life of the Good Society in being.

There is no doubt in my mind the effect of his life work will give impetus to the great redemptive forces in the community to create the values of a higher citizenship unfettered by disquieting social phenomena.

His Brother's Keeper

As a Conservative I would like to take this opportunity to express some measure of tribute to the memory of the late Ernest Edward Winch, CCF member for Burnaby, whose recent death caused regret throughout the province, and indeed throughout the nation.

As an observer of politics over the years I have been for a considerable period an admirer of the Winches, father and son, both of whom have contributed a great deal to the welfare of their fellow citizens.

While I could not, of course, agree with them that socialism is the right policy for Canada or British Columbia, nevertheless like so many others I appreciate the fact that they were and are Socialists by conviction and conscientious servants of the people.

I do not suppose that there has been anyone in provincial politics who adopted a more humanitarian role than the late Mr. Winch. Mr. Winch enjoyed the respect, I am sure, and the close personal friendship of members of the other parties, both inside and outside the Legislature, and although he always sat in opposition he was able to do more than his share in alleviating conditions in mental and penal institutions and always he was in every respect his brother's keeper.

Although he belonged to no religious denomination the principles that guided his life were on the highest moral and religious plane.

I would like the privilege in joining in the tribute paid to him.

UN CORRESPONDENCE — By CHARLES LYNCH

Canada Back to Size

Having reported several weeks ago that Canada found herself playing the somewhat unfamiliar role of a great power at the height of the Suez crisis, we feel bound to bring things up to date and report that she is playing that role no longer.

Lynch

In fact, as far as the United Nations is concerned, she seems to be acting rather like a maiden aunt who, having had a fling, is lying low until the whole thing blows over.

What she is showing here is not so much contrition as caution. It is as though the shapers of Canadian policy had asked themselves: "What are we doing up here?" And had decided that a descent from the heights was in order.

Whatever the reason, Canada has been very quiet here since her crucial role in the formation of the United Nations Emergency Force and the engineering of a cease-fire in Egypt. Members of the Canadian delegation give the impression they felt Canada had said and done quite enough for one session of the General Assembly. Canada assumed a position in the UNEF matter because there just wasn't anybody else to do it—having done that, she wants to get back to a position of non-prominence in world affairs before people start getting the idea that she should take on other important global chores.

TOO BIG A BITE?

However receptive other nations may be to Canadian initiative, and there is no doubt they are receptive, the caution on Canada's part seems to stem from official unease that the Canadian people might feel the government was biting off more than it could chew. There was also the feeling that Canada has neither the population nor the resources to sustain a position of prominence in world affairs; plus the fact that when such a position is taken, it is only a matter of time until somebody wants to punch you in the nose.

The fact that Canada is so popular with so many nations, it is explained, is precisely because she is so good at minding her own business—if she stops doing that, according to this line of reasoning, she would be subject to the same buffetings as the United States, Britain, France and Russia have come to accept as a matter of course.

The pity about the Canadian pull-back, of course, is precisely that her views are held in such wide esteem. Her voice is a welcome one—not because she raises it so infrequently, but rather because of her geographical location, the freshness of her political, economic and cultural background in a rather tired world, her growing independence of yet familiarity with the views of Britain, the United States and France. This is especially true when the man who speaks for Canada is Hon. Lester B. Pearson.

It would not be an exaggeration to say that Canada, if she does not exercise to the full her opportunity to influence events here at the United Nations, is doing the world a disservice. This is particularly true where the Western group of nations is concerned, for the West finds itself being outmanoeuvred here time and again. No Western voice is listened to more attentively here than that of Canada, when she chooses to raise it.

But it is not being heard. Even in the matter of UNEF, into which Canada inserted herself so decisively early on, she is being cautious; in the related matters of Suez Canal clearance an long-range Middle Eastern settlements, she is making no serious attempts to influence events.

The formation of UNEF was not an end in itself—it was a means to an end. Important discussions are taking place now arising out of the UNEF matter. Yet Hon. Mr. Pearson, chairman of the Canadian delegation to the 11th General Assembly of the UN, has not been in attendance here for weeks. The vice-chairman of the delegation, Hon. Roch Pinard, has not been here since before Christmas.

LONDON LETTER — By WALLACE REYBURN

'Sky' Film Is Tops

LONDON—It is ironic that with all the trouble the movie people have been going to in evolving bigger and wider screens and even more super color that a film shot in simple black and white should be the one that pulled in most cash customers to British cinemas in the past year.

Reyburn

"Reach for the Sky," with Kenneth More as war ace Bader, topped them all at the box office, whether American import or home product. Second was "Trapeze," but the third was also a simple black and white British job — "Private's Progress."

It would seem to make nonsense of the contention that to woo people away from television you must give them something they can't get on their TV sets at home—color on a huge screen. I don't know what the experience has been over on your side, but the feeling here—now backed up by statistics—is that what will pack them in is a good story well told. Given that, the customers have no complaints about lack of color or a wide screen.

Certain types of films naturally benefit by the new techniques. Wide screen color is just the thing for musicals and to make one now in black and white for a small screen would be suicide at the box office. But many a film gains nothing by being dressed up that way. "The Deep Blue Sea," for instance. A tightly-knit drama on the stage, it had skiing scenes in Switzerland dragged into the film to make the most of the wide screen and the shabby little flat that was the focal point of the story couldn't achieve a slummy look in the glory of CinemaScope or Vistavision, or whatever process it was in. The telling of the story was hampered by the grandiose surroundings.

Likewise with "The Battle of the River Plate," a much more expensive and ambitious treatment of a war story than "Reach for the Sky." The producers were so fascinated by how beautiful a battleship looked steaming along the blue Atlantic on a huge screen that they kept forgetting to get on with the story.

If you haven't seen "Reach for the Sky" yet, I can't recommend it too highly for action, humor and genuine emotion. It's on my list of those I keep going to see again.

Early Tax Payment Increases in Saanich

Saanich general revenue fund swelled by $47,800 in the first six business days of the year, thanks to early pre-payment of property taxes by ratepayers.

This is $6,400 more than in the same period a year ago and indicates popularity of the Saanich plan, wherein taxes paid early in the year collect interest at nearly 5 per cent over the nine months prior to the due date.

In the first three months of 1956, Saanich collected $215,000 in tax pre-payments, $155,000 of this in the month of January.

Full interest value of paying early drops the later the tax is paid, which is a reason for slack-off after March.

In comparison, a bank pays 2 per cent per annum on savings accounts.

The municipality benefits by the money by not having to borrow for current expenditures as early as would otherwise be necessary.

The ratepayer benefits by the interest, which is credited toward his tax bill.

All assessment notices have been sent out and taxpayers who object to the figure set for value of their land and improvements in 1956 (on which 1957 tax is based) must appeal by Thursday.

Courts of revision, at which appeals are considered, will be held in Royal Oak Women's Institute Hall, Feb. 4 for residents of school district 63, and Feb. 14 for residents of school district 61, both of which extend into Saanich in both cases at 10 a.m.

Gardeners Develop Scent for Perfume

The sense of smell was a necessity to primitive existence. An essential in the preservation of life itself, we now use it mainly for pleasure.

Thus we usually refer to perfume, fragrance or scent rather than to odor or smell.

Hilda

Some folks have a keener sense of smell than others, but I firmly believe that the sense may be cultivated and developed, if we will.

The gardener is rare who does not desire fragrance in his garden, yet many pass by those plants whose delightful offering of perfume is of a more etherial quality. They are just not aware that it exists. It is by growing some of the more delicately perfumed plants that we may develop the sense of smell. We will become aware of shades in perfume as in color.

One of the most interesting of sidelines in cultivation of this sense is the awareness of the variance in the smell of a certain flower at different times of the day, and at progressive stages of its life span.

We soon learn there are basic oils which go into the making of what we call perfume, at times one predominates, and later another. It is the blending which gives us what we call a delightful fragrance, yet the predominance of one or the other may be quite unacceptable.

With a sense of smell cultivated and trained, what delights for the gardener may be ahead! The smell of a sweet compost heap, the balsams on the far hill, any good garden soil after rain, or that indefinable odor of the coming rain, all add up to a deeper pleasure in the outdoors.

EL PASO, Tex. (UP)—Nurses at El Paso General Hospital disclosed that a 43-year-old woman got mad at her boy friend and used a flatiron to remove his name that was tattooed on each of her legs.

The woman succeeded in taking off the names, as well as several inches of skin, nurses said.

"You know how it is, honey," she told a nurse. "I just don't love him anymore."

"I don't know how it is, but we treated the burns anyway," the nurse said afterward.

A REAL CHAMPION

Red Buries Sorrow In Return to TV Show

By ALINE MOSBY

HOLLYWOOD (UP) — Red Skelton mugged his funniest on his elevision show Tuesday night, but the audience never saw the real drama that took place backstage.

After Red walked off the set, the producer, Cecil Barker, went into the comedian's dressing room and hugged him emotionally.

The comic, obviously tired and under a strain, returned to his live show for the first time since learning his son, Richard, 9, is expected to died sometime this year from leukemia.

Only once did Red let the TV audience know of his heartbreak. At the end of the half-hour program he thanked the 25,000 persons "in behalf of my wife, little Richard and myself" who have written or wired Red.

The boy is home from hospital and is playing as usual. He is not attending school because his parents fear his classmates may say something to upset him.

Little Richard knows he has leukemia because he was watching a local TV newscast that broke the story. But he apparently does not know the ailment is fatal.

"I put up a mental block when I'm here," he told one co-worker.

Red's wife, Georgia, was backstage as usual, laughing and gay. Another hero of the evening was Skelton's guest star, Mickey Rooney. He clowned constantly for two days between rehearsals to keep Red roaring.

Rooney watched Skelton going through a routine on the stage while the audience howled. Mickey said, "The show unfortunately must go on. What else are you gonna do? Red is a champion."

2-Death Jury Scores Poorly-Sanded Roads

CASTLEGAR — More adequate road-sanding practices were recommended at an inquest into the Dec. 22 traffic deaths of Mrs. Anne Julie Hardie, Kinnaird, and Mrs. Carolyn Walker, Red Deer, Alta. The two women were killed in a two-car collision. The jury returned a "deaths by misadventure" verdict.

The jury recommended that all road grades and public highways be sanded more consistently and that RCMP notify the highways department foreman when sanding is necessary. The jury also said it felt there is inadequate sanding equipment at the disposal of the highways department foreman in the Castlegar area.

SAANICH REJECTS BID TO PROHIBIT FALCONRY

Saanich Police Chief Bert Pearson said Tuesday night he has received new complaints of persons using falcons for hunting in the municipality.

He asked the police commission to recommend a by-law making the practice illegal.

Commissioners said, however, that the matter had been investigated a year ago and council had found it had no authority to pass such a by-law.

JAM, CAKES, CANDIES ALSO?

3rd Sugar Boost Expected Thursday

Sugar prices are expected to take their third increase in a week in most stores Thursday.

Wholesale price per 100-weight increased 46 cents today, a total increase of 90 cents since Friday, and the prices of jam, jelly, candy, cookies and cakes "will be moving up right away," J. B. Hardy, manager of Macdonald's Consolidated, said today.

City stores upped their prices "one cent a pound across the board" this week.

A five-pound bag has been hiked from 55 cents to about 60 cents, and 10 pounds, from 99 cents to $1.19.

Price per 100 pounds Tuesday was $10.95.

15% Wage Boost Requested By Oak Bay Police

A 15 per cent across-the-board wage increase is being asked by the 11-man Oak Bay police force, the same general contract demand as other Greater Victoria police forces.

The police commission has been asked also for a superannuation plan with the employer paying 2½ per cent and the employee 2 per cent, and an additional statutory holiday, in addition to the existing eight statutory holidays.

Salary for first-class constables now is $325 a month.

CITY CHEST COMES CROPPER, PAYS BET WITH COPPER TOPPER—A copper topper, instead of a real hat, has been made for the mayor of Regina and will be forwarded to the prairie city as a reward for beating Victoria to its Community Chest target last fall. Chamber of Commerce ordered the hand-tooled, accurately scaled desk model shown here by Mrs. Molly Jeffries, wife of city silversmith. Chamber hopes other cities will adopt copper topper plan in future. Mayor Scurrah bet hat this city would win.

Conciliation Seen on Saanich Police Salaries

First round in wage talks between Saanich Police Union and the board of police commissioners was held Tuesday night, with indications they may go to conciliation.

While the policemen said their present wage scale is "shockingly inadequate," Reeve Arthur Ash, chairman of the commission, countered that their demands are "totally unrealistic."

"I don't know what the solution is," said Reeve Ash.

Municipal officials are at their "wits end" trying to make ends meet, he said, and the time is coming when other steps must be taken.

GET RCMP

"We might have to ask the RCMP to come in and police the municipality," the reeve said.

The commission also suggested that amalgamation of Greater Victoria police forces might be considered, but union representatives argued that the wage scale for a combined force would be higher than the present rates in Saanich.

The union brief, presented by president Robert Peterson and vice-president Charles Truitt, asks 17½ per cent pay boost for ranks up to and including first-class constables, and a 20 per cent hike for officers and detectives, plus other fringe benefits.

The policemen are seeking a superannuation plan, group life insurance scheme, time-and-a-half for overtime, accumulative sick leave, and clothing and promotional clauses written in the agreement.

$325 MONTHLY

Present rate for a first-class constable in Saanich is $325, compared to $333 in the city of Victoria. Other ranks vary in comparison with the Victoria scale, some higher and others lower.

Commissioner Stanley Eden said he was getting "fed up" with one police force using another to keep wages increasing.

Reeve Ash said the increases would mean an additional $15,000 cost to the municipality.

TORONTO HOPEFUL SHARP

TORONTO—George Chuvalo, 19-year-old Toronto heavyweight hopeful, won his fourth professional fight in five starts Monday night as he knocked out Sid Russell of Washington with a jolting left hook at 1.08 of the first round.

School Evacuated As Washroom Burns

The cause of a fire which forced 250 pupils to evacuate Frank Hobbs school Tuesday afternoon was being investigated by Saanich Fire Department officials today.

The fire, which caused about $100 damage to a washroom locker, sent smoke pouring through the building.

Flames started in a carton of paper towels and could have been started by a child playing with matches, firemen said.

The students were sent home about 2.30 p.m. after waiting outside the school yard for 30 minutes while firemen were inside.

MICKEY'S NO SWELL-HEAD

Mickey Mantle, slugging star of the New York Yankees, shows fame hasn't swelled his head despite great record of last season. Mantle, who hopes salary will swell to $75,000 this year, tries on "Babe Ruth, Sultan of Swat" awarded by the Maryland Professional Baseball Players' Association. Mantle is first winner of the $38,000 diamond and emerald-studded crown. Last season Mickey clouted 53 home runs.—(AP wirephoto)

Double D's, Morrisons Lead Hoop

Drakes, Fuelers Behind in Semis

Dickinson & Dunn and Morrisons are riding in the drivers' seats as the Senior B Men's Basketball League semifinal playofs head toward the second round at Victoria High School Thursday night.

Both clubs scored easy victories as the best-of-three series opened at the Vic High gymnasium Tuesday.

Defending the crown they won last year, the Tiremen eased to a 64-53 triumph over Rose Fuel and Morrisons coasted to 72-60 victory over Drakes.

With sharpshooting Joe Patterson setting the pace, Morrisons surged to a 40-23 halftime lead against Drakes. The losers outscored Morrisons by five points after the intermission but never seriously threatened to pull the decision out of the fire.

LOSING EFFORT

Gary Taylor did his best to keep Drakes in the battle, taking scoring honors for the night with a 24-point effort. Patterson tossed in 20 points and Jake Jacobson helped the winners with 16.

Dickinson and Dunn also hustled to a big first-half lead and was able to coast through the closing exchanges despite a 23-point scoring spree by Paul Clarkson, who dropped 17 shots from the foul strip.

Bill Bamford and playing-coach Norm Baker paced the Double D scoring parade with 16 points each.

COON-SKIN CAP USED FOR ALL-STARS—BLAKE

MONTREAL (CP)—Coach Toe Blake of Montreal Canadiens and Montreal sports writers chorused their protests over the failure of Jacques Plante to win a place on either of the National Hockey League all-star teams.

"The records show he's the best goalie in the league," said Blake Tuesday, "but apparently no one attached any importance to the record.

"Some of the selectors . . . . must have used the hat-pin method, or drawn the names out of an old coon-skin cap while blindfolded."

"It's impossible to understand," says columnist Bert Souliere of Le Devoir.

SEATTLE WINS AGAIN

Whitney Joins Needy Warriors

Seattle 3, Winnipeg 1
Edmonton 2, Brandon 1

No one can blame the Winnipeg Warriors today if they are awaiting somewhat anxiously the arrival of former Victoria Cougar defenceman Arnott Whitney.

For the Warriors, deep in the cellar of the Western Hockey League's prairie division, lost their 30th game of the season Tuesday night, 3-1, to Seattle Americans. Any promised help now is more than welcome.

At the other end of the prairie circuit, Edmonton Flyers increased their first-place lead over Brandon to seven points by clipping the Regals, 2-1, at Edmonton.

Tuesday, Whitney was recalled from Victoria by the Hershey Bears of the American Hockey League and was loaned forthwith to Winnipeg. After performing for the Cougars last year, Whitney was acquired from Hershey again midway through this season, but failed to jell on the blueline for the Cats.

Warriors will take help from anyone right now. Their home loss Tuesday leaves them just 12 short of the WHL record for losses by one team during the season—42. They have 27 games left to play.

It was the Cougars that picked up this distinction in the 1949-50 season. Earlier this season Warriors lost 14 straight to equal another Cougar record.

EMILE WAS GREAT

Americans, on the first leg of their final prairie tour of the season, received spectacular net-minding from diminutive Emile Francis to register the win. Francis turned aside 29 shots and was robbed of a shutout with less than 30 seconds left in the game.

Eddie Dorohoy, Art Hart and Ray Kinasewich scored for the western division leaders, who are now 11 points ahead of second-place Vancouver Canucks.

For Warriors, it was NHL veteran Billy Mosienko who completed a three-man relay at 19.38 of the third for his 22nd goal of the season.

REGALS JOLTED

At Edmonton, the Regals wavered before 4,500 fans in their effort to close ground on the free-wheeling Flyers.

Bill McCreary opened the scoring for the Flyers with a screen shot at 5.08 of the first. McCreary also set up the winner in the second, passing to Murray Costello, who flipped the puck into the Brandon net from the edge of the crease.

Les Lilley broke through for Brandon at 3.08 of the third, scoring on a breakaway from an Edmonton power play. Brandon goalie Lucien Dechene was pulled with 52 seconds to play and Flyers' Don Poile scored on the open net, only to have the play ruled offside.

RICHMOND, Calif.—Ruben Hernandez, 167, Los Angeles, stopped Johnny Heard, 165, Richmond, 6.

Boston Counters With Lifetime Suspension

From Canadian Press

The shaking hands and nervous stomach that have forced other goaltenders to quit hockey at an early age, apparently have pressured Terry Sawchuk out of the National Hockey League.

Sawchuk, brilliant 26-year-old goal-tender for the Boston Bruins, announced Tuesday that he was quitting the team.

The Bruins announced today that Sawchuk is suspended "for life" for missing today's practice.

The news hit the hockey world today as a sad, if somewhat familiar shock. Sawchuk is not the first tip-top goalie to feel the strain of stopping, not dodging, pucks in the National Hockey League.

The announcement that Sawchuk was quitting Boston, a third-place club largely through his efforts, came Tuesday night, some hours after he was named all-star goalie in mid-season selections.

Three-time winner of the Vezina Trophy, Sawchuk played on three Stanley Cup teams in a glittering career and there were those who said he would play on another this season.

But the goal-tender did not report for practice Tuesday and later visited his coach, Milt Schmidt, at home, where Schmidt was bed-ridden with flu.

EMOTIONAL STRAIN

Sawchuk seems "to be laboring under an emotional strain with something on his mind," said Schmidt.

Sawchuk was in hospital for two weeks during December with a blood infection. He missed seven games and his goaltending spot was filled by 23-year-old Norm Defelice, who now has again been recalled from Hershey Bears to replace Sawchuk.

The strain of NHL goaltending has become increasingly plain in recent years. Gerry McNeil, another top-notch net workman, was benched by the Montreal Canadiens late in the 1953-54 season for emotional fatigue.

"I'm retiring while I still have my health," said McNeil.

DURNAN FORCED OUT

McNeil earlier had replaced Bill Durnan, who retired from Canadiens in the middle of the 1949-50 playoffs with the words "hockey is a nerve-wracking business. I don't want to play until I crack up, so I'm getting out now."

Schmidt said Sawchuk gave no reason for his decision in their interview yesterday. But he said the goalie planned to return to his home in suburban Detroit.

Sawchuk said in earlier interviews that his timing had been off since his return to action. But he had two excellent games in Detroit, the Bruins winning both.

Saturday night the Bruins were beaten by Canadiens in Montreal and Sunday night Cadiens beat them again in Boston. Sawchuk had been considered the key to the Bruins rise this season as NHL contenders. Atop the league for more than a month, the Bruins now have dropped to third place.

HE QUIT, TOO

'I Know How Terry Feels' Says McNeil

MONTREAL (BUP)—Gerry McNeil, former National Hockey League goalie with the Montreal Canadiens, said today, "I know just how he feels," when he learned that Terry Sawchuk had quit the Boston Bruins.

Sawchuk, three times Vezina Trophy winner while he was with Detroit, informed Boston coach Milt Schmidt and owner Walter Brown that he was giving up the game and returning home because he was upset with "shaky nerves."

"I can't speak for Terry, of course," said McNeil, who quit himself during the Stanley Cup playoffs against the Chicago Black Hawks in 1953. "But I think I know how he feels."

'ALL NERVED UP'

"It's pretty hard to explain to anyone who has never been in the nets," he said. "Take like me in the playoffs. Seems everything was going bad and there was nothing I could do about it. I was all nerved up and though I think I tried twice as hard things seemed to get worse . . . I felt like I was fighting the world.

"I didn't quit because I was afraid or didn't want to play. In fact I wanted to play but I knew I wasn't doing my share and I felt sorry for the rest of the team," he continued.

McNeil said one reason why goalies suffer more from tension and nerves than any other player was that "we have no way of letting off steam."

"Take those forwards and defencemen. If they make a mistake they can let off steam by going out there the next time and clubbing some guy over the head. But what can we do? Just stand there and take it while the pressure builds up in your mind. You have no way of controlling the game. You just have to stand there and wait for them to shoot at you," he said.

"Just don't be too hard on Terry, or any other goalie," he asked. "Some people think they have an idea of what it's like out there but nobody knows who's never tried it."

Dorohoy Joins Chums In Upper Point Level

Seattle Americans' Guyle Fielder and Ray Kinasewich, dominating the Western Hockey League scoring statistics almost all season, now have another teammate up in the top echelon.

Centreman Eddie Dorohoy fired home four goals and picked up one assist over the weekend, and another goal Tuesday night to vault from sixth place last week to third in the points race.

Fielder, of course, still leads the pack easily with 21 goals and 54 assists for 75 points. Vancouver's Phil Maloney is the only non-American in the top four with 61 points, while Dorohoy is next with 55 points and Kinasewich fourth with 54.

Victoria's Colin Kilburn, knocked out of the top ranks last week, climbed into a tie with Val Fonteyne of Seattle and Norm Johnston of Brandon by picking up an assist in Monday's rout of New Westminster at Memorial Arena. Each has 40 points.

And Wayne Brown, thanks to a four-point effort Monday night, is right behind with 39 points.

Fielder's 54 assists are by far the best in the league, while Maloney, Kinasewich and Sid Finney of Calgary lead in goals with 27 each.

Ken Squares Net Series With Pancho

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP)—Australian Ken Rosewall squared his professional tennis series with Pancho Gonzales at one each with a straight-set victory, 7-5, 6-4, 14-12, at Kooyong courts Tuesday night.

A crowd of 6,500 saw Rosewall lob, volley and smash his way to victory.

He was helped by the fact that Gonzales' famed cannon ball service was not at its best.

The world professional champion from Los Angeles double-faulted eight time during the match, and Rosewall was able to return his service with increasing confidence.

Gonzales, who won their first match Monday in five sets, was not dismayed by his defeat.

"Ken will have to do a lot better to stay with me on this 100-match tour," he said. "I didn't play my best tonight and Ken was a lot stronger than in the first match.

Dodger Home Passes

BROOKLYN (AP)—Ebbets Field, home of the Brooklyn Dodgers, formally passed into the hands of Marvin Kratter, New York realtor, Tuesday—but the Dodgers are not moving out, at least not now.

One of the terms of the sale of the park, which was made last October, was that the Brooklyn club would remain a tenant for the next three years.

Brook Payroll Climbs To Half-Million Mark

BROOKLYN (AP)—It costs money to win pennants and the Brooklyn Dodgers' player payroll reportedly is approaching the $500,000 mark for 1957.

Although E. J. Buzzie Bavasi, vice-president of the club, has been able to hold the salary line with many of his veterans there have been increases to men who showed great improvement last year.

Arthur Patterson, assistant to the general manager, relays the information from Bavasi that the 1955 payroll was "around $470,000." Despite the retirement of Jackie Robinson and his $33,000 salary, the trend is upward.

Half the club already is in the fold.

Top man on the list is Duke Snider, slugging centre fielder, who salary has been estimated at $42,000. Don Newcombe at $30,000 reportedly is the highest priced Dodger pitcher in history.

The Dodgers' payroll is believed to be the highest in the National League. The New York Yankees of the American League reportedly are close to the $500,000 figure, depending on future negotiations with some players.

WHAT'S THE SCORE?

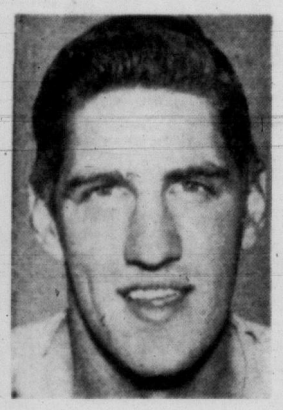
For the life of me, I can't imagine Jack Bionda risking a promising and financially rewarding National Hockey League career for another bash at lacrosse with the Victoria Shamrocks.

Lynn Patrick, Bionda's hockey patron in Boston, told me that if it was anyone but Bionda and any team but the Shamrocks, he would put a flat veto on Bionda's summer-time activities.

However, Lynn said that he realized how much Bionda meant to lacrosse (and vice versa) and that he still feels some loyalty to the city of Victoria. For that reason, he is going to leave the question of off-season participation in lacrosse squarely up to Bionda himself.



BIONDA

But, if I were you, Mr. and Mrs. Lacrosse Fan, I wouldn't get my hopes up too high.

But even if he does leave lacrosse, Bionda's name will be perpetuated in the game in a manner usually reserved for baseball players.

Colin Chisholm of Mille Roche, Quebec, who turns out most of the lacrosse sticks used in Canada, is putting a new number on the market this year, called the "Bionda Special." It's probably the first time in the history of the game that any player has had a stick named after him.

Jack, incidentally, captained the Streetville Thistles last season in the Ontario Intermediate League. The club dropped only two games all season and Bionda won the scoring title with 121 points.

Victoria Cougars are often unjustly accused by prairie teams of playing kitty-bar-the-door hockey. But Johnny Hopkins, the Calgary Herald scribe, quotes Edmonton Flyers' coach Bud Poile as musing aloud, "I wonder where the Stampeders got that new play—the one where everyone lies down in front of the goal? My guys were going around on tip-toes for fear of stepping on someone."

A Welcome Touch of Class

The professional athlete wears his vocation around his neck like a millstone, for all the world to see.

For some, it is a badge of shame. They violate the trust put in them by the public. They live the low life and exploit their momentary fame. They perform an athletic function for pay and thumb their nose at the world in action and attitude. They are the athletic bums.

But others accept professionalism as a trust to be honored and guarded. They entertain the public, serve the community and surround their sport with an aura of respectability.

It is a pleasure to report that Victoria Cougars fit deservedly into the latter category, and to give the following evidence in their favor:

Item—This Sunday, at the Centennial United Church, a party of 26 Cougar players, wives and team officials will attend the services. Coach Colin Kilburn will read the lesson with Rev. Douglas Carr.

Item—Kilburn, a charter member of the grey flannel suit club, gave three different speeches last week. He spoke before the Victoria High School grade 10 class on Citizenship, gave an address to the Victoria Y's Men's Club on the benefits of sport and spoke before the team shareholders.

Earlier in the season, he held Vic High's senior class enthralled with his topic, Why I Am Proud to Be a Canadian.

No matter what the team achieves on the ice this year, Kilburn and his players have set a high standard of comportment and citizenship for subsequent teams to follow.

Things Quiet Again at VCC

With one of its most hectic weeks of the season over, one which embraced the Scottish visit, the final eliminations for the Vancouver Island Consols, and the Island Consols finals themselves at Duncan over the weekend, Victoria Curling Club can settle down now for a few days of rest and retrospect.

The visit of the Scots last Wednesday was the biggest item. With George Tucker, Dr. Kirby Moysey, Ernie Gordon, Max Zabel and manager Fred Madden leading the hospitality, the visitors from the Old Country were made to feel at home, even while on the ice, during their short stay here.

Many are the arguments that have raged since then about the relative skills of the Scots. Many of the local curlers feel that the Scottish team was below par, even taking in consideration the "duller" ice, overdone conviviality and split-minute schedule under which they were laboring.

The truth is, the 26 Scots that made the trip are far from the best in Scotland. Many of the best curlers could not afford to leave their businesses or jobs, and those who were sent can only be called mediocre by Canadian standards.

The fact that the average Scottish curler does very little curling because of lack of facilities has much to do with it.

But the game was the thing with the Dominion Curling Association and the host clubs, even though the DCA did aggravate things with a short-sighted schedule, and the Scottish visit can be classed as well worth while.

VCC itself will lose a small amount on the visit. The financial loss, however, will be worth while, when the interest generated by the event in Victoria is tallied up against the actual cost.

Another era, so to speak, came to an end Sunday when Tony Gutoski's and VCC's domination of the Island zone playoffs were terminated by the strutting hands of Duncan's Tony Folk.

Folk will be a worthy representative of the Island, and could even carry the Zone 1 banner right through to Kingston.

For Gutoski, it is next year and, perhaps, a new Consols rink.

Next big event for club rinks to gird for is the Vancouver Island championship, to be held at VCC March 30-31. As in the Zone Consols, two rinks from Victoria, Duncan, Nanaimo and Port Alberni will compete in the round-robin series.

VCC eliminations for the two representatives will probably begin on the first or second Saturday in February and continue each Saturday from then on.

And while Tony Gutoski or Wes Young didn't get their Consols trip to Nelson for the B.C. Bonspiel, club president Kirby Moysey will be going along with a rink to give the club due representation.

For those curlers now who missed out on the first Shorty Spiel at the Club, it has been announced that the second spiel, Feb. 2, has also been oversubscribed. Entries are being taken for the third one now.

'Golden Boy' Aragon Slightly Tarnished

Doug Peden
OUTDOOR REPORT

Another duck-shooting season comes to an end at a half-hour after sunset tonight, leaving black brant as our only legal targets.

Compared with most previous seasons, duck hunting has been on the poor side. Bluebird weather through the greater part of the season can take a large share of the credit for the predominance of poor bags, but the fact remains that we may never again have what we could call a good season on the southern portion of Vancouver Island.

When the weather kicked up a fuss this winter, there was good shooting to be had, proving that there were a fair number of ducks around. On calm days, good hunting was an exception unless you had access to posted property or were able to get well off the beaten track.

Tired of collecting only large helpings of fresh air on evening trips after ducks, several have asked what can be done to obtain better hunting next season. I don't know. If I did, I would have fired more shots during the past couple of months.

We are watching the old struggle of game against civilization. And, in the limited duck-shooting areas near Victoria, there is no reason to expect the birds to even hold their own.

It appears only a matter of time until Central Saanich and other nearby areas are closed to shooting and we have no large marshes or tidal flats that will give consistent duck shooting to the growing hunting clan.

We may see an increase in punt shooting and many sportsmen will undoubtedly concentrate their shooting into holiday trips to the B.C. Interior and the Prairies. Construction of a road into Tofino will give hunters better access to the huge flats there, but will not help the gunner who likes to take his duck shooting in afternoon outings.

The time when we could count on firing a few shots during a quick evening trip appears almost ended for the average hunter.

As was expected, the extra season on deer and elk in a small section near Penticton has proved a disappointment for outside hunters.

Because of crop damage, a season from Dec. 28 through January was granted on deer and elk of any sex in a two-miles-by-12-miles part of the Naramata district northeast of Penticton.

Hunting pressure has been heavy and because of the small area most of the animals have been driven back, and visiting hunters were mostly beaten to the punch by residents who were right on the spot when shooting opened.

In the first 11 days, only 14 deer and four elk were downed and it appears doubtful that the number will even be doubled before the special season ends.

Fresh-water fishermen may soon be running into signs now being posted by the B.C. Game Commission. The signs ask anglers taking a marked fish to make a report of the catch and to submit scale samples.

The reports will help the commission assess the results of fish plantings.

Some of the steelhead fingerlings planted may be returning this winter to the Sooke River. The steelhead will have one or both of the ventral fins (under the belly) missing. Trout planted in lakes will have the adipose fin (on back in front of the tail) clipped.

Recent plantings of cutthroat trout fingerlings from the Puntledge Park Hatchery near Courtenay include Kemp Lake, 2,750; Thetis Lake, 6,600; and Shawnigan Lake, 24,145.

Suggestions for making reports of marked fish may be found on page 30 of the 1956 sport-fishing regulations pamphlet.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Third-ranking welterweight Art Aragon is again up to his scarred eyebrows in trouble and publicity—and this time he isn't laughing it off.

Conspicuously missing was his usual jaunty manner when he surrendered Tuesday on a county grand jury felony indictment charging that he offered boxer Dick Goldstein $500 to throw a fight.

"I welcome this opportunity to present my side of this story," the sober-faced Aragon told newspaper men.

Booked on a charge of corrupt sporting practices, Aragon, the former "Golden Boy," faces arraignment February 7.

CALLED OFF BOUT

Goldstein, an unranked welterweight, charged that Aragon offered him the money to take a fourth-round dive in a scheduled 10-rounder December 18 in San Antonio, Texas.

Aragon bowed out of the bout, blaming illness.

"This hits me right where it hurts — in the pocketbook," said Aragon. "I had a bout lined up for January 29 at the Legion Stadium with Chico Vejar and another next month with Kid Gavilan.

"Sure, they're definitely off," he added. "Even if the commission would let me fight, I couldn't—not with this hanging over my head."

This is Aragon's second brush with fight-fixing charges. Tommy Campbell, one-time lightweight, told a special governor's commission investigating boxing in California last spring that he "lost on purpose" to Aragon in 1950.

Aragon testified in his own defence then and, between sobs, convinced the commissioners that he was not involved.

"The punch I hit him with would have knocked out anyone," he said at the time.

Capitals climbed within two points of the pace-setting Senators in the Greater Victoria Minor Hockey Association peewee division Tuesday.

Capitals handed the league leaders their second defeat of the season at Memorial Arena, tripping Senators, 5-2, on the strength of three goals by Mike Woodley and two by Warren Lowe.

Regina Curlers Stagger Scotties

REGINA (CP)—A contingent of 26 Scottish curlers saw their hopes of a comeback further stalled Tuesday by five rinks from the southern Saskatchewan area. The Canadians forged ahead 550-299 in points in Strathcona Cup competition following four wins in five games here.

A crowd of 1,000 cheered the visitors lustily throughout.

The Scots will play a second set of cup matches here tonight before moving to Winnipeg for games there Thursday.

ACCORDING TO MINNIE, SOX LIVE IN THE PAST

CHICAGO (AP) — Outfielder Minnie Minoso, the club's leading hitter last season, is playing his perennial holdout game with Chicago White Sox.

From Havana, Cuba, Tuesday came Minoso's unsigned contract accompanied by a note which chided an offer of $32,000, the same salary he got last season.

Minoso, who batted .316, drove across 88 runs and hit 21 home runs last season, wrote:

"It looks like this contract was intended for the Minoso of 1953 or 1954, not the one who had such a fine season in 1956. Please send corrected contract."

Fund Drive Aimed At Joe's Tax Debt

CHICAGO (AP) — A three-week fund drive to help former heavy-weight champion Joe Louis settle his vast income tax debt was announced Tuesday.

Although Louis is some $1,250,000 in arrears in income taxes, a fund board of directors —with former heavyweight champion Jack Dempsey as honorary chairman—expressed hope that some "reasonable" settlement could be made with the government.

The fund has been chartered as a non-profit organization by two Norfolk, Neb., businessmen, who never saw Louis fight in person, but conceived the fund last October because they "always were for the underdog."

It was believed the government might settle for around 25 or 30 cents for every dollar Louis owes.

The campaign will include solicitation through personal, press, radio and TV appeals.

Louis' attorney, Aaron Payne, told press and radio-TV representatives at a "kickoff" luncheon that all previous efforts by Louis to affect a tax settlement collapsed because the erstwhile Brown Bomber simply can't get the money needed, no matter how much time given him.

The interest rate on Joe's back taxes currently amounts to $278 per day, Payne said.

Payne said Louis' income now is $20,000 annually from the International Boxing Club for public relations work and $100 "take home" a week from a Chicago milk firm in which he has an interest.

Campy, Erskine Take Pay Cuts

BROOKLYN (AP) — Roy Campanella and Carl Erskine, two veteran Brooklyn Dodgers took salary cuts this week when they came to terms for next season.

Although club officials released no financial details, it was reported that Campanella was sliced from $42,000 to $37,500, and Erskine from $25,000 to $22,000.

Squash Club to Host Pacific Coast Tourney

Squash racquets, growing steadily in popularity in Victoria during the past few seasons, blossoms into full flower this weekend.

More than 100 racquet-swingers will invade the city for the annual Pacific Coast championships, which are being hosted for the first time by the Victoria City Squash Racquets Club.

Matches in the three-day tourney start Friday and will be played at both the Victoria club's Sussex Hotel courts and at the Navy courts at HMCS Naden.

All "A" division games and Sunday's finals will be scheduled at the host club.

In addition to those from the Victoria area, entries have been received from Vancouver, Seattle, Portland, Los Angeles and San Francisco. Largest entry will come from Seattle, where 30 players have chartered a plane for their invasion of Victoria.

Included in the entrants are defending champion Gene Hoover, former Seattleite now residing in Vancouver; Ted Clarke of Seattle, who was upset by Hoover in last year's "A" class final, and Greg Stout, president-elect of the Pacific Coast Squash Association.

Tigers Sign Finigan

DETROIT (AP)—Third baseman Jim Finigan Tuesday signed his 1957 contract with the Detroit Tigers, who obtained him from Kansas City in the biggest player deal of the winter.

The 28-year-old infielder played second base for Kansas City last season, but the Tigers are counting on him for third base action.

In city police court Tuesday:

Parks Group Planning New Playgrounds

City council parks committee plans development of a new playground on Oswald near Cedar Hill Road and two new baseball diamonds at Macdonald Park and Beacon Hill Park this year.

The committee will also consider providing additional washroom facilities in a building to be provided by Victoria Junior Chamber of Commerce at Little League Park on Hillside.

The program was outlined at a meeting of the committee on Monday. Discussions were highlighted by the statement of Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow that outside municipalities should be asked to share in new projects undertaken to benefit Little League baseball.

"It is another example of the city paying the shot and all the municipalities profiting. We should ask the outside municipalities to pay a share of the cost," he stated.

The committee will ask city council to ratify a proposal made by the retiring council that a rental of $250 a year paid for use of Beacon Hill cricket pitch be waived to permit Victoria Cricket Association to spend its funds instead on repairs to the dressing room.

AT THE WHEEL with Hans Gruber

Hans Gruber

By HANS GRUBER

The days when the small British car was of but limited usefulness under North American driving conditions are today far behind us. On the contrary; in the matter of adaptability to the widely varied types of motoring the typical driver on this Continent encounters in a year's driving, the modern British car may well be actually more universally useful than our own present-day American car, which is becoming year by year more strictly an open-road distance car, owing to its size and its engine characteristics—and even more strictly a smooth pavement car, for American road-clearances are becoming dangerously inadequate for off-the-beaten-track driving.

High horse-power ratings (which, incidentally, are as often as not conjured up in the advertising offices rather than in the engineering departments) are purely and simply rough guides to a car's out-and-out top speed, which is, or certainly should be, of purely academic interest to the average driver. Besides, it is no use losing sight of this Continent's almost prevalent speed-limit of 50 m.p.h—60 in some isolated territories—and there is no British car made today, begining with the Morris Minor and the Austin A-35, which will not cruise safely, effortlessly and indefinitely at these speeds.

It may further amaze you to learn that, within our legal speed-limits, the British four-cylinder sedan is by no means as out-classed by our American V-8's in respect to actual road-performance as cold paper-figures of horse-power, number of cyinders, cubic-inch displacement, etc., might lead one to believe. There are indisputable facts to support the truth of this seemingly amazing statement.

SOME EXAMPLES

Here are some of them: Engine torque, far more relevant to a car's performance than engine horse-power. British engines, as a group, develop their maximum torque, or engine-thrust, WITHIN our legal speed limits. American V-8 engines do not, as a group, develop the maximum thrust until they have reached that number of engine-revolutions which would correspond to road speeds well in excess of legal maxima.

What this means in practice is simply that you, behind the wheel of a British four-cylinder sedan, will have no trouble keeping up with American V-8 traffic up to and including reasonable and permissible speeds, and you will be doing it measurably more cheaply in terms of fuel consumption.

Then there is the matter of power-to-weight ratio, which term is largely self-explanatory to the layman. It is obvious that a lighter and smaller car needs less power for a given level of performance than a large and heavy car.

What about the over-all comfort of the relatively small imported car? A car's comfort is determined by many different things. Levelness of ride, absence of mechanical fussiness such as noise and vibration, road-holding, ease and precision of steering, adequate interior roominess, the shape and padding of the seats, absence of squeaks and rattles, to name some of the more obvious and important ones.

In all these characteristics (or the absence thereof, as the case may be), the smallest of the imported cars rates high. The British four-cylinder engine has become a beautfiully balanced, silky and unobtrusive unit. English cars are all at least ample four-seaters, and some of them adequate full six-seaters, unless your passengers are more obese than they ought to be, with luggage accommodation to match.

UNIT CONSTRUCTION

All the best-known of the popular-priced British cars enjoy the clear superiorities of unit-construction — chassis and body combined in a single, welded unit; in a Hillman, an Austin, a Consul or a Zephyr, a Morris, a Jaguar "2.4" (but not in a Mark VII), a Vauxhall, a Vanguard or a Standard (but not in a Rolls-Royce!), you will enjoy a rattle-and-squeak-free ride far longer than you will in any American car save the Nashes, Hudsons and Ramblers, which, alone among the Americans, are built upon the unit-construction principle.

Yes, there are today justifications other than purely economic ones for buying a British car. But even in the matter of economy, there is one perhaps less obvious advantage than the well-known lower purchase price and running costs.

There is this matter of depreciation. The appearance and design of British cars tend to remain constant for several years at a time, without becoming outmoded. British manufacturers do not induce artificial depreciation and obsolescence every eight months or so. Can you tell the difference between, let us say, a 1950 or a 1955 Morris Minor?—or between a 1955 or 1956 Austin?—or between the 1951 Zephyrs, Vanguards and Hillmans as against their 1956 counterparts? I can't. As one foreign advertiser pointedly and not untruthfully put it: "With car X, you are always driving next year's model!"

British cars are also notoriously free from "bugs" when a completely new model is introduced, no doubt due to the length of time taken to develop it. And once brought out, the same basic design undergoes its own detailed development and improvement, and the result is a product of utmost reliability.

It is in the interest of the entire free world, including the American car manufacturer, to have the British car industry, and the productive potential it represents, kept strongly alive.

Bringing Up Baby

HINTS COLLECTED BY Mrs Dan Gerber (MOTHER OF 5)

Expecting? If you're on the threshold of this exciting experience you may find these tips helpful:

- Beauty sleep. At least 8 hours to keep you fit. Any naps you can sneak in are all to the good.
- "Dress rehearsal." Clothing should be non-restricting, preferably hung from shoulders. Shoes should fit well, have reasonable heels, closed heel and toe.
- Daily dozens. Daily walks outdoors help tone muscles, relax the mind.

Once baby arrives it will be almost no time at all before your doctor may suggest solid food, probably cereal at first. That's when you'll find the five Gerber Cereals most helpful. Rice, Barley, Oatmeal, Wheat and Mixed Cereal—so baby can have plentiful variety. Besides providing baby with energy-giving calories, the Gerber Cereals are enriched with iron, calcium and B-vitamins for extra nutritive value. Thoroughly pre-cooked and ready to serve. When mixed with formula or milk, the texture is smooth to the tongue and easy to swallow.

Nipple notation. If your bundle of joy is bottle-fed, be sure to select firm nipples. The development of baby's jaw and mouth muscles is dependent upon the sucking exercise he gets . . . the firmer the nipple the better the exercise. When nipples become softened or swollen from repeated boiling, discard them.

* * *

Nutrition notation. Sound gums, good teeth and healthy body tissues are dependent upon adequate amounts of vitamin C. When orange juice is added to baby's menu you'll find Gerber Strained Orange Juice an ideal way to give baby this important vitamin. Made from tree-ripened oranges, selected for mild flavor and uniformly high vitamin-C content, Gerber Orange Juice has practically no peel oil for easy digestibility. ISLAND DIGEST

Brentwood Man Gets Hydro Post

BRENTWOOD — George D. Moody, plant superintendent at the B.C. Electric steam generating plant here, has been named supervisor of the company's Jordan River hydro operation.

He succeeds Lewis F. Fatt, who died Dec. 31.

Mr. Moody, who will take over his new post this week, joined the staff of the Brentwood plant in 1943 after a career as a marine and turbine engineer in eastern Canada.

He has served as Central Saanich police commissioner and has been active in Central Saanich Chamber of Commerce.

Cowichan Critic Trouble-Maker Says Minister in Hospital Fight

Health Minister Eric Martin today rejected a charge of "playing politics" in the Duncan-Lake Cowichan hospital issue.

"I never play politics in the field of health and welfare and most people know it," said Mr. Martin replying to a statement made Tuesday by Joseph A. Reilly, a member of the Cowichan Lake hospital board.

Mr. Reilly took issue with Mr. Martin over his reported statement that a new hospital must be built at Duncan before one at Lake Cowichan could be considered.

Said Mr. Martin today:

"Mr. Reilly should make sure of his facts before he accuses me of playing politics. What I actually said was this:

"We are at present adhering to the findings of the hospital insurance survey which stated that the hospital situation at Duncan should be cleared up before consideration is given to Lake Cowichan's application for a grant-in-aid for construction purposes.'

"Mr. Reilly knows very well I am not playing politics. He is just trying to make trouble."

Lake Cowichan and district have collected by volunteer public subscrption enough money to pay its share of a 42-bed hospital. But Duncan so far has failed to get support for a 165-bed hospital to serve Duncan, Lake Cowichan and part of North Cowichan.

$5.2 Million New Construction In Port Alberni During 1956

PORT ALBERNI (CP)—Residential construction accounted for $1,283,640 for a total of $5,244,190 in building permits issued during 1956, building inspector William Fraser told council this week.

The $3,301,000 figure for industrial construction was made up of a pulp mill addition progress permit, two bunkhouses, and an addition to a power house.

The total for 1956 was $600,000 higher than that for 1955.

CIVIC CENTRE

Ald. William Goddard, who during the recent municipal election campaign advocated action toward building a civic centre here, has asked council to set aside land for the proposed project.

He mentioned a site north of Wallace Street in the vicinity of the 10th Avenue Park, which had been recommended by Mr. Fraser. He was asked by Mayor Loran Jordon to bring in an estimate of the extent of land required.

A snow storm here last week caught city work crews "asleep at the switch," Mayor Jordon told the council.

He made the statement while council considered a flood of complaints about delays in clearing the snow from streets.

E & N Mineral Rights Should Be Denied—Jordon

PORT ALBERNI (CP) — Mayor Loran Jordan said Tuesday the Esquimalt and Nanaimo Railway should not retain mineral rights on property in the city if it is allowed to discontinue rail passenger service between Parksville and Port Alberni.

He said city council should petition the provincial government to deny the mineral rights granted by charter to the railway when it was first established.

World Log Birling Championship Set for Sooke

By DON INGHAM

World's championship "Roleo," top contest of the season for log birlers, will be held this year at Sooke in connection with the annual All-Sooke Day loggers' sports on Sooke River flats.

Sooke Community Association has guaranteed to provide $3,000 prize money for the roleo, highest total ever offered by a prospective sponsor. Officers and directors chose Sooke over Priest River, Idaho, which staged the roleo in 1954.

The event this year will be the first ever held in Canada.

Jubiel Wickheim, current champion, said today at his home in Sooke he was not surprised that the Sooke bid had been accepted.

"At the 1956 Roleo in Rockford, Ill., all the competitors said they would like to come to Sooke," he said. "It would be good publicity for Sooke, and will probably bring more birlers than have appeared in previous matches."

"The site on Sooke River is as good as any I have seen, and our community effort is the best," he said.

The young champion has a sand and gravel hauling business, and birls logs purely for relaxation and enjoyment.

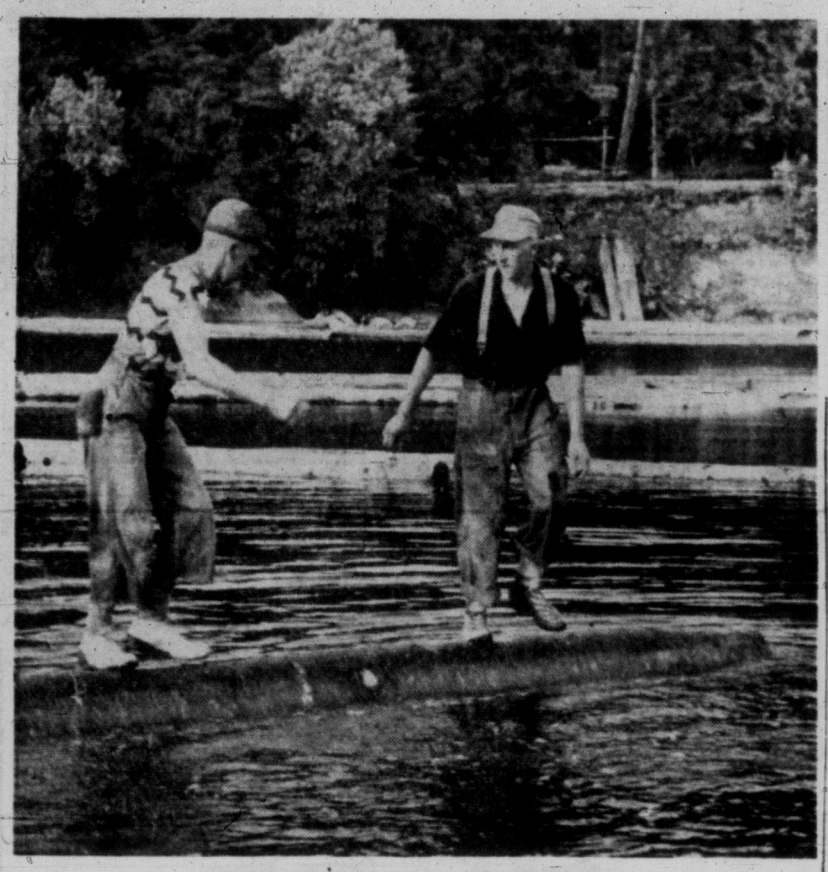
He and his brother, Ardiel, also a top-flight birler, first competed in a national contest at Priest River in 1954, when they finished fourth and fifth.

In 1955, at Spokane, Ardiel won the title of world champion, which he lost to Jubiel last year.

George Pimlott, secretary of Sooke Community Association, sponsors of All-Sooke Day, said association directors are pleased to have the match, but are worried about financing.

"Six months ago when we made our bid for the show we felt pretty good about $3,000," he said. "But the floods on the river in December washed out our grandstands and picnic tables, and they will all have to be replaced. It will take a lot of cash and labor to rebuild."

Eric Butler, president of the association, is at the B.C. Truck Loggers' Association convention in Vancouver, and has promised to tell the members of the forthcoming Sooke event.



FIRST IN CANADA

Jubiel Wickheim, left, of Sooke, world birling champ, and his brother, Adriel, 1955 titleholder, will compete in world championship during All-Sooke Day this summer. Match will be first world championship held in Canada.

VICTORIA, B.C., WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 16, 1957

BETWEEN TIMES By Judy Boots Streak

Well I must say it is a pretty kettle of kippers when a female-type little doggie has to write her own column wishing herself many happy returns of the day and it was yesterday at that but that is what has happened.

Yesterday was my third birthday a very important birthday in any dog's life but did the Old Man at whose house I live do anything about it did he write great reams in praise of my intelligence charm wi beauty gentleness and intuition he did not.

He curled up at the back of his kennel and felt sorry for himself, that is all he did.

You see it is this way the Old Man says he is down with virus influenza or galloping pneumonia or what is the latest name for code in the doze?

But I say the Old Man is suffering from three "S" disease—sniffle, sneeze, snarl.

And mostly snarl why the Old Man even on my birthday which was yesterday the Old Man had the temerity to snarl at me just because my pal Blondie the German Shepherd and Ragmop the you-name-it and I were playing Texas wrestling under the Old Man's bedroom window and the Old Man said he wanted to sleep would we kindly go away somewhere a fine way to talk to my guests I must say.

So you can see I didn't have a very happy birthday which it was yesterday oh yes the Old Man said when he got better he would buy me a pretty new collar for my birthday so who wants a collar.

It was indeed a pity because this was a very important birthday indeed it was my third birthday which means I have come of age you know how it is we doggies are much faster than you people so we live seven years in one so yesterday I was 21 and now I can stay out late nights and vote and stay out late nights only I would rather sleep in.

But it will be good indeed to vote and I am watching with great interest the federal election which everybody says is coming next summer and I am warning the candidates they had better have some planks in their platform appealing to the canine vote because I am going to be very active now that I have the vote.

And another reason my birthday yesterday was a very important birthday it is the last one I am ever going to have I am a female-type doggie and we female-types know when to call a halt to birthdays.

But anyway thanks for all the letters and cards which I know you would have sent if you had known it was my birthday and happy birthday to me.

Native Sons Fight Park Tea Room Plan

Victoria Post No. 1, Native Sons of British Columbia is protesting a city council parks committee move to open Beacon Hill Park to commercial enterprise.

The committee Monday asked council to approach the Attorney General's office for full explanation of what may be undertaken in the park under the terms of the deed of trust the city holds from the provincial government.

The belief in the past was that no commercial venture could be undertaken. Ald. E. D. McEwen, however, told the committee he had been advised by government authorities, the city could do as it wished, provided it did not infringe on other's rights.

TEA ROOM

Initial prospect is a tea room and eventually it is hoped the park will earn enough money to slash cost of its maintenance to taxpayers.

"We are alarmed by these repeated attempts of the Parks Board over the last few years to defeat the purpose for which this park was dedicated," wrote post secretary, R. H. Hiscocks, to city council.

"We contend that the granting of one single concession will set a precedent for further concessions and thereby spoil the park.

"You may rest assured that if this policy is pursued, the strongest opposition will be forthcoming from ourselves and many like-minded organizations as well as citizens of Victoria."

City, Saanich Receptive To Zoo Plan

Alderman to Visit Keeper at Alberni

Civic officials of both Victoria and Saanich said today they would look forward to the establishment of a zoo here by Paul Hertel, who has a wild life zoo in Alberni.

Mayor Percy Scurrah said he would like to see such a project at Thetis Lake Park, and Reeve Arthur Ash of Saanich said Mr. Hertel would be given "every consideration" if he started looking for a site in Saanich.

The German-born zookeeper said Tuesday he would like to move to Victoria, and could be ready to operate by May if he found the right site. He considers his zoo would be a great tourist attraction, and that the greater potential audience here would make possible a larger establishment than his present zoo at Alberni.

Mayor Scurrah said Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow might visit Mr. Hertel in Alberni and invite him to investigate the Thetis Lake site, but he said any decisions on use of the property would be made by city council.

RECEPTIVE

"I think Saanich would be highly receptive to anyone trying to establish this kind of thing" said Reeve Ash, "and I think our council would listen to any reasonable plan or scheme."

As a possible site, Reeve Ash suggested the McRae estate in Cedar Hill, with 134 acres. It had been previously recommended by council to the Capital District Improvement Association that the site be taken over as a provincial park.

He cited an address by Rt. Hon. Vincent Massey to the 10th annual Community Planning Association of Canada convention, when he said "a zoological garden is a normal piece of education equipment."

FROLICKING OTTER WATCHED AT GORGE

A family of otters, spotted periodically in the Gorge, bounced into view again today near the foot of Colquitz. Martin Kenny, 19, said they appeared to be scaring the ducks and running the beach as well as cavorting in the water. He said they appeared to be as large as small dogs.

Robber Trying Full Restitution

LISTENING ATTENTIVELY to the adventures of Alexander Szucs, a former corporal in the French Foreign Legion, are Mr. and Mrs. G. Gombos, both teachers from Budapest. In addition to fighting in Indo-China and Africa, Szucs fought in the Second World War.—(Times photo)

Sentence Delayed

Sentencing of confessed bank robber Leonard Wilson was put off in city police court today until Monday.

Counsel James Proudfoot asked for the remand so that Wilson, 29-year-old laborer from Duncan, can attempt to pay back all of the $1,340 he took from a teller at the Douglas Street branch of the Royal Bank of Canada Jan. 7.

$850 LOCATED

About $850 was found in Wilson's possession when he was taken into custody in Seattle the day following the holdup, and Mr. Proudfoot said complete restitution would be attempted.

A character witness called today by Mr. Proudfoot, David Martell, was not in court. Counsel said driving conditions up-Island may have prevented him from reaching Victoria.

ACCUSED SILENT

Wilson, wearing an open-necked shirt, stood in the prisoner's dock during today's brief hearing and said nothing.

Valeria Jessiman, 18-year-old Duncan girl who was arrested and charged with him in Seattle, was not present in the courtroom.

NAVAL SHIP MOVEMENTS

Ontario, Jonquiere, Stettler on training cruise, return May 3.

Comox, Fortune, James Bay on exercises off California coast, returning Feb. 7.

Cayuga and Athabaskan on exercises, returning Jan. 18.

Many Professions Among Refugees

A former soldier in the French Foreign Legion, an owner of a shoe factory, a newspaper man who spent six years in a concentration camp and school teachers are among a contingent of 81 Hungarian refugees who arrived in Victoria Tuesday.

The refugees, largest group to come here, will be housed at the Immigration Building until homes can be found to take care of them.

They are showing signs of strain and fatigue after their 6,000-mile journey from their Russia oppressed homeland.

So tired were they on arrival here the majority were asleep by 7 o'clock, four hours after disembarking from the CPR boat from Vancouver. They traveled from eastern Canada by train.

SICK OF TRAVEL

The journey was summed up by Janos Sikesoti, a driver by trade, as he ate his supper.

"I'm sick of being sea-sick, sick of travel," he said.

A few minutes later his head fell on the table. He was fast asleep.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Gombos, both school teachers, said they have been on the move since Nov. 3.

CHILD SICK

The quiet and pleasant young couple have one two-year-old child, Julie, who was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital today with minor throat infection.

The contingent is composed of a number of professional, businessmen and highly-skilled technicians and tradesmen who immigration officials believe will be a great asset to British Columbia.

The most colorful personality is Alexander Szucs, a solider of fortune who has served seven years with the French Foreign Legion in Indo-China and Africa.

Alexander, who is in his thirties, returned to Hungary after fighting with the Legion against the rebels in Indo-China. He took part in the battle of Budapest and escaped into Austria after the revolution failed.

"The Legion is a fine army," he said. "I enjoyed my army service, though at times I must admit it was pretty tough."

He was a corporal in the Legion and can speak fluent French as well as three other foreign languages.

An estate valued at $80,213 was left to be equally divided between the wife and three sons of the late Col. Cyrus Peck, VC, who died in Rest Haven Hospital, Sidney, Sept. 27, aged 85.

The will was probated in court here.

Beneficiaries are Mrs. Kate Peck, Sidney, and sons Edward, Victoria; Horace, Vancouver, and Douglas, Port Alberni.

Magistrate A. I. Thomas also ordered his driver's licence suspended for three months.

Arendell was arrested on the Malahat, January 10.

LETTERS TO DRIVERS

(In this column the Times presents letters from and to drivers about careless, discourteous or reckless infractions of driving and pedestrian rules. When you see one, just send in the place, date and time, and what happened. DON'T give the number of the offending vehicle. Only initials of complainants will be used.)

TODAY'S BEEFS

At 5 p.m. Tuesday a black Ford sedan turned out of Courtney onto Quadra, travelling on the wrong side of the road and swerved sharply to avoid colliding with an on-coming Chevrolet. The driver of the Ford was so little disturbed by his narrow escape that he opened his throttle and roared down Quadra at a good 40 miles an hour.—J.P.M.

On Saturday evening, Dec. 15, I was crossing Cook Street at Fairfield in a pedestrian crossing. I saw a car coming at a good speed, about 45 miles an hour. He had to cross a newly painted pedestrian crossing before he reached me and naturally I thought he would stop at that. I hurried across and was three-quarters of the way over when I saw he had no intention of stopping. Just as he was upon me I leaped for my life.—Mrs. S.B.

Last Friday morning, about 8, I was approaching the intersection of Fort Street, proceeding north on Cook. The light, I noticed from a distance of about six car lengths from the crosswalk, was red for Cook Street traffic and amber for traffic crossing on Fort. By the time I reached the crosswalk my signal was green, but simultaneously to my reaching the crosswalk (fortunately I had slowed almost to a stop because of a car in line ahead of me), a cab entered the intersection from the east on Fort and proceeded through at a speed of more than 20 miles an hour.—A.B.N.

Animals, Mother Goose stories, ABC's and bedtime stories that all youngsters love, come in two sizes. Some are six for 97 cents, and others are four for 97 cents. A little bundle of these books would make a good gift for a niece or nephew when birthday time comes around.

English china teardrop-shaped dishes are patterned with modern, pen-and-ink patterns. The novel part of the ashtray-size dishes is that they're really candle holders. Small Swedish candles fit into the round troughs, giving the perfect touch for your dinner table or refreshment tray. These are $3.25 a pair. Similar ones, round, on three tiny legs, are $2.50 a pair.

"ARE YOU IN IT?"

"In what?"

"The $50,000 'Know Canada' contest in the Star Weekly."

"My family was talking about that last night—you know there's a $10,000 first prize."

"That's a lot of money—makes me think of a nice long fishing trip."

"Bill, I think we should get together and win this contest. With 1,968 prizes to shoot at we might get that fishing trip after all."

The authority for this statement is a 70-year-old Sydney man, Leslie Guard, who has just retired after 49 years as a woman's tailor. Guard thinks women have much better figures than they did 50 years ago, but "there are still some very odd shapes among them." In his tailoring lifetime Guard made clothes for the Duchess of Gloucester and many other well-known women.

Thousands of Visits Made During the Year by VON

Nurses with the Victorian Order of Nurses branch in this city made 23,518 visits during the year 1956, it was reported at meeting of the board of directors by district director of nurses, Miss E. Riddell.

In the last month of the year 1,711 visits were made, Miss Riddell said. Her report also showed that through continued co-operation with the Silver Threads Service, the social welfare is providing more adequate housekeeping service for some VON patients.

The nurses conducted three classes — one on community health services and two on VON pre-natal services — for the St. Joseph's Hospital School of Nursing.

President H. Webster announced that annual meeting of the board will be held in Spencerhouse on Feb. 14. Mrs. G. Simons, VON annual rummage sale convener, announced that it would be held in early March in the Public Market and that anyone requiring rummage to be picked up may telephone 3-9013.

Other reports were given by Mrs. Dudley Markham, nominations committee; L. deS Duke, motors; Miss Ruby Simpson, nurses' advisory; Mrs. D. Lawson, Local Council of Women; Mrs. A. T. Girls! You've Got 'Beautiful Mechanical Men'

MONTREAL (CP) — Blame the de-humanized male for much of today's marital problems.

Dr. Aaron L. Rutledge, a Detroit marriage counsellor said Monday many a modern husband has been turned into a "great big brave mechanical human being."

"Somewhere along the line, our culture set about de-humanizing the male," he said in an interview here. "Many now grow up afraid to show tenderness and emotion."

The remedy? "We try, by personal counsel, to help each individual understand himself and understand his mate. Then we try to help them understand their married relationship."

Studio Club

She's 90, But Public Affairs Vital To Former Woman Cabinet Minister

ALIX, Alta. (CP)—Mrs. Mary Irene Parlby, one of the first women in the world to hold cabinet rank in parliamentary government, has entered her 90th year without losing any of her interest in public affairs.

It was that interest which earned her the rank of cabinet minister without portfolio in the United Farmers government of Alberta, a position she held for 14 years prior to the Social Credit election in 1935. She later was a leading figure in the fight to seat women in the Canadian senate.

Now, at home on the Manadon farm—named after her birthplace in England—she spends much of her time compiling a current-events scrap book of newspaper clippings and magazine articles. It includes reports on the Hungarian revolution and Suez crisis.

Mrs. Parlby also completed and gave to her grandchildren a complete scrap book on the Charles Camsell hospital at Edmonton, a hospital for Eskimos and Indians. She now is working on a similar book of such men as Jawaharlal Nehru and Sir Winston Churchill.

The farm at Alix, 100 miles south of Edmonton, has been her home for more than 60 years. Alix is in the Lacombe constituency which she represented in the legislature.

Although no longer a participant in public affairs, Mrs. Parlby still plays an active part in events within her own busy family circle at Manadon.

Women's Press Club To Meet in Nanaimo

B.C. Centennial committee chairman Laurie Wallace will be guest speaker at the dinner which will follow a reception at 6.30 p.m. Nanaimo Free Press general manager William Lupton will be the dinner host.

The Birthplace of Monaco's Heir—Will It Be Hospital or Palace?

MONTE CARLO (Reuters)—Reports that Princess Grace of Monaco will give birth to her baby in the palace instead of Monaco's hospital arose Monday with the arrival at the palace of midwife's equipment.

Arrangements were previously made for the princess to move into a suite of rooms at the hospital. The princess' press attache, Emile Cornet, insisted: "There is only one chance in a hundred that the baby will be born outside the hospital."

Nevertheless, a palace source confirmed the arrival of the instruments without saying whether there had been any change of plans and whether the princess, former movie star Grace Kelly, would give birth to the child in the 700-year-old palace of the ruling Grimaldi family.

Speculation also continued over whether the child would be a boy or a girl. Gamblers in the Casino here were offering odds of 7 to 5 the baby would be a boy—and up to 20 to 1 that Princess Grace would have twins.

The citizens of Monaco don't care which. Under their 38-year-old treaty with France, Monaco will remain an independent principality—without taxes and without military conscription—as long as there is an heir, male or female.

WILL LOOSE SALVO

Cornet said the birth would be greeted with a salvo of guns "within 60 seconds."

He also confirmed rumors about the number of shots to be fired. "It will be definitely 101 for a boy and 21 for a girl."

Current estimates when the birth will occur range from now until Jan. 25.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

The other day in New York I dropped in at the Eddie Senz Salon, hoping to catch him in. Eddie always is fun to talk with because he is not only one of today's great make-up artists but he is also a humanitarian.

For instance he designed the make-up and hair styling for "The King and I," for Helen Hayes in "The Glass Menagerie," for "The Most Happy Fella" and created Audrey Hepburn's make-up for "A Roman Holiday." Many of the world's famous are his clients. Even more important, physicians and psychiatrists often call on him for aid in rehabilitating emotionally and mentally disturbed persons.

Because of his years of experience in enhancing the appearance of the feminine sex, and because of his opportunity to observe, first hand, the impact which this has on women, his advice in psychological values as well as in technical skill are well worth listening to.

I asked him what he feels to be the greatest mistake women in general make in make-up and hair styling. He answered without hesitation. "The greatest mistake a woman can make is to refuse to resign herself to the fact that aging is inevitable, and to try to compensate for this by using too much make-up or by "giving up" and using none at all. She is terribly wrong if she believes that beauty is confined only to the young."

He continued, "I have seen so many beautiful, charming, smart looking women of mature years and older, but these are not the ones who wear their hair long and flowing and load up on make-up in the vain hope that it will cover any defects they have.

"It is possible for a woman to look 10 years (or more) younger than she is if she has taken care of herself and if she uses make-up subtly. But she can never look 30 years younger, and if she tries to do so she will only appear ridiculous."

Eddie also feels that another mistake women make is to believe that men are devoid of good taste and judgment when it comes to a woman's looks. He says that nothing makes a man more uncomfortable than to be the escort of a woman who is trying to look like 16 when she is 50. He said "It embarrasses him."

If you would like to have my leaflet "Woman of 50", send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 33 to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Woman's Guild Gives $1,000 For Expenses

During the past year a sum of $2,658 was raised through various events, it was reported at the annual meeting of Christ Church Cathedral Woman's Parish Guild. Of this, $1,000 was presented to the wardens for church expenses and $1,941 was used in guild projects. A balance of $700 was recorded in the treasurer's report given by Mrs. M. Bence.

Dean Brian Whitlow conducted the election of officers, as follows: President, Mrs. J. F. K. English; first vice-president, Mrs. T. N. Evans; second, Mrs. Bainbridge; third, Mrs. C. H. Dale; recording secretary, Mrs. D. M. Robarts, and corresponding secretary, Mrs. E. B. Greenhill.

Mrs. Robarts reported on major activities during the year, including the annual garden party, a bazaar, home-cooking sales and catering for luncheons for church organizations. The dean spoke briefly and, following the meeting, tea was served by the executive.

Curried Sardines

Take a can of condensed mushroom soup, add two teaspoons of curry powder, and heat till bubbly. Add a chopped apple, rind and all, a diced banana and two cans of drained Maine sardines. Serve over boiled rice for a quick 'n easy supper. Pass a condiment tray of chutney, chopped egg, bits of bacon and chopped nuts if there's company.

"EASY AND LOTS OF FUN!"

"Yes they are Clara!—and you can win up to $10,000—that's first prize you know, in the Star Weekly 'Know Canada' contest."

"Did you know there will be 1,968 winners?"

"Well with $50,000 in prize money there are certainly plenty of chances to win."

"I guess I had better order extra copies of the Star Weekly from our carrier boy. I know my husband and the children will be working on the picture puzzles. They love to do things like this together."

"That's a good idea, making the 'Know Canada' contest a family project, eh?"

Japanese-Canadian Formerly Interned, Now Officer in Navy

(Ex-navy officer Stuart Keate, publisher of the Victoria Daily Times, is aboard HMCS Ontario for the first leg of a three-month training cruise. His dispatches are being filed by wireless from the ship.)

By STUART KEATE

ON BOARD HMCS ONTARIO—A 23-year-old Japanese-Canadian who spent four years of his childhood in a British Columbia internment camp is carving out a new career for himself as an officer of the Royal Canadian Navy. Ken Kadonaga is serving in Ontario as an Acting Sub-Lieutenant in the engineering branch and undergoing training for his watch-keeper's ticket.

His engine-room officer, Cdr. (E) John Chauvin of Montreal, describes the young Japanese-Canadian as a fine officer, very quick and intelligent, with a promising career in the navy ahead of him.

"KEN" IS CORRECT

Ken (who explains that this is a proper Japanese name, not an abbreviation for Kenneth) was born in Vancouver in 1933. Nine years later, along with his family and 6,000 coastal Japanese, he was shipped to Tashme internment camp, 14 miles from Hope, and stayed there until 1946.

The Kadonaga family first moved to a farm near Goderich, Ont., and stayed there a year before moving to Stoney Creek, near Hamilton.

Young Ken applied himself vigorously to studies, sea cadet work, and sports. "We realized we had to prove ourselves," he says. At McMaster University he joined the Naval Training Division. The next three years, through the Regular Training Plan he was able to attend Queen's University at navy expense, and acquire a BSc degree in Mechanical Engineering. Under this system, Kadonaga agreed to serve a minimum of three years in the active force, as repayment for his education, and then must decide whether he will make the navy a lifetime career.

NO DISCRIMINATION

Kadonaga has been in HMCS Ontario since June of last year and is enjoying the life. "There is absolutely no discrimination in the service," he says, "although it might develop later on, as a man works his way up the ranks."

Kadonaga was the second Japanese-Canadian to attain officer status. First was a doctor, now stationed at Naden. Altogether there are about a dozen Japanese-Canadians on active service with the RCN today.

Sub.-Lt. Kadonaga has been brushing up on his Japanese during the present training cruise of Pacific waters, in anticipation of his first visit to Japan. He learned the language as a child in Vancouver, before the internment camp episode.

Japanese children studied for an hour under native teachers at 3.30 each day, following their regular school classes. Help of Anglican priests during the trying post-war period of adjustment brought Kadonaga in to the Anglican faith and, he says, "I intend to stay there." At Sunday divisions at sea Jan. 13, the young Nisei officer acted as a divisional officer and led a party of stokers in the familiar naval hymns and prayers.

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prize? Then Ask Andy

Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes.

The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia (Canadian edition) and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Address your questions to "Ask Andy," Victoria Daily Times

Andy sends a complete, 15-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia to John Cummings, aged 12, of Indianapolis, Ind., for his question:

How Does an Insect Breathe?

An insect breathes oxygen from the air. But it has no nose with two nostrils in the middle of its face as we do. Its lungs also are vastly different from ours. Our oxygen is taken from the lungs and carried by the blood stream to all the hungry cells. Insects tote the plain air right to the cells. They take out the oxygen they need and return their waste carbon dioxide.

An insect has several pairs of nostrils and you would never guess where to look for them. They are tiny breathing pores called spiracles. And they are arranged, of all places, along the side of his body.

An insect's body, of course, has no inside bones. The soft inside tissues are held together by a tough, outside skin. This hard armor is banded with rings of elastic skin to make it jointed and moveable. This is why we call an insect a segmented animal. The spiracles are in certain of the softer areas between the hard segments. A little bee has no less than seven pairs of breathing pores. Two pairs are in her thorax, or chest, and five pairs are below her slender waist in the abdomen.

A locust is a sizeable insect, big enough so you can see him breathe under a magnifying glass. You can see the little spiracles on his sides open and close, open and close. He is using his muscles to work the segments of armor around his nostrils. He lets in a breath of fresh air and squeezes out a breath of used air. On a hot day, he uses up more oxygen, so his spiracles work faster in the heat.

These little breathing pores open into a network of tiny tunnels. They branch and rebranch all over the insect's body. These air pipes are called the trachaea. They carry the air supply to the insect's head, legs, wings and all the soft tissues of the body. The cells soak up the oxygen they need from the air-filled trachaea and give back their waste carbon dioxide. The air is kept circulating as the insect breathes in and out through his spiracles.

As animals go, no insect is very large. So you can imagine how small these breathing organs must be. Yet some insects have found room to improve on this simple breathing system. One of these good organizers is the little bee. Her spiracles open into sizeable chambers along the inside of her body. These are the air sacs, shaped rather like sausage-shaped balloons. Tiny trachaea lead the air out from the air sacs to all parts of the body and return with used air to be squeezed out through the spiracles. But the bee always has a supply of reserve air in the reservoir of her air sacs.

BOY SCOUT ACTIVITIES

Chinese Group—Skipping and observation tests were run off at the regular meeting Monday. District Cubmaster Harry Ward paid the pack a visit.

A high lead transporter was built and an "injured patient" moved over a supposed gorge by the troop. This project involved a great deal of lashing and first aid skills. An outdoor compass scheme is planned for the end of the month.

Stamps — Canadian Boy Scouts are getting double duty out of postage stamps. Upwards of ten pounds of used stamps, collected by Cubs and Scouts, arrive monthly at Canadian headquarters in Ottawa. They are sold to stamp dealers and the proceeds sent to the Boy Scouts International Bureau in London, England, and applied to the expansion of scouting throughout the world. Many Canadian business firms, as well as members of Scout ladies' auxiliaries and other organizations are helping the Scouts get double duty out of postage stamps.

Canada's Refugee Stand Explained By Pickersgill

OTTAWA (CP) — Immigration Minister Pickersgill said Tuesday he has issued instructions that only applications for entry to Canada by sponsored Hungarians be handled at the Canadian immigration office in Vienna.

Replying to a question from Alistair Stewart (CCF, Winnipeg North) in the Commons, Mr. Pickersgill said applications from Hungarians without a sponsor in this country are being handled by teams of Canadian immigration officials going into Austrian refugee camps.

He said he issued the instructions in December because some of the latest refugee arrivals from Hungary were getting ahead of those in the camps by coming straight to the Vienna office to make their applications.

GENEVA (Reuters) — Austria has warned the West that recent developments in Hungary may lead to a renewed heavy influx of refugees with which the Austrian government would be unable to cope.

(BB 'PLUS) "BEYOND A REASONABLT DOUBT" (Capitol)—RKO's "Beyond a Reasonable Doubt" is a murder-drama that is guaranteed to capture the imagination of the whodunit fan.

For the quick-witted, the ones able to catch the single clue, the denouement may come as no surprise. But even though they may guess the ending, there is still a thrill from watching a man plant evidence against himself in order to be convicted of murder.

The planter of evidence is Dana Andrews. Unknown to his fiance, Joan Fontaine, he and newspaper publisher Sidney Blackmer, who plays Miss Fontaine's father, rig an unsolved murder so that it points to himself. Reason behind such duplicity is to prove Blackmer's theory that no man should be executed on circumstantial evidence alone.

In addition to the mechanics that make "Beyond a Reasonable Doubt" the thriller it is, director Fritz Lang and producer Bert Friedlob carefully cast the play with the result that two worlds mingle queerly and the resulting concoction at times borders upon the macabre. It is a long way down from the lush home of publisher Blackmer to the frowsy nightclub where strippers Barbara Nichols and Robin Raymond show they are possessed of more charm than mere acting ability.

Unfortunately "Beyond a Reasonable Doubt" closes tonight at the Capitol. But there's still time to get there before it leaves or catch it the next time about. It is worth the effort.

IN BUSINESS SUCCESS

Women's Secret: Low Cut Dress Or Ability?

Women make good business executives, a four-man panel agreed at a meeting of National Office Management Association Tuesday.

But before reaching this conclusion panelists gave the fairer sex a verbal bantering on such topics as age and dress.

"Have you ever heard of a woman, executive or not, who has ever passed the age of 39?" aked accountant Harold Craven, one of the panel.

He insisted women executives should be forced into retirement at 65:

Others on the panel were J. C. Melville, Jack Wilson, moderator Gordon Holms and Doug Tuck. Their subject was "Do Women Make Good Executives?"

LOW-CUT BLOUSES

On the question of what natural qualities a woman ought to possess to be an executive, Mr. Tuck gave as an example the case of a Hong Kong woman who rose to presidency of an oil firm by wearing low-cut blouses.

Besides the same training as male executives receive, women executives should have understanding of their product and those working for them.

"Perhaps she could marry the boss' son," said Mr. Melville.

"The best opportunity (for women in business) is to find a top-notch male executive, marry him and take over the whole business," felt Mr. Craven.

Mrs. Ruby Masters and Miss Maidie Cottingham, the Victoria association's only two female members, were permitted comment on the discussion.

They agreed to its value and Mrs. Masters remarked later the panel's treatment was like "A candy coating on a touchy subject."

Dr. Wells is a former professor of English at Victoria College and an expert linguist. He was chosen because of his wide experience in cosmopolitan and diplomatic affairs.

Abbotsford is dispersal point for Hungarian refugees in B.C. and Dr. Wells' task will be to instruct the refugees while they are awaiting dispersal to other parts of the province.

'TYPOGRAPHY SPEAKS'

Gallery Shows Printing as High Art

By P.M.

The exhibition at Victoria Art Gallery, "Typography speaks" shows how our alphabet has developed since the dawn of history. It is interesting to see how the manner in which various nations thought and felt, their architecture and other means of artistic expression, are reflected in their lettering, in their choice of the shape which they gave to individual characters.

Although the exhibition includes some valuable books loaned by the Victoria Public Library, emphasis is laid on the design and execution of the more ephemeral kind of printing, the everyday commercial job—letterheads, leaflets, advertisements.

We have become so accustomed to the shape and use of our letters that few people ever give much thought to the fascinating history of their development. Nor are many of us aware of the fact that a well-designed letter—whether drawn, written, chiselled, engraved or printed—is a genuine work of art.

Great names like Leonardo da Vinci, Albrecht Durer—to mention only two of many—are connected with the art of letter design.

Panels are on view at the gallery, presenting typical samples of how different nations design and arrange type according to their own specific taste; how type can be chosen to correspond in "feeling" with the subject of the printed message and how it can be tastefully combined with photographic or drawn illustrations.

A most instructive section is devoted to the technicalities of design, manufacture and use of printer's type by modern methods of production.

The exhibition, originally scheduled to close Sunday, is being extended a week as a result of public interest and to accommodate school tours.

Sammon Re-Elected Health Board Chief

Former Esquimalt councillor G. K. Sammon was returned as chairman of Victoria-Esquimalt Union Board of Health.

Mr. Sammon, first non-elected official to serve on the committee of Victoria and Esquimalt council and school board representatives, announced his main aim for 1957 would be inclusion of Oak Bay in the Union Board of Health.

The board voted to ask Oak Bay council to attend a joint meeting to iron out the few remaining obstacles in the path of a combined health service, "within the month."

The board also will study a letter from the South Okanagan health unit which recommends all municipal health services should be under provincial jurisdiction, as is the case with the Saanich health unit.

ADULT CLINICS

Dr. Elizabeth Mahaffy told the board Salk vaccine programs are continuing. A program of diphtheria immunization underway among adults will be highlighted next week when a clinic will be set up for persons employed at the legislative buildings. She said similar clinics will be planned for other places where there are large numbers of employees.

City manager C. C. Wyatt and Chairman Sammon were authorized to investigate salary scales paid medical health officers and assistant medical health officers in other areas, and report with recommendations.

The board announced the appointment of Dr. Caroline Scott as assistant medical health officer on a temporary basis. Former AMHO Dr. G. Schulzer left the employ of the board at the end of his probation period. The board will advertise for a new appointee.

First Ring Show Carded

CHEMAINUS—First boxing show of the current season will be held in the Community Centre gym Feb. 2, when local boxing coach Nick Lystar will stage an eight-bout card.

In the main event Mickey Todsen of Port Alberni, former Western Germany champion in the 147-pound division, will take on Tommy Delvechio of the Vancouver South Hill Athletic Club, Tacoma golden glove champion last year. The semi-main event will be a 126-pound match between Victoria's Brian O'Hare and Vancouver's Ralph Dupas.

A number of local boxers who have been working out regularly for the past several weeks will see action on the card.

MIGUEL BERRIOS FIGHTS GIL CADILLI ON CHANNEL 5 AT 7

By PHIL LEE, Times TV Editor

DAVID MINTZ, general manager of Bellingham's KVOS-TV, told us Monday that he was on pins and needles lest the scheduled boost to full power this Saturday night at 10.30 should have to be postponed. Work on Orcas Island's half-mile high Mt. Constitution had been progressing nicely, said he, until bitter winds and driving snows hit the work camp. Only by working all night Saturday and Sunday in the jury-rigged shelter about the tower have engineers managed to keep pace with the target date. One more blizzard could spoil the whole show, he confided.

The boost from Channel 12's current 34,000 kilowatt power to 234,000 kilowatts is expected to harm Channel 11 reception here in areas where Channel 11 is received weakly. But in areas where the signal comes in well it is not thought that there will be undue disturbance. But the wise ones say: "Let's wait and see."

PECULIAR—There's one thing nobody seems to be able to take away from Liberace—and Heaven knows everyone has tried—and that is his marvelous sense of showmanship.

In retrospect it is difficult to think of a performer who has taken such a beating from the critics both in Canada, U.S. and abroad. Some of the blasts, especially those he encountered in England, would have spelled the end of most entertainers.

Who, with the possible exception of Marilyn Monroe, has been the butt of more take-offs than smirking, winking, gravel-voiced Liberace? Not even Elvis the Pelvis has been reduced to such ridicule as the man who plays to the glow of a candelabra while he speaks cosily of Mom and brother George.

Yet for Liberace last Thursday night Jack Benny's Shower of Stars might have fallen apart at the seams. Even master-entertainer Benny himself didn't hold the audience like Liberace did. There's magic in the man as he postures over the keyboard—black magic, hocus-pocus, voodoo, call it what you will, it's a brand of magic nonetheless that most performers would give their souls to call their own.

RAVES—Unfortunately, because of the time element, this column has yet been unable to cover any of the NHL hockey games carried by CBS-TV on Saturday mornings. But to judge by comments reaching the paper from happy fans the games are being presented in superb fashion. Evidently the camera work and the commentary are both of high order and it would appear as those behind scenes are doing their best to teach the fundamentals of the game to a nation that doesn't understand the rules too well.

Toothache Cure, Taken Neat, Costly

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Richard Nathan Longfellow's remedy for a toothache proved quite expensive.

He was brought into court on a drunk driving complaint and explained to Judge James Demopolos:

"I'm not a drinking man but I had a bad toothache and I was rinsing my mouth out with whisky to make it quit hurting.

"I washed my mouth out four or five times and I guess I accidentally swallowed some."

He was fined $60 but served notice of appeal.

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Nobody challenged the chemical test showing 0.15 per cent alcohol in the blood of Clifton Cheatham after his arrest on a drunk driving charge. At issue was the time when the alcohol entered the bloodstream.

At his arraignment he offered this defence: He took two big shots from a pint of whisky he was carrying after his arrest because he was "so shaky, jittery and scared."

He was found not guilty.

NAGASAKA, Japan (AP) — Fifteen firemen have been arrested on charges of shooting up the police station with high-pressure fire hoses after a riotous New Year's party. A police spokesman said the firemen apparently were irked because the police chief snubbed their invitation to the party.

SOUTHPORT, England (Reuters) — A three-year-old wallaby led zookeepers and policemen a merry chase across northern English sandhills — before being caught by its long tail. The kangaroo-like animal cleared a high wall and an eight-foot dike after escaping from the Southport Zoo. One of his pursuers was less agile and fell headlong into the dike, emerging drenched.

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—Frank Rogers, 31, complained to doctors at city hospital of a "regular roaring sound" in his head. Doctors investigated and removed a small, live roach from his ear.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Fleishhacker zoo has two surplus howdahs to trade for an orangoutang or two.

The howdahs, rajah-sized for commuting on elephants, were donated 25 years ago for use in parades. But San Francisco didn't give a mahout—or elephant jockey—to the cause.

Zoo director Carey Baldwin is depressed because a lady orangoutang is failing from loneliness. So he offered the howdahs for an orangoutang to Louis Goebel, California animal dealer.

Goebel called the howdahs old fashioned—no chromium—and declined.

English Girl Headlines Ice Capades

The star of this year's Ice Capades top production Peter Pan is an English girl, Hazel Franklin, who once toured the English theatres doing Peter Pan on the stage.

She was chosen for the stage shortly after another momentous occasion in her life, her first professional appearance on skates, at the age of 12.

Happily for ice show producer John Harris, who brings his show to the arena here Jan. 29, Miss Hazel was proficient in both fields of entertainment.

Mr. Harris saw Miss Franklin on ice in 1955 at Leeds and signed her to a contract.

HEADLINED

Miss Franklin starred in New York and was with the Ice Follies for five years as a headliner. It was only in the last four years she toured Europe, skating in every major capital.

Still in her early 20s she is classed as the "youngest veteran in the ice show field."

Peter Pan is one of 10 production sequences in this year's show.

Advance sales of tickets are being handled by Victoria Eagles who earn half the selling price for the Conquer Cancer campaign.

CAN HE SPEND THE $84,000?

Mental Patient Gets Football Pool Bonanza

IPSWICH, England (UP) — A patient in a mental institution won $84,000 in a weekend football pool, raising a thorny legal problem over his right to spend the money.

A spokesman for St. Clement's mental hospital identified the winner only as a 58-year-old Scotsman who has been confined for "many years."

He and another long-time inmate collaborated in picking the winners. Football pools are legal in Britain.

The spokesman said several patients fill out the pool slips weekly and "there have been two or three cases of small wins in the past."

He admitted "it has crossed our minds that the position might arise where a patient landed a really big prize."

The spokesman said the patient "will, of course, receive the money." But, he added: "It is another question how the use of the money will be supervised." He said a study will be made of laws applicable to the case.

One worry the patient doesn't have. Football pool winnings are not subject to income tax under British law.

Stateless Seaman On Way to England

PORT ALBERNI (CP)—Hope faded with the dimming lights of this port as Christian George Hanna, still stateless, left Canada Tuesday night aboard the Norwegian freighter Gudveig.

His ship sailed as scheduled from here, taking Hanna to England.

The 23-year-old stowaway, who claims he was born at sea, has been aboard the Gudveig for the last 15 months, virtually a prisoner.

FREE TO WANDER

He is allowed the freedom of the ship once out of part, when he has no chance of disembarking.

Attempts had been made by a number of Canadian groups to have the immigration department grant Hanna leave to stay in Canada. But officials said here Tuesday night they had received no order to allow Hanna to land in Canada.

Immigration Minister Pickersgill has said there is no reason to make an exception in Hanna's case and allow the "man without a country" to enter Canada.

200 Jobless At M & B Mill As Power Lost

CHEMAINUS — About 200 men have been thrown out of work temporarily at the MacMillan and Bloedel Ltd. sawmill here because of the failure of a generator and disruption of electrical power service to all parts of the plant.

The rotor of a 3,000-KVA generator burned out Sunday, and has been sent to Vancouver for rewinding. It is expected back in three weeks.

RESUME MONDAY?

Meanwhile, mechanics and engineers are attempting to adapt a steam generator for service, with the hope of having the entire plant back to normal production Monday.

A portion of the mill, such as the pony rig and one of three shifts on the head rig, are running on power supplied by the B.C. Power Commission. Work in the yard, loading shed, and deep-sea dock is proceeding as usual, but the planing mill and barker are down.

Ring Fans To Witness 'Boxing Mill'

OTTAWA (CP) — Four top army boxers will be matched with champion mit men from the United States in Toronto next month at the newsboys' show—major Canadian amateur boxing event.

Army headquarters also said Tuesday that its boxers will introduce to Canadian audiences for the first time a "boxing mill." The event, popular in British army boxing circles, matches five-man teams, with two men in the ring for one minute at a time. Action is continuous and, while Marquis of Queensbury rules are pretty well forgotten, oversize gloves reduce chance of injury.

Up against U.S. Golden Gloves champs at the Maple Leaf Gardens meeting Feb. 10 will be Sgt. Leslie Mason of Stellarton, N.S., Canadian light welterweight champion, and Spr. Mike Mercredi of Yellowknife, N.W.T., hard-hitting army heavyweight champion.

NCAA Moves To Outlaw Mask-Grabbing

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The seemingly tranquil meeting of the powerful football rules committee of the National Collegiate Athletic Association erupted into action Tuesday and took strides to outlaw protective face mask grabbing "before the practice becomes dangerous".

E. E. Tad Wieman, former head coach at Princeton and Michigan and now athletic director at the University of Denver, said the 25-man group reached tentative agreement on barring the practice and placing it in the personal foul category.

"The use of the protective face mask is becoming quite general," Wieman said after the closed meeting, "and the practice of players grabbing opponents by the masks is also becoming all too common."

Should the move be approved by the committee's 11 voting members at today's final session, the practice will be outlawed and a 15-yard penalty imposed for a personal foul against the player guilty of mask-grabbing.

D. C. (Peahead) Walker, Montreal coach, announced the signing of the 185-pound fullback from Salisbury, N.C. Walker said he was still trying to sign Tech halfback George Volkert.

Gas Hike Hinted Crude Oil Up

CALGARY (CP) — Imperial Oil Ltd. today announced an increase of 18 cents a barrel in the well-head price it will pay for western light crude oils.

The new prices reflect recent advances in the United States.

Because of the current exchange premium on the Canadian dollar, the announcement said, the increase is less than the American increases.

American increases, announced by various companies since Jan. 3, were about 25 cents a barrel and have been followed by one-cent-a-gallon increases in gasoline in many states.

What effect the Imperial Oil increase will have on Canadian retail prices of oil products—such as gasoline and fuel oil—is not known yet.

PRAYER FOR TODAY

Almighty God, who dost hold us to account for the use of our time and energies, grant that we may ever be good stewards of Thy grace. When the day ends, may we have Thy approval and hear Thy "well done"; through Jesus Christ, our Lord. Amen.

New Clue To Lost Jet Probed

(See also page 3)

VANCOUVER (CP) — Two search aircraft were dispatched today to "check out a new clue" to more survivors of Sunday's double jet crash north of Squamish, B.C.

Jack Worthington, of Squamish, an eye-witness to what appeared as a mid-air collision of the two T-33 jets, provided the new clue when he met with an RCAF investigating team.

Worthington, said the RCAF, saw one of the T-33s plummetting straight down in flames while the other continued flying in a north-northeast direction from Squamish.

He said it appeared to be "partly out of control" and descending rapidly at the time.

Worthington said he felt his information wasn't significant until he learned that only the wreckage of one of the jets had been found.

Lost Airliner Sighting 'False'

VANCOUVER (CP)—Reports of wreckage on the side of a mountain in Washington State, thought for a while to have been a clue to a missing TCA airliner, turned out to be erroneous, the RCAF said today.

An air force spokesman said a United States Coast Guard plane flying over the area identified the "wreckage" as a bus and a steam-shovel on the mountainside.

OTTAWA (CP) — Justice Minister Garson said today there will be no anti-combines investigation of the $4-a-ton boost on Canadian newsprint announced during the last week or two by four Canadian firms.

RATED 'GREATEST CONDUCTOR'

THE LATE ARTURO TOSCANINI

Maestro's Career Spanned 70 Years

NEW YORK (AP)—Arturo Toscanini, a poor Italian boy who became one of the world's foremost orchestra conductors, died in his sleep today. He was 89.

Death occurred at his home in Riverdale, the Bronx. His son, Walter, said the famous maestro had suffered a stroke on New Year's Day and had not fully recovered from it.

Toscanini's brilliant career spanned 70 years and won him virtually every honor the musical world has to offer.

He had already scored great success before he came to the United States in 1908. In America he swept on to the heights.

For seven seasons he conducted at the Metropolitan Opera during the era of such never-to-be-forgotten artists as Caruso, Melba and Scotti. But a disagreement, never explained, caused him to quit the Met in 1915, never to return.

Radio Brought Him Close to Public

Subsequently, he directed the New York Philharmonic Symphony and the National Broadcasting Company Symphony Orchestra.

The latter brought him closer to the North American public than any of his other endeavors.

Toscanini conducted his last concert with the NBC Symphony Orchestra at Carnegie Hall April 4, 1954. But neither the capacity audience nor those who heard the program on radio knew it was his farewell.

His retirement was made known after the concert by the release of letters exchanged previously between Toscanini and David Sarnoff, chairman of the board of the Radio Corp. of America. This was in accord with the maestro's wish that news of his retirement should be withheld until after his final appearance with the orchestra which he had led for 17 years.

His last concert was an all-Wagner program. As he stepped off the podium, as the last chord of Die Meistersinger overture sounded, his baton slipped from his hand. A member of the orchestra picked it up and handed it to him.

Then Toscanini slowly walked off. He was applauded for many minutes by the audience.

Toscanini did not return.

Fate Made Him a Conductor

Toscanini, known as a severe taskmaster and a perfectionist in his direction, was hailed by many as "the greatest living conductor."

But his path to success was not an easy one. Although he surmounted the obstacles of poverty to win musical recognition at the beginning, it was a whim of fate that made him a conductor.

Born to a poor tailor and his wife in Parma, Italy, music beckoned to the young Toscanini at an age when most boys are occupied only by the games and diversions of childhood.

At nine he entered a conservatory at Parma. He was graduated in piano and cello, winning honors in composition.

However, he did not pursue composition because he felt that "whatever I composed would fall below the standard I set for myself."

The strange twist of fate that brought him to the podium to stay occurred in 1886 when Toscanini was just 19.

He had taken a job with a touring opera company headed for South America.

There in Rio de Janeiro, the Brazilian conductor got into a quarrel with some of the Italian artists before a performance of Verdi's opera, Aida.

The Brazilian audience hissed the orchestra's Italian conductor off the stage when he sought to take over the baton. The orchestra's chorus master met the same fate. Confusion reigned.

Toscanini, then a cellist, arrived late—slipping into his usual chair unnoticed.

Women in the company's chorus became greatly worried, for fear they would be stranded far away from home. One spied the tardy Toscanini and set up a cry: "He will save us! He knows all the operas by heart!"

Fellow musicians, snatching at the last straw, handed Toscanini a baton. He went to work in the masterly fashion, so well known later in his career, and the audience, jeering and laughing over what they expected to be a fiasco, shortly subsided to rapt attention.

The conductor married Carla Di Martini in 1897. She died in 1951. They had four children, one of whom died in childhood.

His son, Walter, handled his father's affairs. A daughter, Wally, became the Countess of Castelbarco, and the other, Wanda, the wife of Vladimir Horowitz, the noted pianist.

Eisenhower Wants $2 Billion Boost in U.S. Defence Budget

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower today proposed to Congress a budget for next year calling for an increase of more than $2,000,000,000 in military spending and a record peacetime outlay of $71,800,000,000 in federal funds.

Eisenhower said his budget for the fiscal year beginning next July 1 is balanced and provides for a surplus for the third straight year. But once again he came out against any tax cuts, except for possible relief for small business involving "minimum loss of revenue."

In reference to stepped-up spending for defence, the president said two of the major guide-lines he used in drafting the budget were designed to ensure:

"Peace, justice and freedom for our own and other peoples; and

"Powerful armed forces to deter and, if need be, to defeat aggression."

"I am convinced," he said, "that the defence programs and funds for their support as recommended in this budget provide a wise and reasonable degree of protection for the nation."

The budget message estimated that $45,300,000,000, or 63 per cent of the entire federal outlay, will be for national security programs. These include $38,031,000,000 for the armed forces, $4,363,000,000 for economic and military foreign aid, and lesser amounts for atomic energy research and development, stockpiling of strategic goods, home civil defence and the U.S. information agency.

Eisenhower forecast continuing boom prosperity with the government collecting a record $73,600,000,000 in revenue in the new fiscal year.

Such income, he said, will permit the administration to ring up a surplus of $1,800,000,000 to be applied toward reduction of the national debt.

BRITAIN CUTS RESERVES; AIR FORCE HARDEST HIT

LONDON (Reuters)—Britain Tuesday night announced slashing cuts in her army, navy and air force reserves.

The heaviest cut was made in the RAF which will disband most of its reserve units including 20 fighter squadrons, air observation posts, some ground forces and nine of 30 fighter control and radar operating units.

The air ministry said this will mean a saving of more than $10,000,000 a year.

At the same time the war office said that about 120,000 draftees who have finished their two years of service will not be called up this year for part-time reserve training.

The navy said it is disbanding its part-time reserve air branch manned by weekend fliers as is the RAF.

Prairies Get Relief From Cold Siege

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

A relief column of warm air swept out of the Arctic and into Western Canada today, boosting the temperature and spirits of marrow-chilled residents.

The mild air lifted a freezing siege which set in last weekend.

The dramatic change in the west was exemplified at Lac la Biche in northeastern Alberta, where the mercury bolted from 20 below at midnight to 23 above at 7.30 a.m. Yellowknife, 620 miles north of Edmonton in the Northwest Territories, enjoyed a happy 20 above today.

Cameron Sides With Liberal Suez Policy; Scores Fulton

OTTAWA (CP) — A CCF member clashed Tuesday with a Progressive Conservative over the Canadian government's Suez policy and joined a Liberal in suggesting some steps toward world government might soon have to be considered.

The busy CCFer in the Commons Throne Speech debate was Colin Cameron, Nanaimo, B.C. He differed with fellow-British Columbian Davie Fulton (PC, Kamloops) over the merits of Canada's attitude toward Britain and France during the Suez crisis in general and certain statements by Prime Minister St. Laurent at last November's special parliamentary session in particular.

But he agreed with Lucien Cardin, parliamentary assistant to External Affairs Minister Pearson that effective co-operation with the rest of the world might eventually cost Canada some of its personal sovereignty.

LUMPED WITH AGGRESSORS

Mr. Fulton said the government apparently has written off the Commonwealth as a force for world peace. Mr. St. Laurent's November speech criticizing "the supermen of Europe" had lumped Britain and France in the same category as Communist aggressors.

The "unsatisfactory record of this government over the years with respect to the British Commonwealth," said Mr. Fulton, culminated in the United Nations General Assembly last fall when the Canadian government sided with Russia and the United States "against our oldest friends, namely France and the United Kingdom."

Mr. Cameron, referring to Mr. Pearson's November speech detailing to the Commons the government's Suez actions, said:

"I think it is only fair to say that on this occasion . . . no intelligent Canadian could really have a quarrel with what he had to tell us."

At another point he said: "It seems to me to be an extraordinary situation that Canadians can stand up in this Parliament and suggest that, because a strain was put upon the relationship within the Commonwealth —not by Canada or by any action of Canada's—we are to blame for that strain."

UN POSITION DIFFICULT

From Mr. Fulton's remarks it was obvious that "in the view of the official opposition there is only one nation in the world which has the right to sovereignty and that is the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland."

Mr. Cardin said the UN is in an intolerable position. If it collapsed "then to my mind it is world suicide."

"The granting of much greater power and much greater authority to the UN could be

UK Studying 'Dramatic Plan' To Exploit Athabasca Oil Sands

LONDON (CP))—The News Chronicle says Prime Minister Harold Macmillan is studying a dramatic plan to exploit the oil in Alberta's oil sands.

In a dispatch from New York, the newspaper says copies of the plan have been sent to Trade Minister Howe of Canada and to Sir Roger Makins, a top-ranking British civil servant. It says the plan was devised by Carroll Wilson, former general manager of the United States Atomic Energy Commission.

Under a streamer headline, "Oil Galore in Canada Waiting for Us," The News Chronicle story warns Britain to get her bid in quickly, because "big international oil companies are already moving into the tar sands area in force."

The Wilson plan is said to urge creation of an Anglo-Canadian-American commission to investigate the oil sands. It is also proposed that Britain join in financing a pipeline from the sands to Lake Superior.

INTERNATIONAL ATTENTION is being focussed on Athabasca oil sands 350 miles northeast of Edmonton. Britain is studying plan to exploit the rich sands, and last week the Royalite Oil Co. Ltd. said it will spend $50,000,000 in the next four years in development. Picture shows part of oil sands pit, exposed near pilot plant at Bitumount.

THE EARL OF ATHLONE
. . . Governor-General of Canada during Second World War.

NAMED GOV.-GENERAL TWICE

Queen's Uncle, Athlone, Dies

LONDON (CP)—The Earl of Athlone, a great uncle of Queen Elizabeth and a former governor-general of both Canada and South Africa, died in his London home today. He was 82.

The Queen announced she is observing family mourning one week from today. The funeral will be held Saturday at St. George's Chapel, Windsor. The Queen and members of the Royal Family will attend.

A memorial service will also be held Saturday at St. Mary Abbott's Church in London.

He was appointed governor-general of South Africa in 1923 when the Nationalist party was campaigning for secession from the Commonwealth. His diplomacy did much to win the support of even party extremists and he remained in the post until 1931.

In 1940, on the death of Lord Tweedsmuir, King George VI appointed him governor-general of Canada. His office lasted until 1946.

He was 66 when he reached Canada during the wartime years. But he looked—and was—every inch the soldier.

By that time he was a veteran of three wars. He fought for England in the Matabele War of 1896 in Rhodesia, in the South African War of 1899 and the First World War.

The earl was born in 1874 as Prince Alexander Augustus Frederick William Alfred George of Teck. His father, whose title was German, changed the family name to Cambridge in 1917.

Earldom Will Become Extinct

He was a Knight of the Garter, a Knight Grand Cross of the Bath and a Knight Grand Cross of the Royal Victoria Order.

He was also a fellow of the Royal Society and president of the African Society. His foreign orders included the Grand Cordon of Leopold of Belgium and the Grand Cross of Orange Nassau.

He is survived by his widow, Princess Alice of Albany, a granddaughter of Queen Victoria, and a daughter, Lady May Abel Smith. A son, Viscount Trematon, died in an automobile accident in France in 1928.

As there is no male heir, the earldom becomes extinct.

The earl was the first of Canada's governors-general to be sworn in at Ottawa. Until his time it was the custom for the ceremony to be held at the port of debarkation.

The trip to Canada was shrouded in wartime secrecy. It wasn't until his train had rolled out of Halifax that the public was told a new governor-general had landed to take up his commission.

An odd fact was that it was actually the second time the earl had been selected for the position. He was named governor-general in the summer of 1914 and was preparing to cross the Atlantic when war broke out. He was released from the appointment and entered active service.

This service won him, among other honors, the French Legion of Honor and Croix de Guerre and the Belgian Military Medal.

FOLLOWED COMMONER

His selection for the Canadian appointment was in line with an opinion expressed by Lord Tweedsmuir that because he had been a commoner his successor should be a man high in the aristocracy.

The third close relative of a reigning sovereign to become governor-general, he was sworn in at Ottawa June 21, 1940.

The earl was a keen sportsman, on the playing field and as a hunter. He hunted big game both in Canada and South Africa, bagging a Rocky Mountain goat and a moose in Canada and gaining many trophies during his stay on the African continent.

He was onetime president of the English Football Association and when he came to Canada he became quite a hockey fan, rarely missing important games in Ottawa.

Prompt Niagara Power Action Urged by Ike

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower today recommended "prompt action" by Congress to decide how the Niagara power project "can best be developed."

The president took formal notice of the six-year stalemate that has delayed construction of the estimated $525,000,000 project. The recommendation was made in his budget message.

A tug-of-war between public and private power forces has held up the project. A further complication has been action by Congress reserving for itself the right to name the U.S. partner in the international project.

There now are indications that the rival factions are in a mood for compromise.

The Eisenhower recommendation was covered in 19 words in his 25,000-word budget message. In a section devoted to natural resources, the president said:

"I also recommend prompt action by the Congress to decide how the Niagara power project can best be developed."

'Comrade Falls' —E. E. Winch Laid to Rest

VANCOUVER (CP) — Ernie Winch's funeral service was held Tuesday with a simple moving tribute — "A comrade falls, the ranks close up, the fight goes on . . ."

The funeral could have summarized the life of the 77-year-old MLA which ended last Friday.

His political friends came to pay tribute to the grand old man of the B.C. CCF party and his political opponents including Premier Bennett were there in strength.

There was no minister at the service. Two friends, Mrs. Dorothy Steeves and Grant McNeil, concluded the service with an excerpt from Mr. Winch's last letter to his wife and family.

The letter said: "My epitaph. Not a ladder from earth to Heaven; not as a witness to any creed; but simple service, simply given to his own kind in their common need."

Cremation followed, his ashes to be scattered to the winds of the province "he loved and served so long," including 23 years in the Legislature.

Fire Destroys $7,000 House

NANAIMO (CP) — Fire destroyed a three-bedroom house here Tuesday night, causing more than $7,000 damage.

The house was unoccupied. Owner Felix Kopalinski was in Port Alberni and his wife was visiting neighbors at time of the fire.

Harewood volunteer fire chief Len Clarke said cause of the blaze appeared to be an overheated furnace which had been installed on Monday.

Reserve Lifted On Iron Ore At Graham Is.

To pave the way for a steel industry in British Columbia, the Provincial Cabinet has lifted a reserve on exploration for iron ore in the black sands of Graham Island in the Queen Charlottes, Mines Minister Kenneth Kiernan said today.

"Figures I have now indicate there are literally billions of tons of black sand in the northeast corner of Graham Island," Mr. Kiernan said. "We have therefore decided to open up exploration in this field with the idea of paving the way for a steel industry in B.C."

Last October the government placed a reserve on 250 square miles of black sand on Graham Island following reports that the sands contain quantities of iron ore concentrates and other minerals.

He estimated that exports of iron ore from B.C. over the last four years has exceeded 4,000,000 tons concentrate, most of it going to Japan.

Campney and Rear Admiral H. S. Rayner, chief of navy personnel, Ottawa, and Rear Admiral R. E. S. Bidwell, flag officer, Atlantic Coast, Halifax, reached Nutts Corner airfield near this Northern Ireland shipbuilding centre after an overnight flight from Ottawa via Gander, Nfld.

Others aboard the C-5 from 412 Transport Squadron were Mrs. Campney, Maj.-Gen. F. F. Worthington, Canada's civil defence co-ordinator who is en route to a meeting in London; Commodore P. W. Earl, naval officer in charge of the Montreal area; Cmdr. T. H. Crone, director of service conditions and welfare for the RCN, and J. C. Rutledge, director of shipbuilding for the department of defence production, Ottawa.

VICTORIA COMMANDER

The Bonaventure, a $25,000,000 addition to Canada's anti-submarine force, was built at the Harland and Wolff Shipyards here and will sail under the command of Capt. Harold V. Groos of Victoria.

After Thursday's ceremony, the carrier will undergo trials with her crew, flown here from Canada, in United Kingdom waters and later will be based in Halifax.

Those present at the commissioning ceremony will include Norman Robertson, Canadian high commissioner in London, and Mrs. Robertson; Lord Brookeborough, prime minister of Northern Ireland, and Vice-Admiral H. D. DeWolf, Canadian chief of the naval staff.

Doctor's Gifts Came From Widow's Son

EASTBOURNE, Eng. (AP)—A defence lawyer for Dr. John Bodkin Adams, accused of drugging a wealthy widow patient to death, won an admission in court today that the society physician had practically nothing to gain under her will.

The Rolls Royce car and the chest of silver which the doctor got from the estate of 81-year-old Mrs. Edith Morrell, the court was told actually were inherited by her son who then gave them as gifts to the physician.

The defence also brought out that Mrs. Morrell, in the many wills she had prepared, had continually insisted she be cremated after her death.

The prosecution contends that Dr. Adams murdered Mrs. Morrell in November, 1950, for "greed of profit."

ASHES SCATTERED

Afterwards, her body was cremated and the ashes scattered over the English Channel.

Besides the murder charge, Dr. Adams is accused of violations of the Cremation Act.

Major witness in today's session—third day of the pre-trial hearing of the murder charge against Dr. Adams—was Herbert Sogno, the lawyer who drew up Mrs. Morrell's constantly changing wills.

Under cross-examination by defence counsel Geoffrey Lawrence, Sogno agreed that a number of other persons had a lot more to gain under Mrs. Morrell's will and that Dr. Adams' share was actually an oak chest full of silver.

NO CAR

The Rolls Royce and an Elizabeth court cupboard which Dr. Adams also received from Mrs. Morrell's estate, the lawyer agreed, had been given to him later by her son, Calud Morrell.

The terms of Mrs. Morrell's will, the lawyer testified, were that the Rolls Royce car and the cupboard were to go to Dr. Adams only if her son had died before her.

The prosecution's case is that Dr. Adams enslaved Mrs. Morrell by turning her into a drug addict, then killed her with an overdose of drugs after she had changed her will in his favor.

interpreted as a step toward world government.

"Perhaps the time has not yet come to take such a step, and yet perhaps the time is rapidly approaching when such a step will have to be taken."

MUST BE REVIEWED

On this matter, Mr. Cameron said the question of sovereignty —"as to just how far any people are to be allowed to conduct their affairs without regard to the rest of the world"—will have to be reviewed.

Some rethinking was needed "as to the possibility of relinquishing certain aspects of our sovereignty to a greater degree." Consideration also would have to be given to the possible value of giving "some world authority" control of oil, food and uranium surpluses to be directed throughout the world where they are needed.

Mr. Fulton said Mr. Pearson and Health Minister Martin in speeches Monday had praised the Commonwealth.

But not all their "honey words" could remove "the unfortunate, indeed the disastrous, impression" created by the government's conduct and words last November.

Making clear that two major election issues for his party will be Parliament's status and the Liberal government attitude to the Commonwealth, Mr. Fulton said government actions in the defence production and pipeline debates in the last two years reduced parliament supremacy "nearly to the point of no return."

Mr. Cameron said that as for Mr. St. Laurent's remarks about the supermen of Europe, "all history supports that statement.

"The sooner we of the Caucasian races remember that the last 300 years carry an almost unbroken history of pillage, rapine, bloody suppression of all non-European people with whom we came in contact, the sooner we will be prepared to live at peace with the human race. . . .

"The peoples of Asia and of Africa have not forgotten. An attitude of humility with regard to the deplorable record of our ancestors and indeed of some of our contemporaries of the European races would be in order today."

'Golden Boy' Aragon Slightly Tarnished

Doug Peden
OUTDOOR REPORT

Another duck-shooting season comes to an end at a half-hour after sunset tonight, leaving black brant as our only legal targets.

Compared with most previous seasons, duck hunting has been on the poor side. Bluebird weather through the greater part of the season can take a large share of the credit for the predominance of poor bags, but the fact remains that we may never again have what we could call a good season on the southern portion of Vancouver Island.

When the weather kicked up a fuss this winter, there was good shooting to be had, proving that there were a fair number of ducks around. On calm days, good hunting was an exception unless you had access to posted property or were able to get well off the beaten track.

Tired of collecting only large helpings of fresh air on evening trips after ducks, several have asked what can be done to obtain better hunting next season. I don't know. If I did, I would have fired more shots during the past couple of months.

We are watching the old struggle of game against civilization. And, in the limited duck-shooting areas near Victoria, there is no reason to expect the birds to even hold their own.

It appears only a matter of time until Central Saanich and other nearby areas are closed to shooting and we have no large marshes or tidal flats that will give consistent duck shooting to the growing hunting clan.

We may see an increase in punt shooting and many sportsmen will undoubtedly concentrate their shooting into holiday trips to the B.C. Interior and the Prairies. Construction of a road into Tofino will give hunters better access to the huge flats there, but will not help the gunner who likes to take his duck shooting in afternoon outings.

The time when we could count on firing a few shots during a quick evening trip appears almost ended for the average hunter.

As was expected, the extra season on deer and elk in a small section near Penticton has proved a disappointment for outside hunters.

Because of crop damage, a season from Dec. 28 through January was granted on deer and elk of any sex in a two-miles-by-12-miles part of the Naramata district northeast of Penticton.

Hunting pressure has been heavy and because of the small area most of the animals have been driven back, and visiting hunters were mostly beaten to the punch by residents who were right on the spot when shooting opened.

In the first 11 days, only 14 deer and four elk were downed and it appears doubtful that the number will even be doubled before the special season ends.

Fresh-water fishermen may soon be running into signs now being posted by the B.C. Game Commission. The signs ask anglers taking a marked fish to make a report of the catch and to submit scale samples.

The reports will help the commission assess the results of fish plantings.

Some of the steelhead fingerlings planted may be returning this winter to the Sooke River. The steelhead will have one or bo. of the ventral fins (under the belly) missing. Trout planted in lakes will have the adipose fin (on back in front of the tail) clipped.

Recent plantings of cu' hroat trout fingerlings from the Puntledge Park Hatchery near Courtenay include Kemp Lake, 2,750; Thetis Lake, 6,600; and Shawnigan Lake, 24,145.

Suggestions for making reports of marked fish may be found on page 30 of the 1956 sport-fishing regulations pamphlet.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Third-ranking welterweight Art Aragon is again up to his scarred eyebrows in trouble and publicity—and this time he isn't laughing it off.

Conspicuously missing was his usual jaunty manner when he surrendered Tuesday on a county grand jury felony indictment charging that he offered boxer Dick Goldstein $500 to throw a fight.

"I welcome this opportunity to present my side of this story," the sober-faced Aragon told newspaper men.

Booked on a charge of corrupt sporting practices, Aragon, the former "Golden Boy," faces arraignment February 7.

CALLED OFF BOUT

Goldstein, an unranked welterweight, charged that Aragon offered him the money to take a fourth-round dive in a scheduled 10-rounder December 18 in San Antonio, Texas.

Aragon bowed out of the bout, blaming illness.

"This hits me right where it hurts — in the pocketbook," said Aragon. "I had a bout lined up for January 29 at the Legion Stadium with Chico Vejar and another next month with Kid Gavilan.

"Sure, they're definitely off," he added. "Even if the commission would let me fight, I couldn't—not with this hanging over my head."

This is Aragon's second brush with fight-fixing charges. Tommy Campbell, one-time lightweight, told a special governor's commission investigating boxing in California last spring that he "lost on purpose" to Aragon in 1950.

Aragon testified in his own defence then and, between sobs, convinced the commissioners that he was not involved.

"The punch I hit him with would have knocked out anyone," he said at the time.

ACCORDING TO MINNIE, SOX LIVE IN THE PAST

CHICAGO (AP) — Outfielder Minnie Minoso, the club's leading hitter last season, is playing his perennial holdout game with Chicago White Sox.

From Havana, Cuba, Tuesday came Minoso's unsigned contract accompanied by a note which chided an offer of $32,000, the same salary he got last season.

Minoso, who batted .316, drove across 88 runs and hit 21 home runs last season, wrote:

"It looks like this contract was intended for the Minoso of 1953 or 1954, not the one who had such a fine season in 1956. Please send corrected contract."

INTEREST $278 PER DAY

Fund Drive Aimed At Joe's Tax Debt

CHICAGO (AP) — A three-week fund drive to help former heavy-weight champion Joe Louis settle his vast income tax debt was announced Tuesday.

Although Louis is some $1,250,000 in arrears in income taxes, a fund board of directors —with former heavyweight champion Jack Dempsey as honorary chairman—expressed hope that some "reasonable" settlement could be made with the government.

The fund has been chartered as a non-profit organization by two Norfolk, Neb., businessmen, who never saw Louis fight in person, but conceived the fund last October because they "always were for the underdog."

It was believed the government might settle for around 25 or 30 cents for every dollar Louis owes.

The campaign will include solicitation through personal, press, radio and TV appeals.

Louis' attorney, Aaron Payne, told press and radio-TV representatives at a "kickoff" luncheon that all previous efforts by Louis to affect a tax settlement collapsed because the erstwhile Brown Bomber simply can't get the money needed, no matter how much time given him.

The interest rate on Joe's back taxes currently amounts to $278 per day, Payne said.

Payne said Louis' income now is $20,000 annually from the International Boxing Club for public relations work and $100 "take home" a week from a Chicago milk firm in which he has an interest.

Squash Club to Host Pacific Coast Tourney

Squash racquets, growing steadily in popularity in Victoria during the past few seasons, blossoms into full flower this weekend.

More than 100 racquet-swingers will invade the city for the annual Pacific Coast championships, which are being hosted for the first time by the Victoria City Squash Racquets Club.

Matches in the three-day tourney start Friday and will be played at both the Victoria club's Sussex Hotel courts and at the Navy courts at HMCS Naden.

All "A" division games and Sunday's finals will be scheduled at the host club.

In addition to those from the Victoria area, entries have been received from Vancouver, Seattle, Portland, Los Angeles and San Francisco. Largest entry will come from Seattle, where 30 players have chartered a plane for their invasion of Victoria.

Included in the entrants are defending champion Gene Hoover, former Seattleite now residing in Vancouver; Ted Clarke of Seattle, who was upset by Hoover in last year's "A" class final, and Greg Stout, president-elect of the Pacific Coast Squash Association.

Tigers Sign Finigan

DETROIT (AP)—Third baseman Jim Finigan Tuesday signed his 1957 contract with the Detroit Tigers, who obtained him from Kansas City in the biggest player deal of the winter.

The 28-year-old infielder played second base for Kansas City last season, but the Tigers are counting on him for third base action.

Regina Curlers Stagger Scotties

REGINA (CP)—A contingent of 26 Scottish curlers saw their hopes of a comeback further stalled Tuesday by five rinks from the southern Saskatchewan area. The Canadians forged ahead 550-299 in points in Strathcona Cup competition following four wins in five games here.

A crowd of 1,000 cheered the visitors lustily throughout.

Thriftier? Roomier? Handsomer? Livelier? You Bet!

Here's big news for everyone. Vauxhall has brought the cost of motoring down again! Now, there's a triple bonus in the budget department for you in every 1957 Vauxhall.

You save when you buy, for they cost so little. You save in upkeep because these cars require a minimum of attention and bills are kept way down. But where you really notice everyday economy is in the gas tank. These cars have always enjoyed a terrific reputation for thriftiness, but this year you save even more, thanks to the new "Advance-Design" carburetor which gives you up to 8% more in miles per gallon.

While driving costs are down, the pleasure of owning a Vauxhall is up, up, up! There's greater eye-catching beauty in their handsome new styling, added comfort and luxury in roomy interiors, and livelier-than-ever responsiveness from their two famous engines.

No wonder smart motorists across the country are saying Vauxhall gives you the best of everything — small car economy plus big car comfort and performance.

World Log Birling Championship Set for Sooke

By DON INGHAM

World's championship "Roleo," top contest of the season for log birlers, will be held this year at Sooke in connection with the annual All-Sooke Day loggers' sports on Sooke River flats.

Sooke Community Association has guaranteed to provide $3,000 prize money for the roleo, highest total ever offered by a prospective sponsor. Officers and directors chose Sooke over Priest River, Idaho, which staged the roleo in 1954.

The event this year will be the first ever held in Canada.

Jubiel Wickheim, current champion, said today at his home in Sooke he was not surprised that the Sooke bid had been accepted.

"At the 1956 Roleo in Rockford, Ill., all the competitors said they would like to come to Sooke," he said. "It would be good publicity for Sooke, and will probably bring more birlers than have appeared in previous matches."

"The site on Sooke River is as good as any I have seen, and our community effort is the best," he said.

The young champion has a sand and gravel hauling business, and birls logs purely for relaxation and enjoyment.

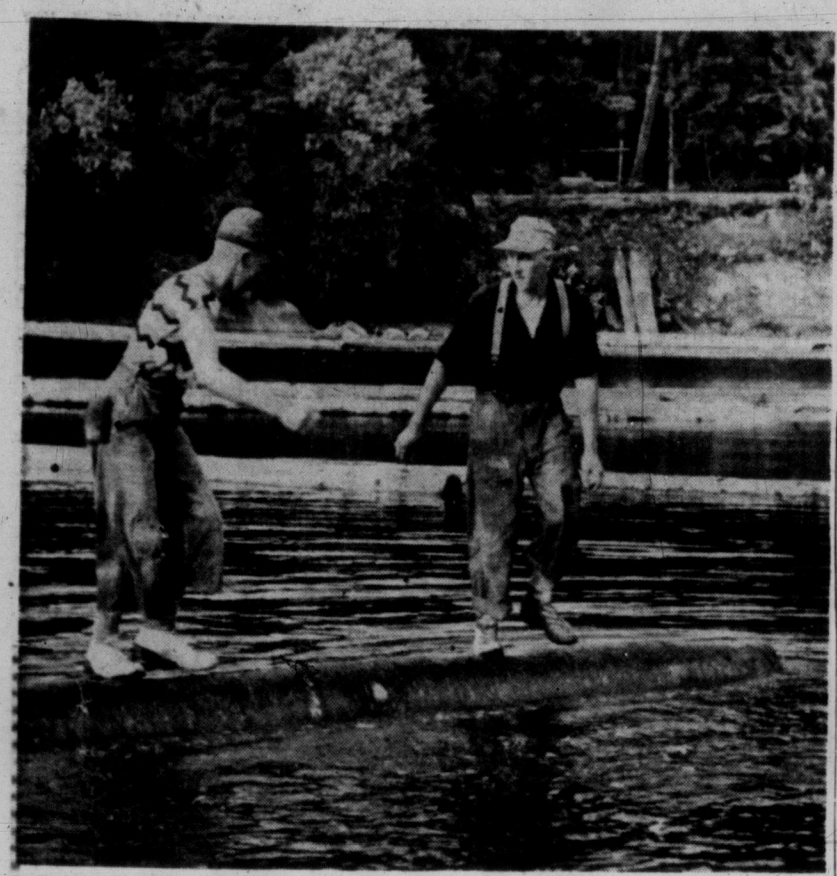
He and his brother, Ardiel, also a top-flight birler, first competed in a national contest at Priest River in 1954, when they finished fourth and fifth.

In 1955, at Spokane, Ardiel won the title of world champion, which he lost to Jubiel last year.

George Pimlott, secretary of Sooke Community Association, sponsors of All-Sooke Day, said association directors are pleased to have the match, but are worried about financing.

"Six months ago when we made our bid for the show we felt pretty good about $3,000," he said. "But the floods on the river in December washed out our grandstands and picnic tables, and they will all have to be replaced. It will take a lot of cash and labor to rebuild."

Eric Butler, president of the association, is at the B.C. Truck Loggers' Association convention in Vancouver, and has promised to tell the members of the forthcoming Sooke event.



FIRST IN CANADA

City, Saanich Receptive To Zoo Plan

Alderman to Visit Keeper at Alberni

Civic officials of both Victoria and Saanich said today they would look forward to the establishment of a zoo here by Paul Hertel, who has a wild life zoo in Alberni.

Mayor Percy Scurrah said he would like to see such a project at Thetis Lake Park, and Reeve Arthur Ash of Saanich said Mr. Hertel would be given "every consideration" if he started looking for a site in Saanich.

The German-born zookeeper said Tuesday he would like to move to Victoria, and could be ready to operate by May if he found the right site. He considers his zoo would be a great tourist attraction, and that the greater potential audience here would make possible a larger establishment than his present zoo at Alberni.

Mayor Scurrah said Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow might visit Mr. Hertel in Alberni and invite him to investigate the Thetis Lake site, but he said any decisions on use of the property would be made by city council.

RECEPTIVE

"I think Saanich would be highly receptive to anyone trying to establish this kind of thing" said Reeve Ash, "and I think our council would listen to any reasonable plan or scheme."

As a possible site, Reeve Ash suggested the McRae estate in Cedar Hill, with 134 acres. It had been previously recommended by council to the Capital District Improvement Association that the site be taken over as a provincial park.

He cited an address by Rt. Hon. Vincent Massey to the 10th annual Community Planning Association of Canada convention, when he said "a zoological garden is a normal piece of education equipment."

FROLICKING OTTER WATCHED AT GORGE

A family of otters, spotted periodically in the Gorge, bounced into view again today near the foot of Colquitz. Martin Kenny, 19, said they appeared to be scaring the ducks and running the beach as well as cavorting in the water. He said they appeared to be as large as small dogs.

Robber Trying Full Restitution

Sentence Delayed

Sentencing of confessed bank robber Leonard Wilson was put off in city police court today until Monday.

Counsel James Proudfoot asked for the remand so that Wilson, 29-year-old laborer from Duncan, can attempt to pay back all of the $1,340 he took from a teller at the Douglas Street branch of the Royal Bank of Canada Jan. 7.

$850 LOCATED

About $850 was found in Wilson's possession when he was taken into custody in Seattle the day following the holdup, and Mr. Proudfoot said complete restitution would be attempted.

A character witness called today by Mr. Proudfoot, David Martell, was not in court. Counsel said driving conditions up-Island may have prevented him from reaching Victoria.

ACCUSED SILENT

Wilson, wearing an open-necked shirt, stood in the prisoner's dock during today's brief hearing and said nothing.

Valeria Jessiman, 18-year-old Duncan girl who was arrested and charged with him in Seattle, was not present in the courtroom.

BETWEEN TIMES By Judy Boots Streak

Well I must say it is a pretty kettle of kippers when a female-type little doggie has to write her own column wishing herself many happy returns of the day and it was yesterday at that but that is what has happened.

Yesterday was my third birthday a very important birthday in any dog's life but did the Old Man at whose house I live do anything about it did he write great reams in praise of my intelligence charm wi beauty gentleness and intuition he did not.

He curled up at the back of his kennel and felt sorry for himself, that is all he did.

You see it is this way the Old Man says he is down with virus influenza or galloping pneumonia or what is the latest name for coge in the doze?

But I say the Old Man is suffering from three "S" disease—sniffle, sneeze, snarl.

And mostly snarl why the Old Man even on my birthday which was yesterday the Old Man had the temerity to snarl at me just because my pal Blondie the German Shepherd and Ragmop the you-name-it and I were playing Texas wrestling under the Old Man's bedroom window and the Old Man said he wanted to sleep would we kindly go away somewhere a fine way to talk to my guests I must say.

So you can see I didn't have a very happy birthday which it was yesterday oh yes the Old Man said when he got better he would buy me a pretty new collar for my birthday so who wants a collar.

It was indeed a pity because this was a very important birthday indeed it was my third birthday which means I have come of age you know how it is we doggies are much faster than you people so we live seven years in one so yesterday I was 21 and now I can stay out late nights and vote and stay out late nights only I would rather sleep in.

But it will be good indeed to vote and I am watching with great interest the federal election which everybody says is coming next summer and I am warning the candidates they had better have some planks in their platform appealing to the canine vote because I am going to be very active now that I have the vote.

And another reason my birthday yesterday was a very important birthday it is the last one I am ever going to have I am a female-type doggie and we female-types know when to call a halt to birthdays.

But anyway thanks for all the letters and cards which I know you would have sent if you had known it was my birthday and happy birthday to me.

Native Sons Fight Park Tea Room Plan

Victoria Post No. 1, Native Sons of British Columbia, is protesting a city council parks committee move to open Beacon Hill Park to commercial enterprise.

The committee Monday asked council to approach the Attorney General's office for full explanation of what may be undertaken in the park under the terms of the deed of trust the city holds from the provincial government.

The belief in the past was that no commercial venture could be undertaken. Ald. E. D. McEwen, however, told the committee he had been advised by government authorities, the city could do as it wished, provided it did not infringe on other's rights.

TEA ROOM

Initial prospect is a tea room and eventually it is hoped the park will earn enough money to slash cost of its maintenance to taxpayers.

"We are alarmed by these repeated attempts of the Parks Board over the last few years to defeat the purpose for which this park was dedicated," wrote post secretary R. H. Hiscocks, to city council.

"We contend that the granting of one single concession will set a precedent for further concessions and thereby spoil the park.

"You may rest assured that if this policy is pursued, the strongest opposition will be forthcoming from ourselves and many like-minded organizations as well as citizens of Victoria."

TRAFFIC FINES

In city police court today:

Sheila G. Arndt, 1222 Monterey, $40 and licence suspension, careless driving early Jan. 1 when her car collided with another auto at Johnson and Quadra, causing $1,450 damage to the two cars and injuries to seven persons.

Andrew J. Rittich, 1217 McKenzie, $35, careless driving Jan. 1, when his car collided with the rear of another auto on Hillside near Wark.

Archibald J. Fouracre, 2320 Heron, $25, expired driver's licence.

Many Professions Among Refugees

A former soldier in the French Foreign Legion, an owner of a shoe factory, a newspaper man who spent six years in a concentration camp and school teachers are among a contingent of 81 Hungarian refugees who arrived in Victoria Tuesday.

The refugees, largest group to come here, will be housed at the Immigration Building until homes can be found to take care of them.

They are showing signs of strain and fatigue after their 6,000-mile journey from their Russia oppressed homeland.

So tired were they on arrival here the majority were asleep by 7 o'clock, four hours after disembarking from the CPR boat from Vancouver. They traveled from eastern Canada by train.

SICK OF TRAVEL

The journey was summed up by Janos Sikesoti, a driver by trade, as he ate his supper.

"I'm sick of being sea-sick, sick of travel," he said.

A few minutes later his head fell on the table. He was fast asleep.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Gombos, both school teachers, said they have been on the move since Nov. 3.

CHILD SICK

The quiet and pleasant young couple have one two-year-old child, Julie, who was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital today with minor throat infection.

The contingent is composed of a number of professional, businessmen and highly-skilled technicians and tradesmen who immigration officials believe will be a great asset to British Columbia.

The most colorful personality is Alexander Szucs, a solider of fortune who has served seven years with the French Foreign Legion in Indo-China and Africa.

Alexander, who is in his thirties, returned to Hungary after fighting with the Legion against the rebels in Indo-China. He took part in the battle of Budapest and escaped into Austria after the revolution failed.

"The Legion is a fine army," he said. "I enjoyed my army service, though at times I must admit it was pretty tough."

He was a corporal in the Legion and can speak fluent French as well as three other foreign languages.

LETTERS TO DRIVERS

(In this column the Times presents letters from and to drivers about careless, discourteous or reckless infractions of driving and pedestrian rules. When you see one, just send in the place, date and time, and what happened. DON'T give the number of the offending vehicle. Only initials of complainants will be used.)

TODAY'S BEEFS

At 5 p.m. Tuesday a black Ford sedan turned out of Courtney onto Quadra, travelling on the wrong side of the road and swerved sharply to avoid colliding with an on-coming Chevrolet. The driver of the Ford was so little disturbed by his narrow escape that he opened his throttle and roared down Quadra at a good 40 miles an hour.—J.P.M.

On Saturday evening, Dec. 15, I was crossing Cook Street at Fairfield in a pedestrian crossing. I saw a car coming at a good speed, about 45 miles an hour. He had to cross a newly painted pedestrian crossing before he reached me and naturally I thought he would stop at that. I hurried across and was three-quarters of the way over when I saw he had no intention of stopping. Just as he was upon me I leaped for my life.—Mrs. S.B.

Last Friday morning, about 8, I was approaching the intersection of Fort Street, proceeding north on Cook. The light, I noticed from a distance of about six car lengths from the crosswalk, was red for Cook Street traffic and amber for traffic crossing on Fort. By the time I reached the crosswalk my signal was green, but simultaneously to my reaching the crosswalk (fortunately I had slowed almost to a stop because of a car in line ahead of me), a cab entered the intersection from the east on Fort and proceeded through at a speed of more than 20 miles an hour.—A.K.

He succeeds Josiah Bull, who retired in November.

The new police chief has been serving as deputy chief for the past three years and was juvenile officer for the municipality for some time.

A new deputy chief will be appointed later by the commission.

$1,089 Donated Sooke Fire Victims

Fund raised for the Sooke family of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Durocher, whose home was burned Dec. 27, causing the death of two of their children, has reached a total of $1,089.

The family now has settled in a rented home in Sooke village.

Mrs. T. Robinson of Shirley Women's Institute, who has been assisting the family reported the Standard Furniture Co. and T. Eaton Co. had supplied many necessary articles of furniture at greatly reduced prices. Other items of furniture, appliances, bedding, and clothing were donated to the family through Sooke Community Association, Sooke Women's Institute, and the Shirley Women's Institute.

FIRE INSURANCE

The institute has taken out a fire insurance policy for the family on furniture and belongings.

Mrs. Robinson reported the following cash donations: Dr. Brock Chisholm, $20; R. Heathman, $20; collection at Butler Bros., $26; collection at Ray's Store, $22; miscellaneous collection, $22.

Mrs. D. DeRochie of Sooke W.I. has received a cheque for $200 from Mrs. C. Cage McCormack, Oak Bay Beach Hotel.

Other donations to the Sooke W.I. for the Durocher fund were as follows: Max Elder, $200; Jack Elder, $100; Elder Logging Co., where Mr. Durocher had been employed until December, $200; Norfolk Lumber Co., $50; Alf Brown, $50; and Ted Shaw, $25.

$105 FROM DANCE

Proceeds from a benefit dance given New Year's Eve by Wilf Sadler of the Beaver Lake Lakeside Tearoom, who lost two children in a fire in 1947, amounted to $105.

The Empire Fuel Co. has donated a load of sawdust to the family.

A third child, Beverley Ann, is in fairly good condition in St. Joseph's Hospital. Marlene, four, and Mabel, five, are at home with their parents and two older children are in Alberta, where the family lived before coming to B.C.

SHOPPING GUIDE

Susie the Walking Doll Sparkles With Personality

By PENNY SAVER

She walks. She sleeps, she swings her arms, too. She's an adorable miniature doll, with long pigtails tied with bright bows. These nine-inch dolls will really thrill the little girls, for the hair shades correspond to human hair, and what little girl wouldn't like to have a doll with hair the same color as her own! As you walk the doll across the floor, its arms swing and its head turns from one side to the other. The doll costs $1.79.

Outfits for every occasion are made especially for this little charmer. A bridal gown, veil and bouquet come in one wardrobe box for little "Susie." The gown is of dotted swiss, patterned with brilliants, and the veil has an edging of lace. The bouquet and headband are of delicate flowers. The bridal outfit is $1.79.

A red dotted raincoat and hood are of plastic. The coat has a snap closing, just like "big" ones, and the children will enjoy seeing a doll dressed almost identically to them. The raincoat and hood are 79 cents. Every little girl needs a "Sunday best" outfit, and so does dolly Susie. Her best dress is of a gay floral cotton, with a wide, pleated skirt. A crinoline makes it stand 'way out. Her hat is of a bright felt, dotted with flowers. This outfit is 98 cents. Susie's nurse outfit is made up of a dress, apron with red cross on it, navy cape lined in red, and a cap. The price is $1.29. Chinese lounging PJ's with black satin trousers and brocaded jacket are favorites, too. With this set comes a lace-trimmed nightie. It's yours for $1.49. In each box of outfits come hangers to keep the clothes neat.

For both boys and girls are the wonderful story books, bright and appealing that are on sale in town at a special price. Animals, Mother Goose stories, ABC's and bedtime stories that all youngsters love, come in two sizes. Some are six for 97 cents, and others are four for 97 cents. A little bundle of these books would make a good gift for a niece or nephew when birthday time comes around.

English china teardrop-shaped dishes are patterned with modern, pen-and-ink patterns. The novel part of the ashtray-size dishes is that they're really candle holders. Small Swedish candles fit into the round troughs, giving the perfect touch for your dinner table or refreshment tray. These are $3.25 a pair. Similar ones, round, on three tiny legs, are $2.50 a pair.

"ARE YOU IN IT?"

"Ih what?"

"The $50,000 'Know Canada' contest in the Star Weekly."

"My family was talking about that last night—you know there's a $10,000 first prize."

"That's a lot of money—makes me think of a nice long fishing trip."

"Bill, I think we should get together and win this contest. With 1,968 prizes to shoot at we might get that fishing trip after all."

The authority for this statement is a 70-year-old Sydney man, Leslie Guard, who has just retired after 49 years as a woman's tailor. Guard thinks women have much better figures than they did 50 years ago, but "there are still some very odd shapes among them." In his tailoring lifetime Guard made clothes for the Duchess of Gloucester and many other well-known women.

UN TO MEET ON ISRAEL

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP) — The UN General Assembly will meet tomorrow morning to consider Asian-African demands that Israel withdraw all her troops from Egyptian territory within five days.

MANCHESTER LOSES

BILBAO, Spain (AP)—Atletico de Bilbao defeated Manchester United 5-3 today in the first round of the Europe Cup soccer championship. The game was played in a blinding snowstorm before 45,000.

FATALLY BURNED

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP) — A 38-year-old New Westminster man was burned to death early today when his mattress caught fire.

Police said the man, whose name has not been released, apparently had been smoking in bed and fallen asleep. The fire was confined to the one room.

SADDLER DEPOSED

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The executive committee of the National Boxing Association today declared Sandy Saddler's featherweight title vacant because of his failure to sign for a title defence.

Fred Saddy, chairman of the NBA rating committee, said the action was taken when the New York boxer failed to meet a midnight deadline to sign to defend his crown.

LIONS SIGN 2 MORE

VANCOUVER (CP) — The British Columbia Lions of the Western Interprovincial Football Union announced today the signing of two more U.S. players for the 1957 season.

Signing $10,000 contracts were O'Day Williams, an end, and fullback Vernon Hallbeck. Williams and Hallbeck played last year for Texas Christian, victors in the 1956 Cotton Bowl.

Arturo Toscanini Top Maestro Dies

NEW YORK (AP)—Arturo Toscanini, a poor Italian boy who became one of the world's foremost orchestra conductors, died in his sleep today. He was 89.

Death occurred at his home in Riverdale, the Bronx. His son, Walter, said the famous maestro had suffered a stroke on New Year's Day and had not fully recovered from it.

Toscanini's brilliant career spanned 70 years and won him virtually every honor the musical world has to offer.

He had already scored great success before he came to the United States in 1908. In America he swept on to the heights.

For seven seasons he conducted at the Metropolitan Opera during the era of such never-to-be-forgotten artists as Caruso, Melba and Scotti. But a disagreement, never explained, caused him to quit the Met in 1915, never to return.

Radio Brought Him Close to Public

Subsequently, he directed the New York Philharmonic Symphony and the National Broadcasting Company Symphony Orchestra.

The latter brought him closer to the North American public than any of his other endeavors.

Toscanini conducted his last concert with the NBC Symphony Orchestra at Carnegie Hall April 4, 1954. But neither the capacity audience nor those who heard the program on radio knew it was his farewell.

His retirement was made known after the concert by the release of letters exchanged previously between Toscanini and David Sarnoff, chairman of the board of the Radio Corp. of America. This was in accord with the maestro's wish that news of his retirement should be withheld until after his final appearance with the orchestra which he had led for 17 years.

His last concert was an all-Wagner program. As he stepped off the podium, as the last chord of Die Meistersinger overture sounded, his baton slipped from his hand. A member of the orchestra picked it up and handed it to him.

Then Toscanini slowly walked off. He was applauded for many minutes by the audience.

Toscanini did not return.

Toscanini, known as a severe taskmaster and a perfectionist in his direction, was hailed by many as "the greatest living conductor."

THE LATE ARTURO TOSCANINI

Gas Hike Hinted Crude Oil Up

CALGARY (CP) — Imperial Oil Ltd. today announced an increase of 18 cents a barrel in the well-head price it will pay for western light crude oils.

The new prices reflect recent advances in the United States.

Because of the current exchange premium on the Canadian dollar, the announcement said, the increase is less than the American increases.

American increases, announced by various companies since Jan. 3, were about 25 cents a barrel and have been followed by one-cent-a-gallon increases in gasoline in many states.

What effect the Imperial Oil increase will have on Canadian retail prices of oil products—such as gasoline and fuel oil—is not known yet.

Hammarskjold Urges Israel to Pull Troops

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP) — Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold said today the withdrawal of Israeli forces behind the 1949 armistice line is an essential step for restoring peace with Egypt.

In a progress report to the 80-nation General Assembly, Hammarskjold said he has held extensive but unsuccessful discussions with representatives of Israel "aiming at full compliance with the withdrawal requirements" laid down by the Assembly last November.

MARILYN BELL TO JOIN POLIO FOUNDATION?

TORONTO (BUP) — The Toronto Telegram reported today that swimming star Marilyn Bell of Toronto may give up her studies at McGill University in Montreal, to take a job with the Canadian Foundation for Poliomyelitis.

Miss Bell, who achieved fame by being the only person to swim Lake Ontario, the English Channel and the Strait of Juan de Fuca, enrolled at McGill last fall for a five-year degree course in physical and occupational therapy.

Prairies Get Relief From Cold Siege

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

A relief column of warm air swept out of the Arctic and into Western Canada today, boosting the temperature and spirits of marrow-chilled residents.

The mild air lifted a freezing siege which set in last weekend.

The dramatic change in the west was exemplified at Lac la Biche in northeastern Alberta, where the mercury bolted from 20 below at midnight to 23 above at 7.30 a.m. Yellowknife, 620 miles north of Edmonton in the Northwest Territories, enjoyed a happy 20 above today.

Palace Denies Queen To Visit U.S. This Year

LONDON (CP)—Buckingham Palace said today there is no official basis whatever for believing that the Queen may visit the United States this year.

Gas From Canada Goal Of U.S. Firms' Talks

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — Two meetings have been held on a compromise plan for importing natural gas from Canada, but no decision has been reached, John F. Merriam, president of Northern Natural Gas Co., Omaha, said today. No further meetings have been scheduled, he added.

The compromise proposal involves Tennessee Natural Gas Co., its affiliate, Midwestern Gas Transmission Co., Northern, American Natural Gas Co., and People's Gas, Light and Coke Co. Northern, American and People's offered the compromise in an effort to resolve a dispute over proposals by Northern and Midwestern to bring Canadian gas into the same markets in some of the northern states. They opposed Midwestern's move on the grounds it was an invasion of their markets.

FPC SITS

A Federal Power Commission hearing, in which there are more than 100 intervenors, has been started, but now is in recess.

Merriam said that under the proposal Northern, American, People's and Tennessee would share equally in the ownership of Midwestern, which would become an independently managed transmission firm. The compromise would provide that Northern, American and People's would purchase all the gas imported by Midwestern, and would distribute it to their present markets as well as to the markets proposed to be served by Midwestern in the same areas.

Merriam said Northern, which had been seeking for several years to import Canadian gas, had made a contract with Trans-Canada for the gas and an FPC hearing was held in 1955 on its application for authority to import gas.

HEARING STALLS

Trans-Canada was unable to deliver gas in the year contemplated by Northern and the hearing was put over. Subsequently Merriam said, Midwestern and Trans-Canada made a contract and Midwestern applied for FPC approval. He said the compromise was proposed in an effort to resolve the conflict and speed up the delivery of gas.

$2 Billion Increase Asked by Eisenhower

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower today proposed to Congress a budget for next year calling for an increase of more than $2,000,000,000 in military spending and a record peacetime outlay of $71,800,000,000 in federal funds.

Eisenhower said his budget for the fiscal year beginning next July 1 is balanced and provides for a surplus for the third straight year. But once again he came out against any tax cuts, except for possible relief for small business involving "minimum loss of revenue."

In reference to stepped-up spending for defence, the president said two of the major guide-lines he used in drafting the budget were designed to ensure:

"Peace, justice and freedom for our own and other peoples; and

"DEFEAT AGGRESSION"

"Powerful armed forces to deter and, if need be, to defeat aggression."

"I am convinced," he said, "that the defence programs and funds for their support as recommended in this budget provide a wise and reasonable degree of protection for the nation."

The budget message estimated that $45,300,000,000, or 63 per cent of the entire federal outlay, will be for national security programs. These include $38,031,000,000 for the armed forces, $4,363,000,000 for economic and military foreign aid, and lesser amounts for atomic energy research and development, stockpiling of strategic goods, home civil defence and the U.S. information agency.

Eisenhower forecast continuing boom prosperity with the government collecting a record $73,600,000,000 in revenue in the new fiscal year.

Such income, he said, will permit the administration to ring up a surplus of $1,800,000,000 to be applied toward reduction of the national debt.

$4 PRICE HIKE IN NEWSPRINT BY B.C. FIRM

An increase of $4 a ton in newsprint was announced at Vancouver today by Powell River Sales Company.

M. J. Foley, company president, said the increase will take effect next March 1, and will increase the base price in New York to $134 a ton.

OTTAWA (CP) — Justice Minister Garson said today there will be no anti-combines investigation of the $4-a-ton boost on Canadian newsprint announced during the last week or two by four Canadian firms.

New Clue To Lost Jet Probed

(See also page 3)

VANCOUVER (CP) — Two search aircraft were dispatched today to "check out a new clue" to more survivors of Sunday's double jet crash north of Squamish, B.C.

Jack Worthington, of Squamish, an eye-witness to what appeared as a mid-air collision of the two T-33 jets, provided the new clue when he met with an RCAF investigating team.

Worthington, said the RCAF, saw one of the T-33s plummetting straight down in flames while the other continued flying in a north-northeast direction from Squamish.

He said it appeared to be "partly out of control" and descending rapidly at the time.

Worthington said he felt his information wasn't significant until he learned that only the wreckage of one of the jets had been found.

Lost Airliner Sighting 'False'

VANCOUVER (CP)—Reports of wreckage on the side of a mountain in Washington State, thought for a while to have been a clue to a missing TCA airliner, turned out to be erroneous, the RCAF said today.

An air force spokesman said a United States Coast Guard plane flying over the area identified the "wreckage" as a bus and a steam-shovel on the mountainside.

RCAF Pilot Killed

CHATHAM, N.B. (CP)—An F-186 Sabre jet plane from Chatham Air Force base crashed onto the ice in the Gulf of St. Lawrence Tuesday killing the pilot, FO Herbert W. Johnston, 23, of Sarnia, Ont.

Cameron Sides With Liberal Suez Policy; Scores Fulton

OTTAWA (CP) — A CCF member clashed Tuesday with a Progressive Conservative over the Canadian government's Suez policy and joined a Liberal in suggesting some steps toward world government might soon have to be considered.

The busy CCFer in the Commons Throne Speech debate was Colin Cameron, Nanaimo, B.C. He differed with fellow British Columbian Davie Fulton (PC, Kamloops) over the merits of Canada's attitude toward Britain and France during the Suez crisis in general and certain statements by Prime Minister St. Laurent at last November's special parliamentary session in particular.

But he agreed with Lucien Cardin, parliamentary assistant to External Affairs Minister Pearson that effective co-operation with the rest of the world might eventually cost Canada some of its personal sovereignty.

LUMPED WITH AGGRESSORS

Mr. Fulton said the government apparently has written off the Commonwealth as a force for world peace. Mr. St. Laurent's November speech criticizing "the supermen of Europe" had lumped Britain and France in the same category as Communist aggressors.

The "unsatisfactory record of this government over the years with respect to the British Commonwealth," said Mr. Fulton, culminated in the United Nations General Assembly last fall when the Canadian government sided with Russia and the United States "against our oldest friends, namely France and the United Kingdom."

Mr. Cameron, referring to Mr. Pearson's November speech detailing to the Commons the government's Suez actions, said:

"I think it is only fair to say that on this occasion . . . no intelligent Canadian could really have a quarrel with what he had to tell us."

At another point he said: "It seems to me to be an extraordinary situation that Canadians can stand up in this Parliament and suggest that, because a strain was put upon the relationship within the Commonwealth—not by Canada or by any action of Canada's—we are to blame for that strain."

UN POSITION DIFFICULT

From Mr. Fulton's remarks it was obvious that "in the view of the official opposition there is only one nation in the world which has the right to sovereignty and that is the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland."

Mr. Cardin said the UN is in an intolerable position. If it collapsed "then to my mind it is world suicide."

"The granting of much greater power and much greater authority to the UN could be

THE EARL OF ATHLONE
. . . Governor-General of Canada during Second World War.

NAMED GOV.-GENERAL TWICE

Queen's Uncle, Athlone, Dies

LONDON (CP)—The Earl of Athlone, a great uncle of Queen Elizabeth and a former governor-general of both Canada and South Africa, died in his London home today. He was 82.

The Queen announced she is observing family mourning one week from today. The funeral will be held Saturday at St. George's Chapel, Windsor. The Queen and members of the Royal Family will attend.

A memorial service will also be held Saturday at St. Mary Abbott's Church in London.

He was appointed governor-general of South Africa in 1923 when the Nationalist party was campaigning for secession from the Commonwealth. His diplomacy did much to win the support of even party extremists and he remained in the post until 1931.

In 1940, on the death of Lord Tweedsmuir, King George VI appointed him governor-general of Canada. His office lasted until 1946.

He was 66 when he reached Canada during the wartime years. But he looked—and was—every inch the soldier.

By that time he was a veteran of three wars. He fought for England in the Matabele War of 1896 in Rhodesia, in the South African War of 1899 and the First World War.

The earl was born in 1874 as Prince Alexander Augustus Frederick William Alfred George of Teck. His father, whose title was German, changed the family name to Cambridge in 1917.

Earldom Will Become Extinct

He was a Knight of the Garter, a Knight Grand Cross of the Bath and a Knight Grand Cross of the Royal Victoria Order.

He was also a fellow of the Royal Society and president of the African Society. His foreign orders included the Grand Cordon of Leopold of Belgium and the Grand Cross of Orange Nassau.

He is survived by his widow, Princess Alice of Albany, a granddaughter of Queen Victoria, and a daughter, Lady May Abel Smith. A son, Viscount Trematon, died in an automobile accident in France in 1928.

As there is no male heir, the earldom becomes extinct.

The earl was the first of Canada's governors-general to be sworn in at Ottawa. Until his time it was the custom for the ceremony to be held at the port of debarkation.

The trip to Canada was shrouded in wartime secrecy. It wasn't until his train had rolled out of Halifax that the public was told a new governor-general had landed to take up his commission.

An odd fact was that it was actually the second time the earl had been selected for the position. He was named governor-general in the summer of 1914 and was preparing to cross the Atlantic when war broke out. He was released from the appointment and entered active service.

This service won him, among other honors, the French Legion of Honor and Croix de Guerre and the Belgian Military Medal.

FOLLOWED COMMONER

His selection for the Canadian appointment was in line with an opinion expressed by Lord Tweedsmuir that because he had been a commoner his successor should be a man high in the aristocracy.

The third close relative of a reigning sovereign to become governor-general, he was sworn in at Ottawa June 21, 1940.

The earl was a keen sportsman, on the playing field and as a hunter. He hunted big game both in Canada and South Africa, bagging a Rocky Mountain goat and a moose in Canada and gaining many trophies during his stay on the African continent.

He was onetime president of the English Football Association and when he came to Canada he became quite a hockey fan, rarely missing important games in Ottawa.

Prompt Niagara Power Action Urged by Ike

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower today recommended "prompt action" by Congress to decide how the Niagara power project "can best be developed."

The president took formal notice of the six-year stalemate that has delayed construction of the estimated $525,000,000 project. The recommendation was made in his budget message.

A tug-of-war between public and private power forces has held up the project. A further complication has been action by Congress reserving for itself the right to name the U.S. partner in the international project.

There now are indications that the rival factions are in a mood for compromise.

The Eisenhower recommendation was covered in 19 words in his 25,000-word budget message. In a section devoted to natural resources, the president said:

"I also recommend prompt action by the Congress to decide how the Niagara power project can best be developed."

'Comrade Falls' —E. E. Winch Laid to Rest

VANCOUVER (CP) — Ernie Winch's funeral service was held Tuesday with a simple moving tribute — "A comrade falls, the ranks close up, the fight goes on . . ."

The funeral could have summarized the life of the 77-year-old MLA which ended last Friday.

His political friends came to pay tribute to the grand old man of the B.C. CCF party and his political opponents including Premier Bennett were there in strength.

There was no minister at the service. Two friends, Mrs. Dorothy Steeves and Grant McNeil, concluded the service with an excerpt from Mr. Winch's last letter to his wife and family.

The letter said: "My epitaph. Not a ladder from earth to Heaven; not as a witness to any creed; but simple service, simply given to his own kind in their common need."

Cremation followed, his ashes to be scattered to the winds of the province "he loved and served so long," including 23 years in the Legislature.

Fire Destroys $7,000 House

NANAIMO (CP) — Fire destroyed a three-bedroom house here Tuesday night, causing more than $7,000 damage.

The house was unoccupied. Owner Felix Kopalinski was in Port Alberni and his wife was visiting neighbors at time of the fire.

Harewood volunteer fire chief Len Clarke said cause of the blaze appeared to be an overheated furnace which had been installed on Monday.

Reserve Lifted On Iron Ore At Graham Is.

To pave the way for a steel industry in British Columbia, the Provincial Cabinet has lifted a reserve on exploration for iron ore in the black sands of Graham Island in the Queen Charlottes, Mines Minister Kenneth Kiernan said today.

"Figures I have now indicate there are literally billions of tons of black sand in the northeast corner of Graham Island," Mr. Kiernan said. "We have therefore decided to open up exploration in this field with the idea of paving the way for a steel industry in B.C."

Last October the government placed a reserve on 250 square miles of black sand on Graham Island following reports that the sands contain quantities of iron ore concentrates and other minerals.

He estimated that exports of iron ore from B.C. over the last four years has exceeded 4,000,000 tons concentrate, most of it going to Japan.

RALPH CAMPNEY

CAPT. HAROLD GROOS
. . . commands new carrier

HMCS Bonaventure Joins RCN Thursday

Campney and Rear Admiral H. S. Rayner, chief of navy personnel, Ottawa, and Rear Admiral R. E. S. Bidwell, flag officer, Atlantic Coast, Halifax, reached Nutts Corner airfield near this Northern Ireland shipbuilding centre after an overnight flight from Ottawa via Gander, Nfld.

Others aboard the C-5 from 412 Transport Squadron were Mrs. Campney, Maj.-Gen. F. F. Worthington, Canada's civil defence co-ordinator who is en route to a meeting in London; Commodore P. W. Earl, naval officer in charge of the Montreal area; Cmdr. T. H. Crone, director of service conditions and welfare for the RCN, and J. C. Rutledge, director of shipbuilding for the department of defence production, Ottawa.

VICTORIA COMMANDER

The Bonaventure, a $25,000,000 addition to Canada's anti-submarine force, was built at the Harland and Wolff Shipyards here and will sail under the command of Capt. Harold V. Groos of Victoria.

After Thursday's ceremony, the carrier will undergo trials with her crew, flown here from Canada, in United Kingdom waters and later will be based in Halifax.

Those present at the commissioning ceremony will include Norman Robertson, Canadian high commissioner in London, and Mrs. Robertson; Lord Brookeborough, prime minister of Northern Ireland, and Vice-Admiral H. D. DeWolf, Canadian chief of the naval staff.

Doctor's Gifts Came From Widow's Son

EASTBOURNE, Eng. (AP)—A defence lawyer for Dr. John Bodkin Adams, accused of drugging a wealthy widow patient to death, won an admission in court today that the society physician had practically nothing to gain under her will.

The Rolls Royce car and the chest of silver which the doctor got from the estate of 81-year-old Mrs. Edith Morrell, the court was told actually were inherited by her son who then gave them as gifts to the physician.

The defence also brought out that Mrs. Morrell, in the many wills she had prepared, had continually insisted she be cremated after her death.

The prosecution contends that Dr. Adams murdered Mrs. Morrell in November, 1950, for "greed of profit."

ASHES SCATTERED

Afterwards, her body was cremated and the ashes scattered over the English Channel.

Besides the murder charge, Dr. Adams is accused of violations of the Cremation Act.

Major witness in today's session—third day of the pre-trial hearing of the murder charge against Dr. Adams—was Herbert Sogno, the lawyer who drew up Mrs. Morrell's constantly changing wills.

Under cross-examination by defence counsel Geoffrey Lawrence, Sogno agreed that a number of other persons had a lot more to gain under Mrs. Morrell's will and that Dr. Adams' share was actually an oak chest full of silver.

NO CAR

The Rolls Royce and an Elizabeth court cupboard which Dr. Adams also received from Mrs. Morrell's estate, the lawyer agreed, had been given to him later by her son, Calud Morrell.

The terms of Mrs. Morrell's will, the lawyer testified, were that the Rolls Royce car and the cupboard were to go to Dr. Adams only if her son had died before her.

The prosecution's case is that Dr. Adams enslaved Mrs. Morrell by turning her into a drug addict, then killed her with an overdose of drugs after she had changed her will in his favor.

interpreted as a step toward world government.

"Perhaps the time has not yet come to take such a step, and yet perhaps the time is rapidly approaching when such a step will have to be taken."

MUST BE REVIEWED

On this matter, Mr. Cameron said the question of sovereignty —"as to just how far any people are to be allowed to conduct their affairs without regard to the rest of the world"—will have to be reviewed.

Some rethinking was needed "as to the possibility of relinquishing certain aspects of our sovereignty to a greater degree." Consideration also would have to be given to the possible value of giving "some world authority" control of oil, food and uranium surpluses to be directed throughout the world where they are needed.

Mr. Fulton said Mr. Pearson and Health Minister Martin in speeches Monday had praised the Commonwealth.

But not all their "honey words" could remove "the unfortunate, indeed the disastrous, impression" created by the government's conduct and words last November.

Making clear that two major election issues for his party will be Parliament's status and the Liberal government attitude to the Commonwealth, Mr. Fulton said government actions in the defence production and pipeline debates in the last two years reduced parliament supremacy "nearly to the point of no return."

Mr. Cameron said that as for Mr. St. Laurent's remarks about the supermen of Europe, "all history supports that statement.

"The sooner we of the Caucasian races remember that the last 300 years carry an almost unbroken history of pillage, rapine, bloody suppression of all non-European people with whom we came in contact, the sooner we will be prepared to live at peace with the human race. . . .

"The peoples of Asia and of Africa have not forgotten. An attitude of humility with regard to the deplorable record of our ancestors and indeed of some of our contemporaries of the European races would be in order today."

UK Studying 'Dramatic Plan' To Exploit Athabasca Oil Sands

LONDON (CP)—The News Chronicle says Prime Minister Harold Macmillan is studying a dramatic plan to exploit the oil in Alberta's oil sands.

In a dispatch from New York, the newspaper says copies of the plan have been sent to Trade Minister Howe of Canada and to Sir Roger Makins, a top-ranking British civil servant. It says the plan was devised by Carroll Wilson, former general manager of the United States Atomic Energy Commission.

Under a streamer headline, "Oil Galore in Canada Waiting for Us," The News Chronicle story warns Brrtain to get her bid in quickly, because "big international oil companies are already moving into the tar sands area in force."

The Wilson plan is said to urge creation of an Anglo-Canadian-American commission to investigate the oil sands. It is also proposed that Britain join in financing a pipeline from the sands to Lake Superior.

BRITAIN CUTS RESERVES; AIR FORCE HARDEST HIT

LONDON (Reuters)—Britain Tuesday night announced slashing cuts in her army, navy and air force reserves.

The heaviest cut was made in the RAF which will disband most of its reserve units including 20 fighter squadrons, air observation posts, some ground forces and nine of 30 fighter control and radar operating units.

The air ministry said this will mean a saving of more than $10,000,000 a year.

At the same time the war office said that about 120,000 draftees who have finished their two years of service will not be called up this year for part-time reserve training.

The navy said it is disbanding its part-time reserve air branch manned by weekend fliers as is the RAF.

Esquimalt Ships Reach Hawaii

(Special to The Times)

ABOARD HMCS ONTARIO—A three-ship training squadron from Esquimalt dropped anchor off Hilo, chief city of Hawaii, at 10 a.m. today.

It was the first port-of-call on a four month cruise which started Jan. 7.

HMC ships Ontario, Jonquiere and Stettler were greeted by two boat-loads of civic dignitaries, who went aboard the cruiser to extend official greetings.

It was the end of the first 2,800-mile leg of a voyage which will cover 18,500 miles before the ships return to Esquimalt May 3.

The squadron will lie at anchor off Hilo for five days before proceeding to Pearl Harbor, then to Guam, and finally to far eastern ports.

Toothache Cure, Taken Neat, Costly

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Richard Nathan Longfellow's remedy for a toothache proved quite expensive.

He was brought into court on a drunk driving complaint and explained to Judge James Demopolos:

"I'm not a drinking man but I had a bad toothache and I was rinsing my mouth out with whisky to make it quit hurting.

"I washed my mouth out four or five times and I guess I accidentally swallowed some."

He was fined $60 but served notice of appeal.

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Nobody challenged the chemical test showing 0.15 per cent alcohol in the blood of Clifton Cheatham after his arrest on a drunk driving charge. At issue was the time when the alcohol entered the bloodstream.

At his arraignment he offered this defence: He took two big shots from a pint of whisky he was carrying after his arrest because he was "so shaky, jittery and scared."

He was found not guilty.

NAGASAKA, Japan (AP) — Fifteen firemen have been arrested on charges of shooting up the police station with high-pressure fire hoses after a riotous New Year's party. A police spokesman said the firemen apparently were irked because the police chief snubbed their invitation to the party.

SOUTHPORT, England (Reuters) — A three-year-old wallaby led zookeepers and policemen a merry chase across northern English sandhills — before being caught by its long tail. The kangaroo-like animal cleared a high wall and an eight-foot dike after escaping from the Southport Zoo. One of his pursuers was less agile and fell headlong into the dike, emerging drenched.

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—Frank Rogers, 31, complained to doctors at city hospital of a "regular roaring sound" in his head. Doctors investigated and removed a small, live roach from his ear.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Fleishhacker zoo has two surplus howdahs to trade for an orangoutang or two.

The howdahs, rajah-sized for commuting on elephants, were donated 25 years ago for use in parades. But San Francisco didn't give a mahout—or elephant jockey—to the cause.

Zoo director Carey Baldwin is depressed because a lady orangoutang is failing from loneliness. So he offered the howdahs for an orangoutang to Louis Goebel, California animal dealer.

Goebel called the howdahs old fashioned—no chromium—and declined.

. . . TOSCANINI

But his path to success was not an easy one. Although he surmounted the obstacles of poverty to win musical recognition at the beginning, it was a whim of fate that made him a conductor.

Born to a poor tailor and his wife in Parma, Italy, music beckoned to the young Toscanini at an age when most boys are occupied only by the games and diversions of childhood.

At nine he entered a conservatory at Parma. He was graduated in piano and cello, winning honors in composition.

However, he did not pursue composition because he felt that "whatever I composed would fall below the standard I set for myself."

The strange twist of fate that brought him to the podium to stay occurred in 1886 when Toscanini was just 19.

He had taken a job with a touring opera company headed for South America.

There in Rio de Janeiro, the Brazilian conductor got into a quarrel with some of the Italian artists before a performance of Verdi's opera, Aida.

The Brazilian audience hissed the orchestra's Italian conductor off the stage when he sought to take over the baton. The orchestra's chorus master met the same fate. Confusion reigned.

Toscanini, then a cellist, arrived late—slipping into his usual chair unnoticed.

Women in the company's chorus became greatly worried, for fear they would be stranded far away from home. One spied the tardy Toscanini and set up a cry: "He will save us! He knows all the operas by heart!"

Fellow musicians, snatching at the last straw, handed Toscanini a baton. He went to work in the masterly fashion so well known later in his career, and the audience, jeering and laughing over what they expected to be a fiasco, shortly subsided to rapt attention.

The conductor married Carla Di Martini in 1897. She died in 1951. They had four children, one of whom died in childhood.

His son, Walter, handled his father's affairs. A daughter, Wally, became the Countess of Castelbarco, and the other, Wanda, the wife of Vladimir Horowitz, the noted pianist.

LONDON (AP) — One of the most famous names in ballet became history today.

The Sadler's Wells Ballet was rechristened the Royal Ballet. Lumped in with it were its subsidiaries, the Sadler's Wells Theatre Ballet and ballet school.

The new name was approved by the Queen, who agreed to become the patron of the combined organization. Princess Margaret will be president of the new group.

Salt Spring Studies Fire Protection Plan

GANGES—Representatives of 11 organizations on Salt Spring Island gathered at a public meeting, sponsored by Salt Spring Island Chamber of Commerce, to discuss formation of a fire protection district for the island.

Colin Mouat, chamber president, said a tax of one mill should be sufficient to pay the cost of a permanent fire chief and volunteer firemen.

Duncan Protests Outsider Fee For Fishermen

DUNCAN—A protest against a proposed $10 licence to cover salt water fishing in B.C. by non-residents will be made by Duncan-Cowichan Chamber of Commerce.

Action was taken after N. J. Prest, chairman of the tourist and sports committee of the chamber, reported a consensus of opinion of 20 resort operators showed they thought the licence fee was too high and that it would damage tourist trade.

CAN HE SPEND THE $84,000?

Mental Patient Gets Football Pool Bonanza

IPSWICH, England (UP) — A patient in a mental institution won $84,000 in a weekend football pool, raising a thorny legal problem over his right to spend the money.

A spokesman for St. Clement's mental hospital identified the winner only as a 58-year-old Scotsman who has been confined for "many years."

He and another long-time inmate collaborated in picking the winners. Football pools are legal in Britain.

The spokesman said several patients fill out the pool slips weekly and "there have been two or three cases of small wins in the past."

He admitted "it has crossed our minds that the position might arise where a patient landed a really big prize."

The spokesman said the patient "will, of course, receive the money." But, he added: "It is another question how the use of the money will be supervised." He said a study will be made of laws applicable to the case.

One worry the patient doesn't have. Football pool winnings are not subject to income tax under British law.

CANADA WOULDN'T TAKE HIM

Stateless Seaman On Way to England

PORT ALBERNI (CP)—Hope faded with the dimming lights of this port as Christian George Hanna, still stateless, left Canada Tuesday night aboard the Norwegian freighter Gudveig.

His ship sailed as scheduled from here, taking Hanna to England.

The 23-year-old stowaway, who claims he was born at sea, has been aboard the Gudveig for the last 15 months, virtually a prisoner.

FREE TO WANDER

He is allowed the freedom of the ship once out of part, when he has no chance of disembarking.

Attempts had been made by a number of Canadian groups to have the immigration department grant Hanna leave to stay in Canada. But officials said here Tuesday night they had received no order to allow Hanna to land in Canada.

Immigration Minister Pickersgill has said there is no reason to make an exception in Hanna's case and allow the "man without a country" to enter Canada.

200 Jobless At M & B Mill As Power Lost

CHEMAINUS — About 200 men have been thrown out of work temporarily at the MacMillan and Bloedel Ltd. sawmill here because of the failure of a generator and disruption of electrical power service to all parts of the plant.

The rotor of a 3,000-KVA generator burned out Sunday, and has been sent to Vancouver for rewinding. It is expected back in three weeks.

RESUME MONDAY?

Meanwhile, mechanics and engineers are attempting to adapt a steam generator for service, with the hope of having the entire plant back to normal production Monday.

A portion of the mill, such as the pony rig and one of three shifts on the head rig, are running on power supplied by the B.C. Power Commission. Work in the yard, loading shed, and deep-sea dock is proceeding as usual, but the planing mill and barker are down.
